SENATORS GIRD FOR BATTLE ON DRAFT MEASURE

Antiwar Group Has a Substitute.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—A bipartisan group began organizing in the senate today to support a voluntary enlistment substitute for the administration's compulsory military service bill. The administration measure, which calls for the creation of a mass conscript army, will come up for consideration in the senate on Monday.

Leaders of the bipartisan opposition group include Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], and Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.]. Their substitute bill, which has not been drafted, will offer greater inducements for voluntary enlistments in the army and navy than are now permitted.

Shorter Period Suggested.

One suggestion by Senator Vandenberg is that young men be permitted to enlist in the army for one year, the compulsory training and service period required by the administration's conscription bill. Under existing regulations, the army enlistment period is three years.

The senate noninterventionists expressed amazement today at the seeming assurance with which the administration is proceeding with the conscription program. Taking congressional approval for granted, the war department already has announced plans for the registration of 11½ million men between 21 and 31 years of age on Sept. 1 and the drafting of about 1½ million men by Oct. 1, 1941, some of whom would come from the 31 to 45 age group.

Altho not certain they can defeat the conscription bill, the noninterventionists announced plans to fight it as vigorously as they opposed the administration's arms embargo repealer last fall. With voluntary enlistments exceeding the quotas set by the army and the navy, the noninterventionists insist that the conscription program must have some ulterior purpose.

Points to Last War.

In a brief senate speech against peacetime conscription, Senator Vandenberg said he refused to forget "that 563,000 volunteers enlisted during the first five months of the world war and 1,300,000 volunteers were recruited up until August, 1918, when volunteer recruiting was stopped.

"Given frank and convincing proof of the existence of a real emergency," the senator added, "I have no doubt this record would be duplicated on a voluntary basis in 1940—and it certainly represents much greater manpower than the most hysterical imagination would conjure as necessary in the presence of whatever emergency exists today. Conscription is no substitute for these frank and convincing proofs."

Senator Vandenberg presented to the senate what he described as "probably the most powerful single exhibit in the whole history of the exercise of the citizens' constitutional right of petition."

A Million Signatures.

His exhibit consisted of petitions, bearing 1,000,000 signatures, urging congress to provide a national defense second to none, to outlaw communism, Fascism, Naziism, and all other forms of un-American activity, but to "keep America out of foreign wars." The petitions were circulated, Senator Vandenberg said, by the Committee of One Million, with headquarters in Detroit, Mich., and further petitions bearing 5,000,000 signatures are promised.

Senator Vandenberg's speech against conscription of men was followed by a plea from Senator Josh Lee [D., Okla.] to conscript wealth. Lee, a New Deal yes-man, introduced a bill which would confer upon the President unrestricted power "to set up a plan for drafting the use of money according to each individual's ability to lend."

Such a plan, the bill states, "shall not permit profits, high interest rates, or tax exemptions." The President would have power to provide for such boards and agencies and to promulgate such rules and regulations as he deemed necessary.

Norris Is Startled.

Even Senator George W. Norris, the Nebraska radical, was startled by the Lee bill. Norris is an ardent third term New Dealer and has sup-

MRS. WILLKIE NO SHRINKING LILY; SHE PROVES IT!

Rides Out Storm in Air; Others Wilt.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 25.—Edith Wilk Willkie looks fragile and is as unassuming as a leaf on a tree, but she is no shrinking lily. She has high courage and a stomach of leather.

The wife of the Republican Presidential nominee proved this today when, flying back from Salt Lake City to the Willkie retreat here, winding up a 1,400 mile air tour of three states, she outgamed all the men—with the single exception of her husband—aboard the United Airlines Willkie special.

It could hardly be termed a superior day for flying. Lightning flashed against the snow covered tips of the Rockies. Hot air steamed up from the continental divide. Storm clouds gathered and broke over the great plains.

Rough Trip, Says Pilot.

The pilot pronounced it his roughest trip in four years, and his fine, silver ship bucked more vigorously than any of the bucking broncos Mrs. Willkie had just watched in rodeos at Cheyenne, Wyo., and Ogden, Utah.

Newspaper men in the plane collapsed like rows of paper soldiers in a 60 mile wind. They had vociferous indigestion, and ammonia flourished like the green bay tree, but Mr. Willkie calmly digested a book on Lincoln, pausing only to mark "good!" at certain paragraphs, and Mrs. Willkie imperturbably surveyed the geologic relief map being unfolded for her special pleasure some 6,000 feet below.

Out to See the Country.

She was on that trip, she said calmly, to see the United States, and she intended to see it. She did. She paused only long enough to slip a pillow beneath her husband's head and to insist that he buckle his seat belt and smooth his black hair, renowned for its perpetual state of hysteria. Then she went back to the scenery.

"Look," she would call, as the ship dropped 60 feet in two seconds, hats bounced off male heads, and tea played hopscotch over freshly pressed suits. "Did you ever see colors like that?"—waving a debonair hand at patches of brick red jumping out of the blues, browns, and dull greens of the Rockies.

Her companions, holding to their chairs with both hands, grunted weak assent. Mr. Willkie, arousing himself from the life and works of Honest Abe, gave a perfunctory nod.

Keeps Up Conversation.

Again the ship would jump up 60 feet, scaling the little mountain that wasn't there. "Ugh!" would go Mrs. Willkie's companions. The stewardess, trying to rush up, would find herself thrust back into her seat by an invisible, elemental hand.

"Is that a mirage out here?" Mrs. Willkie would ask. "It must be. It can't be a lake."

Or, "Do take off your smoked glasses," she would say to them. "How can you appreciate the colors?" Or, "I've always wanted to see a real desert! Isn't this one wonderful?" as luncheons were being refused like mad.

By the time the plane neared Denver, hers was the only conversational voice on the ship.

Only She Is Amused.

Then came the real test. The ship, ready to land and cruising at 80 miles, hit an uprush of air. The plane, caught in this vortex of what seemed a small tornado, leaped and bucked. The landing field below was left far behind. Denver was there one minute, gone the next, and landing seemed out of the question. Around and around circled the ship, three times.

Only Mrs. Willkie was amused. "We're going," she said in high hilarity, pausing to refresh her lipstick and adjust her little white hat, "back to Cheyenne."

When the ship finally landed, and made a 15 minute pause for human restitution, someone asked her how she liked the trip.

"I don't know how rough it was," she said, "but they had to stuff two pillows between me and the safety belt to hold me to the seat. But," in awe, "did you see that mountain fire we passed?"

Tells How Cult Queen Shines in 'Love Gifts'

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25 (AP).—A word picture of the woman co-founder of the "I Am" cult living in a $1,000-a-month hotel suite, adorned in glittering diamond "love gifts," wearing two orchid corsages daily, each costing $50, was drawn today by blonde Marjorie Ballard.

Mrs. Ballard is the estranged wife of Donald Ballard and the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Edna Ballard, both of whom were among 24 "I Am" leaders indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of misusing the mails and conspiracy to obtain gifts by promising followers immortality.

Marjorie Ballard's Story.

In an interview, Mrs. Marjorie Ballard said the elder Ballards had lived in a 12 to 14 room suite in a prominent Los Angeles hotel at a cost of around $1,000 a month.

"Mrs. Ballard usually had a bodyguard and she usually carried a little black satchel with her, never letting it out of her sight," she declared. "It was supposed to be filled with jewels.

"She always appeared at meetings wearing gorgeous evening gowns and corsages. She used to order two corsages of orchids each day, usually paying $50 to $60 for each, during the time I lived there.

"She used to wear a 12-karat diamond ring, several other large diamonds, an 18 karat diamond breast pin, diamond bracelets, and a diamond wrist watch, most of which had been 'love gifts' to her.

A White Tuxedo.

"Guy Ballard used to wear a white tuxedo and a 10 karat diamond stick pin, which was also a love gift, a 6 karat diamond ring, and one time he even wanted to put rhinestone buttons on the tuxedo, but I talked him out of it.

"Mrs. Ballard has specially made trunks, large size, filled with small trays. In these trays she keeps her costume jewelry. I couldn't begin to tell you how much of it she has. She also has specially constructed trunks for her evening gowns. I have never known a woman with so many clothes. I don't believe I am exaggerating when I say she has enough coats, hats, artificial flowers, gloves, costume jewelry, and other accessories to start a good sized store."

"Decrees of Annihilation."

The young woman was an active worker in the movement before she married Donald Ballard.

"They teach that all powers are good powers, released to overcome hate powers," she said. "They teach the belief that light forces destroy dark forces and they teach patriotism to the high heavens, altho they had various 'decrees of annihilation,' including one for President Roosevelt and another for Westbrook Pegler."

The federal indictment charged that the defendants broke up homes among many members and encouraged divorce by teaching the practice of "absolute sex continence."

Mrs. Edna Ballard and Donald surrendered today on the indictment. Seven of the 22 others indicted are Chicagoans. These include Paul Stickel, Louise Majerus, Cecilia Majerus, Mary McGinness, Paul Potter and his wife, and William H. Cassiere, all said to be cult officials. Potter also is secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc.

The indictment charged the defendants with falsely representing that the late Guy Ballard "had attained a supernatural state of self immortality, which enabled him to conquer disease, death, old age, poverty, and misery," and to bring forth money and riches. Prosecutors said the cultists had collected nearly $3,000,000 since the movement's inception in 1930.

Instruction centers were listed as at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Cal., Chicago, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Pa., New York, Boston, Mass., Cleveland, O., Denver, Colo., Salt Lake City, Utah, Fort Worth, and Dallas, Tex., and West Palm Beach, Fla.

SETS FIRST YEAR COST OF PROPOSED DRAFT AT OVER ONE BILLION

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP).—The house military affairs committee heard from the army's general staff today that the cost of compulsory military service would be $1,100,000,000 for the first year of operation and $800,000,000 a year thereafter.

The estimate, by Maj. George L. Eberle, followed a declaration from Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] that "while I am opposed to war as much as any one else, I know that the best way to keep out of war is to be prepared for it."

Benjamin Marsh, veteran secretary of the People's Lobby and a frequent visitor to congressional hearings, told the committee the pending military service bill was "Hitler's first victory in America."

An objection voiced by Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord of the Maryland National Guard was that "the day may come when congress may not want to use the Guard any more because of the large number of reserves, and may not give us financial support."

He said the bill should be amended to maintain the National Guard as an integral part of the service.

Sitdown Strike Strands Dutch Ship in Chicago

A nautical sitdown strike puzzled immigration authorities last night as the Dutch merchant vessel Prins Willem III. lay at anchor outside the breakwater at Navy pier.

The 2,800 ton freighter, which narrowly escaped destruction by German bombs off Flushing, Holland, on May 10, was scheduled to sail for Montreal and then embark for an unnamed foreign port. Before departure time, however, 17 members of the 19 man Dutch crew told Capt. W. P. C. Helsdingen they would not sail.

The seamen were friendly about the matter, they agreed to keep the ship in order as long as she lay in neutral waters, but they were firm.

Prefer Jail in America.

"We do not want to get shot at unless we can shoot back," they told the master. "If we cannot have weapons, we would rather spend our time in a United States jail than on the ocean."

Capt. Helsdingen placed the matter before Fred C. Schlotfeldt, director of immigration, and Coast Guard Commander George W. MacLane. Immigration authorities placed a detainer order against members of the crew and the coast guard agreed to keep an eye on the ship.

Schlotfeldt and his assistant, A. M. Doig, pondered the perplexing aspects of the situation and placed the facts before officials in Washington.

All Crewmen Are Aliens.

Points which make the case difficult of decision follow:

1. Members of the crew, all aliens, have no documents which allow them to land in Chicago. They cannot, however, stay on the boat indefinitely.

2. If they are landed for deportation proceedings, the government must puzzle out a destination to which they can be deported. The crew members are citizens of Holland, now in the hands of Germany.

3. Decision to instigate deportation proceedings would leave Capt. Helsdingen without a crew. It would be impossible to gather an American crew as United States seamen are not allowed to sail in the war zone.

In case the seamen are brought ashore for deportation proceedings, immigration authorities said, they will be held in jail, bonded awaiting orders, or paroled until disposition of the case.

The Prins Willem III., owned by the Oranje Lines of Holland, left Antwerp on May 9.

"I want to stress the fact," Commander MacLane said last night, "that everything is pleasant on the boat. The master is a splendid fellow, the men are friendly and helpful."

Carrozzo Lifts Tax Lien; Lays Out $277,251

Mike Carrozzo, one-time penniless immigrant who is now the dapper dictator of the city's street sweepers and construction laborers, walked into the United States courthouse yesterday and handed over $277,251 to Nigel Campbell, chief deputy collector of internal revenue.

The money—in government bonds—was placed as a bond to lift a lien placed on all of Carrozzo's extensive properties Tuesday by the government to collect $241,088 in unpaid income taxes for 1937 and 1938.

Amount to Be Determined.

Campbell said posting of the money by Carrozzo automatically lifts the lien against his properties and insures payment to the government of taxes owed by Carrozzo—the amount to be determined in court litigation.

Placing of the lien against Carrozzo's extensive real estate holdings and bank accounts confirmed rumors that government agents are investigating the sources of his income in comparison with the tax payments he has made to the government. It has been reported that the grand jury may be asked to study criminal charges.

Rumors have been current that Carrozzo has paid the government $500,000 in an unsuccessful effort to avoid prosecution as a tax evader. It has been disclosed by authoritative sources that Carrozzo paid no income taxes from 1923 to 1933 on the claim that his $8,000 annual salary as president of the International Hod Carriers' and Common Laborers' District council was exempt because it came from union workers employed by the city who were then exempt from income taxes.

Large Income Rumored.

Now the boss of the white wings has an income from his unions and other sources estimated at $250,000 a year, altho he has never made any explanation of the nature of the other sources. He maintains a villa at Long Beach, Ind., and a 900 acre farm near Hobart, Ind.

Carrozzo, whose only explanation of the many strikes called against the city was the remark "What this country needs is a Hitler or a Mussolini," is under a federal indictment charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. He and nine other union leaders are accused of preventing the use of ready mixed concrete in the Chicago area thru the threat of strikes. They face arraignment next Wednesday before Federal Judge William H. Holly.

Citizen Only Three Years.

Carrozzo came to this country in 1906, but did not become a citizen until 1937. He has been boss of the laborers since 1919 when he was sponsored by Big Tim Murphy and defeated a rival backed by Mossie Enright. Less than five months after Carrozzo's election Enright was slain. Suspicion for the killing was directed at both Carrozzo and Murphy.

Carrozzo has control over 25 unions representing about 15,000 workers.

GERMANS CLAIM 11 VESSELS SUNK IN CONVOY OF 23

More than 300 Lost on French Vessel.

LONDON, July 26, Friday (AP).—German bombers by the hundreds made the English channel a streak of flame and death from dawn to twilight on Thursday.

The British pilots fought back, but in one fight alone they were outnumbered 80 to 6.

The Germans came on a day when Britons were told that a German torpedo speedboat, during Wednesday night, had sunk a plainly marked French ship loaded with homeward bound French soldiers drowning more than 300.

Attacks Channel Convoys.

The British said that the masses of German fighter planes which attacked channel convoys all day Thursday had met a gallant and deadly resistance and asserted they did little damage.

The Germans said in a broadcast their planes had sunk 11 out of 23 convoyed ships for a total of 43,000 tons. Three other vessels, totaling 12,000 tons, were reported set afire or so seriously damaged that they were a total loss. One "modern destroyer" also was said to have been set afire and another extensively damaged.

The London admiralty did acknowledge the loss of two naval trawlers, the Kingston Galena and Rodino, but did not say where or when they were sunk, or give the casualty totals.

Down 23 Enemy Planes.

The air ministry said 23 German planes—13 bombers and 10 fihters—were downed during the day and that 5 British planes were lost. It said:

"Hour after hour from dawn to late this evening Spitfires and Hurricanes [British fighters] roared into the skies to engage a large force of Nazi bombers with their protecting fighters which were attempting to bomb convoys.

"Six Spitfires on patrol sighted 30 dive bombers escorted by at least 50 Messerschmitt fighters, flying in layers thousands of feet above the bombers. The British fighters attacked.

"One Spitfire went for the bombers and thinks he got one of them. The other five Spitfires climbed to attack the enemy fighters. In the dogfight one of the German pilots was seen to bale out and a Spitfire pilot claims he seriously damaged another enemy fighter.

"One Spitfire is missing."

Once Driven Off.

It was indicated that the Germans had bombed and dispersed the convoy earlier, and had returned to bomb again when it reformed. The explosions of the bombs were felt on the English cliffs three miles from the scene.

In the first raid, the Nazi planes sowed bombs in a line half a mile long, but none of the convoyed ships appeared to have been hit.

The bombers were preceded 10 minutes by a lone scout, trailing a thin line of white smoke.

Then eight Junker 87s dived out of the clouds on the convoy, their bombs exploding cascades of water, multicolored fountains in the sun.

British fighters chased the scattered planes back to the French coast, but they kept coming back.

One Nazi plane, running from British fighters, plummeted into a field, smoke pouring from protesting engines. It hit a wall and burst into flames as one of its occupants threw a companion to safety. The pilot died in the flames, the second German had a broken leg and a third was seized by British soldiers.

Over England and Wales.

Late last night, German planes were over southwest England and Wales.

The bombers, roaring swiftly across the channel that once was Britain's barrier inviolate, drove even King George to an air raid shelter. They came in swarms to dive and blast at shipping, harbors, shores, and inland localities . . . sometimes strung out in long, seemingly endless lines.

The waves of Nazi air invaders came over the white cliffs of the southeast with a noise "like the continuous rumble of thunder," one watcher said.

The king was on a tour of naval training camps when the bombers came over. He saw them when he was just outside the entrance to one camp. He calmly lit a cigaret, then strolled to a shelter. He remained there only a few minutes. No bombs dropped near by and the tour continued.

The king had reached the next point on his tour, 20 miles away, when the raiders passed. Besides the training of British sailors, he saw Dutch, French, and Norwegians, and looked over warships of these nationalities.

Bomb Nazi Plane Factories.

Heavy rain, ice formation on wings, and lightning hampered the British counterpunch at Germany. However, the air ministry reported the bombing of two airplane factories in Germany, at Wismar, and Wenzendorf; two Dutch seaplane bases and the docks at Emden, Wilhelmshaven, and Hamburg, on the German North sea coast.

Not counting the planes shot down yesterday, it was announced that Britain's home defenses, since June 18, had destroyed 262 raiders — an average of about five a day.

In telling of the losses of the Meknes the government announced that "a deliberate and callous" attack by a German torpedo boat, off the heavily guarded Portland naval base, Wednesday night had sunk the 6,127 ton merchantman crammed with 1,300 French naval officers and men on their way to repatriation in their homeland. From 300 to 450 were lost. It was stated French representatives had been notified in advance of the British intention to repatriate the men in French ships.

Flying French Tricolor.

First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander announced the sinking of the Meknes to the house of commons after noting that the German high command had claimed it as an "18,000 ton merchantman."

The ship, he said, was a blaze of light, flying the French tricolor, with the French flag painted vividly on her deck and sides. Yet, he said, his voice rising:

"The Meknes was torpedoed by a motor boat at 10:30 last night. Passengers and crew were given five minutes to take to the boats, but each time she tried to signal her name she was again fired on and sank in four or five minutes."

About 950 Meknes survivors, 15 seriously injured, were landed on the English south coast last night. Some said they understood the Meknes had been guaranteed safe passage by the Germans.

First Notice: Machine Gun Fire.

"In spite of that the first notice we got was three bursts of machine-gun fire and shots from a small cannon," said one of them. "We sounded our siren to let the motor boat know this was not an enemy ship. The next thing was the torpedo.

"There was a rush for the boats, and they were overcrowded. The rafts were too heavy to get over the side quickly. All we could do was jump for it, and wait.

"A lot of people were killed when the boiler exploded. Then we were machine-gunned in the water. After a while British warships picked us up."

Germans Deny Sinking.

BERLIN, July 25 (AP).—The German news bureau, DNB, quoting authorized sources, denied tonight the British statement that Germans were responsible for sinking the French transport Meknes with 1,300 French aboard to be taken home for repatriation.

These sources pointed out that the German high command had mentioned sinking an 18,000 ton armed merchantman, and said this was not the Meknes, which was only of 6,127 tons.

DNB said the German sources commented that the loss of the Meknes was in line with "the ruthless tradition which started with the Athenia and reached its highest point at Oran."

[This was a reference to the British naval action against the French fleet at Oran, Algeria, after the armistice between France and Germany, and to the sinking of the liner Athenia on Sept. 3, 1939, while en route from England to Canada. Germany repeatedly denied that a German submarine torpedoed the ship and intimated that the British sank it.]

U. S. SENDS SHIP FOR REFUGEES IN NORTH FINLAND

New York, July 25 (AP).—The army transport American Legion sailed today from New York for the Arctic ocean port of Petsamo in northern Finland to remove 650 stranded American citizens.

In Washington Sumner Welles, acting secretary of the state department, said the trip was arranged by direction of President Roosevelt. He said he understood Mrs. Daisy Borden Harriman, American minister to Norway, would return on the transport and possibly the American ministers to Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia, the Baltic states absorbed by soviet Russia.

BRITISH FLYERS CURB BLITZKRIEG WITH 1,000 RAIDS

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—The British air force, in repeated attacks against Germany and German-occupied countries, has made it "extremely difficult" for the reich to organize mass attacks on Britain from existing airdromes and bases she "hoped to establish" just across the English Channel and the North Sea, an informed British source said today.

More than 1,000 British attacks in the last three months have "to a great extent succeeded in breaking down the scheme Germany hoped would culminate in devastating attacks on these islands following her sweeping victories" on the continent, it was stated.

Reveal Sinking of British Rescue Ship Off France; 2,823 Missing

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—The admiralty tonight revealed 57 were killed and 23 wounded in the torpedoing and sinking of the British destroyer Whirlwind, which, it announced was sunk on July 8.

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—After waiting more than five weeks to soften the blow, the British censorship today permitted publication of the fact that 2,823 British troops and refugees still are missing from the bombing and sinking of the 16,243 ton Cunard liner Lancastria, while she lay at anchor at St. Nazaire, France, June 17. At the time of the bombing the liner was evacuating the last of the British expeditionary force from France.

This was the first time the authorities had permitted any mention of the Lancastria disaster, which ranks as the greatest sea catastrophe of the war, so far as is yet known.

Vessel Carried 5,300.

The vessel, formerly a New York to West Indies cruise ship, was carrying 5,300 troops and refugees, some of them women and children. She capsized and sank in half an hour under the impact of German aerial bombs and torpedoes.

Small craft saved 2,477. Some of the others counted as missing may have succeeded in swimming or wading ashore.

As the veil of censorship was lifted, heroic stories of soldiers and seamen gallantly facing death were told by survivors of the sunken liner.

Gunners Fight as Ship Sinks.

Those who could not be saved went down with a cheer for rescued comrades taken off by lifeboats, a steward said.

"Gunners stood by their arms until water swirled them away, but before they died they accounted for at least one if not all the attacking ships," he said.

"The commander, Capt. Arthur Robert Sharp, refused to leave the bridge. But the ship's surgeon, named Shaw, dived from one of the lifeboats and hauled the captain to safety.

"Two bombs struck the ship, the second catching her amidships, and oil poured into the water.

"The bombers came low and dropped incendiary bombs, apparently to set fire to the oil coated water and scald the men floundering in the water. They also machine-gunned the men.

Women Aboard Ship.

"Boats came out from shore and I was picked up by one of them after being in the water something like an hour."

Many survivors have returned to the sea after a brief leave to recuperate.

Frank Golightly, a Salvation Army major, said there were some women of his organization aboard, members of the Y. M. C. A. and civilian refugees.

A cook who asserted there were 16 civilians said he saw one soldier grab a young girl, whose legs were broken, and swim with her until both were picked up. The girl died later.

Tells of Planes' Attack.

One officer declared, "we were so tightly packed on board that we could not move when the planes came over, so the men just jeered. When the first bomb struck us some were killed by the explosion but there was no panic. When the ship suddenly went down it was a dreadful sight to see all the heads bobbing about in the water."

Another survivor said, "Men clung to others in the hope of survival. They bobbed about everywhere, some horribly burned by the explosion. Some hung onto the debris, others were swimming until they finally sank. It was every man for himself.

"All this time three planes still were above us and they continually swooped to bomb and machine gun the oily waters. We are not certain but we believe the planes might have been Italian."

SWEDISH PRESS PROTESTS NAZI PRESSURE ON IT

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 25.—Purported German efforts to intimidate the Swedish press, which aroused particular resentment because of what was called their arrogant tone, today continued to inspire protests in the Swedish press.

Many Swedish newspapers protest against the German demand that the neutral European press should exclude all British news dispatches, and declare that such procedure not only would abrogate the neutrality of the Swedish press but would also reduce it to the status of the controled press in countries under German occupation.

The Social Demokraten, one of the newspapers accused of trying to disturb relations between Germany and Russia, disclaims any such intention but adds "it is not inexplicable if in our country we ask ourselves to what degree the continuing reconstruction of the balance of power on the Baltic shores really is taking place with Germany's consent and whether there are to be future displacements which might imply new complications for us and other Nordic countries."

CARDENAS TO DECIDE WHICH OF MEXICO'S CONGRESSES IS LEGAL

MEXICO CITY, July 25 (AP).—President Lazaro Cardenas himself, the government announced today, will decide which of the country's two prospective "congresses" is legal by appearing before one or the other to read his presidential message Sept. 1.

After the presidential election early this month both the administration candidate, Gen. Manuel Avilo Camacho, and the opposition candidate, Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, claimed a majority. Almazan later said that if his elected supporters were not admitted to congress they would meet as a congress anyway, "in my own home, if necessary."

Since it is the chamber of deputies of the recognized congress which declares the presidential winner, Cardenas' appearance at the session is expected to have the effect of deciding the presidential race itself. In the event that two congresses actually meet, the one before which Candenas reads his presidential message will be considered the legal one, the department of interior explained.

NAZIS AIM RAIDS TO SHUT BRITAIN BY AIR BLOCKADE

Strike at North Channel to Irish Sea.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 25.—German efforts to block Great Britain's last passage to the western ports of England became apparent today when German bombers were reported to have bombed the district of Glasgow on the west coast of Scotland.

The only access to Liverpool and other British west coast ports, by way of the north channel, to the Irish sea, now is menaced by German air raiders and U-boats.

Because of the proximity of German-held air and U-boat bases in France, the British admiralty has found it necessary to block, with mines, St. George's channel, the southern passage leading from the Atlantic to the Irish sea.

Peril Greater Than in 1917?

German naval experts assert the German U-boat threats to Britain is far greater than in 1917 when the British Admiral Jellicoe, told the American admiral, William Sims, that England would lose the war if her shipping losses continued at the same rate. At this critical time of the world war, German U-boats had succeeded in sinking almost one million tons of allied shipping a month.

The German naval experts add that the German counter blockade of England in the present war relies not on U-boats alone but also on the Nazi air force and torpedo speedboats.

The speedboats proved a formidable weapon in the narrow waters surrounding England. Today's German war communique reported a speedboat sank an armed British merchantman of 18,000 tons south of Portland. [The British asserted the vessel sunk was the 6,127 ton French merchantman Meknes, with the loss of 300 to 450 lives, mostly persons being repatriated to France].

Claim Foe in Difficulty.

German naval circles declare that England is meeting with increasing difficulties to provide the necessary escort vessels for convoy purposes. The German naval expert, Rear Admiral Gadow, asserted 40 per cent of the British navy either has been destroyed or disabled for the time being. The admiral added, "Only part of these forces are available for convoy purposes. The bulk is being held in readiness for the decisive battle."

Besides raiding the west coast of Scotland, German raiders attacked the Vickers airplane factory at Weybridge, 12 miles southwest of London, where, the Germans claimed, four planes were destroyed on the ground. The Germans stated that six British planes were shot down in air combat. The Germans admitted the loss of six planes. Industrial plants at Great Yarmouth on the British east coast were also raided by German bombers.

SET UP RULES FOR FRENCH WHO FLED TO RETURN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, July 25.—Paul Baudoin, French foreign secretary, today telegraphed French consulates abroad detailed instructions on the conditions for special visas to return to France which may be accorded to French citizens who quit the country between May 10 and June 30, thus becoming liable to loss of citizenship and confiscation of wealth.

The new ruling enables the French to return home in special cases but does not relieve them of the liability for loss of their civil rights unless they can justify their departure. The French government clarified the status of 23 deputies who left France on June 20 for Casablanca, Morocco, on the steamer Massilia. Four are liable to prosecution by military authorities because they are members of the army. The others, however, are not subject to the law against leaving the country since they went to the colonies and not foreign soil. They may, however, be held liable on other charges such as war responsibility or communicating with other powers.

Sixteen out of the 23 deputies have returned to Marseilles.

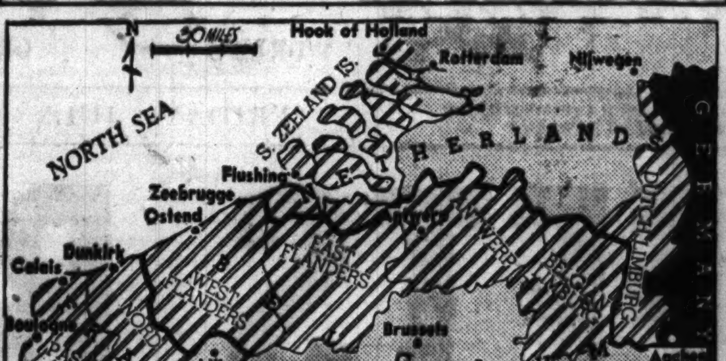
Plan for Buffer State Reported



Shaded area is that which would be constituted into the new buffer state of Flanders, according to information reported by a London newspaper correspondent. Present boundaries of Holland, Belgium, and France, which would contribute territory to it, are indicated by heavy lines.

London–War of Words–Paris

Here is a sample of the "war of words" which is raging between Germany and Great Britain. One story is based on the observations of a London newspaper. The other quotes a French newspaper in territory now occupied by the Germans. The stories:

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 26 [Friday].—A special correspondent of the Daily Telegraph reports the possession of "reliable information" indicating that Germany plans to wipe out the Belgian nation entirely and reconstitute it into a new "State of Flanders" to serve as a buffer between Germany and Great Britain.

The new state which Adolf Hitler is said to be forming as part of his "thousand year European peace" would have a sea coast from a ridge behind Boulogne to the northern Scheldt river and include the islands of southern Zeeland.

Calais, Dunkirk, Ostend, Zeebrugge, Flushing, Antwerp, and the hook of Holland would be maritime bases and the whole plain of Flanders its air base. The new state also would include the Belgian province of Antwerp and Belgian and Dutch Limburg and the great part of the French northern provinces. The Limburg provinces are said to be considered necessary to give Germany access to the North sea across Flanders.

Italy Urges Such a Move.

Apparent corroboration of the Daily Telegraph's article is discovered in nuances in the Italian press and radio broadcasts. These are "demanding that the French restore to Flanders the northern provinces annexed by the kings of France eight centuries ago."

The newspaper notes that this dovetails with German broadcasts denouncing the Treaty of Westphalia of 1648, under which two Belgian provinces, Flander Zelandaise and Northern Limburg, were given to Holland. In other words, the German aim is said to be the restoration of Flanders to the position it occupied in the Middle Ages, when it extended from Calais to the Scheldt.

Built on Flemish Antagonism.

Belgium seemingly will supply the nucleus around which this will be built. No mention is made of the rôle King Leopold is expected to play.

The Flemish antiFrench feeling, supposedly encouraged by German propaganda, is being used to popularize the idea of a new state among the Belgans.

This is said to be the significance of German organized demonstrations at Antwerp on July 7 celebrating the anniversary of the battle of "Golden Spurs" in 1302 when Flemish citizens crushed the knighthood of France on the plains of Courtrai. The Flemish separatist movement, it is pointed out, has been a thorn in the side of Belgium for years.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 25.—The possibility of peace negotiations between Germany and Great Britain dominated the political scene in Paris today following press reports that David Lloyd George, world war prime minister, has demanded a secret discussion in parliament of Adolf Hitler's "last chance" peace offer.

It was intimated here that Hitler's speech has divided British public opinion into three parties: One headed by Prime Minister Winston Churchill who is said to be determined to leave Hitler's appeal unanswered, the second headed by Lloyd George who wishes to ask the axis powers what conditions of peace they have in mind and, third what is here called the "Party of the British People" who, it is believed, desire only one thing—peace at any price.

Paper Assails Churchill.

Opinion in Paris is unanimous that peace between Germany and Britain is impossible so long as Churchill remains in office. The newspaper La France au Travail, reflecting opinion in German occupied France, said: "The vast majority of the English people wishes that this disastrous war be ended as soon as possible. But so long as the British masses keep at their head a madman who imagines that nervous fits are acts of government they must expect to suffer the most terrible calamities.

"Propaganda in the United Kingdom is continuing its criminal activities," the paper continued. "We know what disaster official lies have brought on France. Hitler's peace offer of Oct. 6, 1939, was kept hidden from us. It was possible to stop the war then but we were not allowed to know it and were kept in complete ignorance of the situation. Owing to the effrontery and duplicity of our press and radio we were duped into continuing hostilities even after the battle of Flanders, when all was lost. Everyone who has a heart beating in his breast would be happy to see Britain, duped by its leaders, return to a saner appreciation of facts and spare innocent people the horrors of a useless massacre."

Newspaper Is Skeptical.

This skeptical note was expressed today by Le Matin, Paris newspaper, which said "Lloyd George who with Georges Clemenceau [French premier during the world war] created the treaty of Versailles has come to life again. Decidedly there are dead men who have to be killed over again. England must either submit or fight unto death."

ESTONIA HOISTS SOVIET FLAG ON MERCHANT FLEET

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 25.—The entire Estonian merchant fleet of some 200,000 tons has been leased to the soviet union for an indefinite period, and all Baltic ships in Russian harbors have hoisted the soviet flag, reports here said today.

The Lithuanian ministry of the interior has issued a list of 46 persons, including President Antenas Smetona, who fled the country or are in hiding. Their fortunes, it is announced, will be confiscated if they do not return within four weeks.

The streets of Baltic towns now are being given new names such as Stalin, Molotov, and October Revolution. All the states are organizing an armed workers' militia.

U. S. SAILORS CLASH WITH JAPANESE POLICE IN TSINGTAO, CHINA

SHANGHAI, July 25 (AP).—A belated dispatch said today that the Russian-born wife of an American, C. J. Meyer of Salt Lake City, Utah, was slapped in a scuffle with Japanese police at Isingtao during recent disorders involving American sailors and Japanese authorities.

It was reported the Japanese police had been called to deal with a Japanese accused of having smashed a large window in Meyer's bar. A scuffle ensued in which Mrs. Meyers was slapped.

As a result of these and other incidents, the sailors were called back to their ships Sunday night and shore leave canceled.

CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE

8,000 GIRLS DO WAR CHORES ON BRITISH FARMS

They Pitch In to Help Fight Blockade.

BY GUY MURCHIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—Eight thousand girls averaging about 21 years of age now are working on farms thruout Britain, forming what is known as the "land army." Three hundred more are in various stages of the six week training courses in 10 agricultural schools in different parts of the country.

To see what these girls learn and thus judge the effect of their work in helping farmers to overcome the blockade, the Tribune correspondent journeyed to one of the larger of these agricultural schools located in East Sussex. Here reside 55 girls and 15 instructors and instructresses. The farm, with its 90 cows, 11 horses, 24 pigs, and 68 chickens nestles in a green valley beside a range of hills with undulating hay fields and neatly squared vegetable plots about and the school buildings set among the trees beside a narrow country road.

Won't Be Nuisances.

The school's purpose, in the words of one instructor, is to teach the girls enough so they will not be a nuisance to the farmers when they are assigned to the farms. In the short period of a course the girls learn only the bare fundamentals of farming, but get toughened up to a 10 hour working day by pitching hay, hoeing, weeding, and cleaning barns. A few do not take the work seriously and some are obviously physically or mentally incapable of hard farm work.

All of these must be eliminated, but it is found that three of four can work reasonably well. In actual figures, 234 of 300 from this particular school have been found satisfactory after their employment on farms.

The most important of all the work the girls learn is dairying. Milking, sterilizing milk, and caring for cattle are the things taught most thoroly. The girls quickly become good dairy maids.

Learning to feed pigs and chickens and cleaning stalls and floors are other tasks emphasized as necessary to the farm helper's usefulness.

Varieties of Field Work.

Weeding and many varieties of field work, including "digging for victory," also are important. Thatching is a useful accomplishment for repairing leaks in roofs. The girls also learn how to drive tractors and repair engines.

Most of the girls who attend the school are not from the country but are daughters of town and city families. Not having had steady jobs, they and their families are glad for them to do useful work in healthy surroundings, even tho the pay is small. The few country girls in the schools have a poor record, while, in the words of an instructor, "some of the glamor girls from the west end of London make splendid farmers."

All Classes Represented.

All classes are represented, from laboring families to the daughter of A. P. Herbert, well known novelist and reformer of the divorce laws.

The girls wear buff colored overalls, which are very becoming to the prevailing buxom type figure. A surprising percentage of the girls are pretty as well as unusually healthy. An encampment of soldiers near by has demonstrated much interest in this school, but so far the pupils appear to have been well guarded and always are sent to bed on schedule at 10 o'clock. Male instructors seem nervous on the new job and explain that "we are not yet used to associating much with young girls the way they do in the co-ed United States."

Ten shillings a week [about $2] and keep is the girls' pay while at the training school. They have a 64 hour week, 10 hours daily and 4 hours Sunday. When they complete six weeks of training they are assigned to farms where they seem most needed.

Their pay after being hired by the farmers is, of course, subject to the minimum wage laws. The girls must receive at least $6.50 and their keep for a 48 hour week. They are entitled to 12 cents an hour for overtime, which averages about 18 hours a week at present.

ROOSEVELT HOST TO LUXEMBURG'S REFUGEE PRINCE

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP).—Prince Consort Felix of Luxemburg and his six children lunched with President Roosevelt at the White House today.

Official honors were extended the royal refugee family of the tiny duchy now overrun by the Germans. They came here from Annapolis after a trans-Atlantic voyage on the United States cruiser Trenton.

In addition to Prince Felix and six young princes and princesses, guests at the luncheon included Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, and Mrs. Welles; the chargé d'affaires of Luxemburg and Mme. Le Gallais, and Joseph E. Davies, former minister of the Lowlands and France. The grand duchess remained in Europe when the prince sailed with their children from Lisbon on July 15.

The prince is husband of Grand Duchess Charlotte, ruler of Luxemburg at the start of the May invasion both to Luxemburg and Belgium. Later the royal refugees will go to Long Island, N. Y., for an indefinite stay at Davies' home.

RICH GERMAN MOVIE MANAGER MISSING 2 WEEKS

New York, July 25 (AP).—The disappearance of Walter Ebeling, 31 years old, wealthy manager of the Garden theater, a German language movie house in New York's German section, was reported tonight to the missing persons bureau and the federal bureau of investigation.

Ebeling, a Swedish born, naturalized United States citizen, has been missing since July 9, when he last was seen at a hotel in South Bend, Ind. He had a large sum of money with him and apparently drove away in his automobile, but left behind his naturalization papers, police said.

Ebeling was traveling with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Knight, of Little Neck, N. Y., and told them he intended to visit friends in Eagle Lake, Mich., only 18 miles away.

MANY BUILDINGS BURN AS ITALIANS RAID ALEXANDRIA

British Bomb 50 Planes on Ground in Libya.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 25 (AP).—Italian planes, using incendiary bombs for the first time, raided this British naval base for an hour today. One person was killed and seven injured. Officials stated the bombs missed military objectives and fell in native residential districts, setting numerous homes afire.

The British struck back with a raid on Derna, eastern Libya. "Our bombs fell among 50 Italian planes on the ground, causing considerable damage," an air force communique said. It asserted that a fighter patrol of five planes protecting the returning bombers met seven enemy fighter planes and downed five of them.

The British attacked a "large ammunition dump" south of Bardia, and said several direct hits were registered and that part of the dump was blown completely away.

Raid Eritrean Hangars.

"A raid on Macaaca [Eritrea] resulted in a direct hit on an Ala Littoria [commercial air line] hangar. Considerable damage was done to two other hangars.

"Two enemy raids on Malta resulted in very slight damage," the air force communique said.

"Enemy aircraft raided Haifa [Palestine] early yesterday morning and several thousand tins of kerosene and lubricating oil were set afire, but the fire was brought under control and was prevented from spreading by early afternoon. Civilian casualties were about 100. There were no military casualties," the communique concluded.

Gibraltar Menaced.

ALGECIRAS, Spain, July 25 (AP).—Unidentified planes appeared over Gibraltar three times today, drawing intensive fire from antiaircraft batteries of the British fortress rock.

One group of the 16,000 civilians being removed from Gibraltar will embark tomorrow for the Bahamas, whose governor-designate is the duke of Windsor. Other refugee vessels are expected to sail soon for Tangier, Lisbon and other points.

Claim British Cruiser Hit.

ROME, July 25 (AP).—The Rome radio announced today that "considerable damage" had been caused to the 9,400-ton British cruiser Gloucester in the naval engagement with Italian ships near Crete on July 19.

The report said British casualties, including the death of the commander and nine officers, indicated the vessel was shelled in vital parts.

The high command reported another Italian submarine missing.

FORMER CHICAGO MAN IS KILLED IN HAIFA AIR RAID

Lax went to Palestine five years ago as a member of a coöperative colony. He was employed as a truck driver. His wife, Anna, whose home is in Duluth, Minn., and their daughter, Tirza, 3 years old, who was born in Palestine, survive.

TREACHERY MADE PUNISHABLE BY DEATH IN CANADA

Bill Rushed Thru to Halt Saboteurs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., July 25.—Any person found guilty of treachery or assisting the armed forces of the enemy will be executed in Canada. Any person convicted of interfering with the dominion's safety can be given life imprisonment.

The house of commons decreed these punishments today in speeding into law the "treachery bill" which contains these new protections for national security. Members agreed that the fifth column treachery that helped Adolf Hitler's conquests in Europe should be punishable by death. An attempt to incorporate in the bill the alternative of life imprisonment was turned down.

Aimed at Sabotage.

Until now the penalty for treasonable offenses under the war measures act was five years imprisonment. Treason is not defined in the Canadian criminal code, and until now only British subjects could be convicted of treason.

Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley, chairman of the special committee which drafted the new treachery bill explained that under the old criminal code persons who came to Canada temporarily or clandestinely, perhaps from the United States, with a view of doing damage thru sabotage and then returning to that country could not be convicted of treason."

Definition of Treachery.

Under the new bill any person who "with intent to help the enemy, conspires with any other person to do an act which is designed or likely to give assistance to the naval, military, or air operations of the enemy, to impede . . . operations of his majesty's forces, or to endanger life," shall be executed on conviction.

BRITTANY SETS UP FREE STATE; GETS NAZI CHIEF

Berlin Recognizes Break from France.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 25.—Separation of Brittany from France, in the form of a national state, received German recognition today with the appointment of Gen. Weyer as military governor.

Resolutions pledging creation of a separate state "at a given time" have been adopted by the national council of Brittany, according to DNB, official news agency.

The agency also said that the council had adopted a platform for the future separate state, which has been the object of the Breton autonomist movement for many years.

Foes of Britain.

The platform places Bretons "against their old Celtic enemies"—the English—and declares that the "system of suppression of Bretons has been destroyed." Relations with both France and Germany, DNB said, will be "determined by mutual treaties."

Brittany, invaded by Cæsar in 56 B. C., and annexed to France by treaty in 1532, is strategically important for Germany. It is a rocky peninsula jutting out into the Atlantic ocean between the English channel and the Bay of Biscay and forms a jumping off spot for Germany at a time when she is completing plans for an attack on Britain.

Scene of Disturbances.

It is composed of five departments which have been the scene of many minor disturbances during the Breton autonomist movement. This movement, however, never was taken very seriously by the old French republic.

The secession of the area finds a parallel in the days following the signing of the Versailles treaty. Then, groups of autonomists worked for secession in Germany. They sought to gain power in the Rhineland and in Bavaria but failed. It was charged they were encouraged and financed by French agents.

BRITAIN PLANS TO INTENSIFY ITS BLOCKADE

[Copyright: 1940: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 25.—The British are about to impose the most drastic blockade in the history of modern warfare. The government is to issue regulations which will provide that any ship sailing to any European port will be seized and taken to a British prize court unless it sailed with a "navicert."

Navicerts are issued only by a British consul or other British authorities after shippers have proved to the satisfaction of the British that their cargo will not go beyond the country to which it is shipped. Any ship approaching European shores without a certificate to this effect will be captured by the British and treated as prize under the new plan.

Even if part of a cargo is covered by a navicert and the rest is not, the British still will treat the whole cargo as a prize. In effect, the new British decision means that any ship bound for Europe or North Africa must obtain the consent of the British before it sails, unless its owners want to risk a British destroyer's taking the ship into a British port.

TELLS AMERICA TO WAKE UP OR MARCH TO DOOM

French Chief Says U. S. Youth Lacks Fire.

[Copyright: 1940: By the New York Times.]

VICHY, France, July 25.—"Tell America her time is coming unless she wakes up and profits from the bitter lesson of France." Minister of the Interior Adrian Marquet warned today.

Marquet, who visited the United States in 1932 and again in 1939, said he was astounded at the change during those seven years.

Tells of Change.

"In 1932, when I was there," he said, "a young man with average intelligence, average brawn, and the average will to work could have hoped and did hope to amass enough to live comfortably.

"When I returned in 1939, I was astonished to find that American youth no longer wished to work, no longer had ambitions, and preferred the relative 'security' of a civil service job to running in the face for fortune.

Too Much Makeup.

"It probably is this attitude which has allowed the spread of the infection manifest by three critical signs: women filling the jobs of men in industry and commerce, wearing too much makeup, and refusing to bear children.

"I warn you when a nation generally presents these three manifestations of 'decadence,' it is time for that nation to look to its future and awake."

LATINS GET U. S. PLANS TO CRUSH 5TH COLUMNISTS

Hull Resolution Raps Nazi Agents.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, July 25.—A flood of proposals dealing with western hemisphere problems caused by European war developments today inundated the ministers of the 21 American republics assembled here.

Fifty-six resolutions were filed with the secretary of the conference when the agreed upon noon deadline was reached. Suggested programs ranged all the way from mere flowery declarations of principles to concrete plans designed to meet the situation caused by Nazi Germany's domination of the European continent and the serious possibility that it contemplates economic and political penetration of the Americas.

As expected, the Argentine delegation's proposals were of an innocuous character, recommending "further study," appointment of an additional committee, and so forth, which would delay action.

Brazil Presents Plan.

In sharp contrast was the economic program advanced by Brazil, which was described as even more concrete than that advocated by the United States.

While the details of the Brazil plan were temporarily withheld, it was reported that it carried a specific working plan for disposing of the great surpluses of grain, beef and other commodities piled up by the loss of European markets.

Between now and next Wednesday, which has tentatively been set for completion of the conference, representatives of the republics must sift a great mass of suggestions and evolve a program for action. The task is admittedly tremendous and is hampered by fears of many Central and South American states of German reprisals for any action interpreted as inimical to Nazi interests.

Hull Gives Proposal.

The United States today amplified its proposals for dealing with the activities of totalitarian agents in the western hemisphere. A resolution sponsored by Secretary of State Cordell Hull calls for united action in suppressing subversive activities.

The resolution binds the republics to the fullest exchange of information concerning acts of non-American agencies in order that each republic may be enabled to crush fifth column activities.

It is also noted that there has been a marked increase in the size of German diplomatic and consular establishments in a number of Central and South American countries.

Foreign ministers of each republic, the resolution states, should determine whether foreign diplomats are violating the principles of international law and should extend diplomatic privileges only to persons actually engaged in legitimate diplomatic functions.

Take Up Plans for Possessions.

The United States plan for a collective trusteeship over Dutch and French possessions in this hemisphere also was amplified in the resolutions introduced today. The new plan is designed to take care of situations that may arise prior to the selection of a three-nation commission to rule the possessions.

It provides for a "protective" trusteeship over any region by a specific committee of republics to be named by the conference which would assume authority over the region without delay in the face of a sudden attempt by totalitarian powers to assume control.

[Leopoldo Melo, chief of the Argentine delegation, said in an interview last night that his country was opposed to Pan-American trusteeships or mandates over European possessions in the western hemisphere. The Argentine stand was disclosed in The Tribune on Thursday morning. Melo in his interview said the future status of the possessions should be determined by the people involved and without outside pressure, adding that Argentina could not countenance the application of force over American territory "even in the guise of treaties or conventions effected among the Americas."

Discuss Economic Phases.

A subcommittee on economic affairs today discussed the United States economic program with A. A. Berle, assistant secretary of state, pleading for its adoption. Similar proposals by Brazil, Ecuador, and Colombia also were considered.

Recognizing that the present state of world affairs may necessitate an emergency consultation among the sister republics in the near future, the Cuban delegation introduced a resolution naming Rio de Janeiro as the site for the next conference.

"His mother accompanied us on our honeymoon to Saugatuck, Mich.," Mrs. Jordan told Judge Oscar F. Nelson in the Superior court. "Afterwards she insisted that we live across the alley from her.

ANTI-WAR RALLY GETS BACKING OF PATRIOTIC BODIES

Lindbergh and Clark to Speak Aug. 4.

More than a score of patriotic and civic organizations already have announced that they will participate Aug. 4 in the big antiwar demonstration in Soldiers' field where Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] will be the principal speakers.

Invitations to take part have been extended by Avery Brundage, chairman of the Citizens' Keep America Out of War committee, to every patriotic organization. The list of those accepting thus far was announced yesterday by Capt. William J. Grace, executive secretary of the committee.

G. A. R. Veterans Accept.

Acceptances included 11 from veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, led by Capt. Thomas A. Ambrose, adjutant general of the G. A. R. They will have seats of honor on the platform at the north end of the arena which at one point in the ceremonies will be the scene of a massed flag demonstration.

The list of participating organizations included the following: Veterans of Foreign Wars, Legion of Valor, Disabled American Veterans, National League of American Mothers, Daughters of 1812, Fathers of American Youth, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, Women's club of the People's church, and the Patriotic League of Women.

Foreign War Foes Accept.

Acceptances also were reported from American Patriots Against Foreign Wars, Swedish club, John Ericsson league, Catholic Daughters of America, Daughters of Union Veterans, Women's Relief corps, Chicago and Cook County Council of Women's Organizations, United Spanish War Veterans, and the Epworth league.

Capt. Grace will open the program following drilling by a drum and bugle corps. Homer O. McGuffey, Cook county commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will preside during the flag demonstration and will introduce Chairman Brundage.

SPANISH PRESS WARNS LATINS: BEWARE YANKEES

MADRID, July 25 (AP).—The Spanish press advised South American nations tonight to beware of "Yankee imperialistic maneuvers" during the Pan-American conference at Havana. Failure of the conference was a foregone conclusion in the opinion of most newspapers, one of which called on Argentina to occupy the British Falkland Islands in the far South Atlantic ocean.

Dutch Still Rule Possessions.

LONDON, July 25.—The proposal to establish a joint American protectorate over western hemisphere possessions of those countries now occupied by Germany cannot be applied to Netherlands territory, according to the view taken today by the Dutch government here. It was said that the Netherlands government is not under German influence and is exercising full authority over nonoccupied parts of the kingdom.

Won't Sign Alliance.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 25 (AP). — The newspaper Noticias Graficas reported today that Foreign Minister Cantillo had told a secret session of the chamber of deputies: "Argentina will not sign any kind of alliances with American countries." The report was not confirmed.

GOLD WORTHLESS, AMERICA IS TOLD BY NAZI LEADER

Funk Says German Mark Will Dominate World.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Walther Funk.

BERLIN, July 25.—Minister of Economics Walther Funk today presented an elaboration of Nazi plans for the economic future of Europe and the world.

His statement devoted considerable attention to the United States and to the current Pan-American defense conference at Havana. He sounded the warnings:

1. America's gold, in his opinion, is worthless.
2. Germany rejects any idea of a planned economy for the American continents.
3. The standards of living in the various states to be reconstituted by Germany will not be identical.

Thinks of New Game.

In reference to the American hoard of gold now safeguarded at Fort Knox, Ky., Funk said:

"When you play marbles and one fellow wins away all the marbles the game ends. You must then think of some new game. When all the gold is in the United States and it doesn't come out again, the world must think of some other medium of exchange."

He asserted America must revalue her dollar upward to take advantage of world trade. He continued: "If all the gold now accumulated in the United States were taken on some island and that island disappeared, world economy would not suffer."

He recalled the biblical phrase, "Dust thou art, to dust returneth" and paraphrased, "first you take it out of the earth and then you put it into the earth again, in huge safes in the United States."

Assails Cartel Scheme.

Funk proceeded to criticize the cartel scheme, which has been proposed in connection with the Pan-American conferences. He wanted to know why Germany is excluded from consideration in this cartel plan. He said:

"The economic preconditions are lacking for success of such a plan, for the United States can never absorb South American products to the extent Europe can.

"The United States must give up her idea of forcing her economic conditions upon Germany or Europe. To conduct trade with South American states we do not need North American mediation. Either economic exchange between Germany and South America is based on free, untrammeled arrangement or it will not take place at all."

He Charges Discrimination.

"The United States," he asserted, "is deliberately discriminating against Germany."

Funk presented a picture of a new Europe in which all nations would gear their production to German needs. He visualized a barter system in which, he said, the reichmark will be the dominant currency. He asserted that the new reichmark will not fluctuate wildly as world currencies have done in the past.

Germany expects, he said, to employ the same economic policies which made possible "our great economic success before the war" but the bilateral trade arrangements already in effect may be used only as starting arrangements for multilateral systems, with a central clearing house taking care of equalizing balances.

Expects Big Overseas Trade.

Funk asserted each country is to develop its own economic resources and conduct trade with other countries, but the principles and methods must on the whole be identical.

Europe, and especially Germany, will wish to draw upon overseas raw materials in great quantities, he predicted, and will want to pay for them with manufactured goods.

Declaring only the British blockade was hindering German foreign trade, Funk said he anticipated German exchange with South America and the orient would flourish after the war.

The goal of the Europeans' planned economy, according to Funk, must be "to guarantee a maximum consumption of goods for the increase of the national welfare in the great German reich."

Anticipated at Havana.

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP).—Government officials declared today the Pan-American meeting now going on in Havana was the United States' answer to German economic aims as outlined today by Walther Funk, Nazi economics minister.

Officials here asserted that, in anticipation of Funk's barter scheme, the so-called "cartel" plan and other proposals for inter-American economic coöperation were prepared.

Publicly, the treasury has denied any concern about the future value of gold.

Food Shortages Strike Europe; Famine Feared If War Goes On

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Food shortages were beginning to make themselves felt in Europe yesterday—shortages which may turn to famine if the war goes on. That Europe is beginning to feel the pinch was indicated in reports from various capitals.

Italy's minister of agriculture admitted that, despite Premier Benito Mussolini's annual "battle of wheat" to make Italy as self sustaining as possible, the crop this year will be 28,292,000 bushels less than last. Poor weather was responsible.

Bread rationing was ordered in Italian restaurants, as well as another "meatless day"—which makes four weekly.

Crops Short in Balkans.

Short crops already have been reported in the Balkans — Europe's "breadbasket" when she is on her own.

Most ironic was the situation in unoccupied France, a few weeks ago joined with Britain in enforcing a food blockade upon Germany, now reduced to calling thru her newspapers for Germany to give her food.

Five or six million refugees from northern France and Belgium have crowded into southern France, reportedly putting a distressful burden upon the country. France, never self sustaining, now is caught in the blockade of her former British ally.

French Farmers on Nazi Relief.

The censored French press said "the fate of France for months" depends upon German leniency in allowing food supplies to come from occupied France.

Even French farmers were reported living off German relief, others going to the Swiss frontier to beg for food.

Spain, from whom Britain intends to keep supplies which might find their way to Germany or Italy, reached an agreement with Portugal and Britain yesterday for wheat supplies for her own use. Spain is to buy about $2,400,000 worth.

American Oil Ships Stopped.

In Washington, officials announced that two American tankers, loaded with 200,000 barrels of Texas oil for Spain, had been stopped. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau denied, however, that the order had anything to do with Britain's reported resolve to plug the flow of oil thru Spain to Germany and Italy.

Britain, whom Germany is attempting to blockade with bombs and torpedoes, also showed signs of feeling the pinch of wartime conditions.

Supply Minister Herbert Morrison is planning to let up on the intense seven day speedup in munitions factories, it was announced, because workers are showing strain and exhaustion.

But continued German bombing raids on merchant convoys in the North sea and along the southeast coast indicated Germany has not been able to force Britain to give up the use of her eastern and southern ports.

RUMANIA'S GRIP ON FOREIGN OIL FIRMS TIGHTENED

Orders Expulsion of 12 French Executives.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 25 (AP).—Rumania tightened her grip on vast British and French oil properties in the rich Rumanian fields tonight and promised to speed deliveries for the reich's oil thirsty war machine as King Carol was warned by the potent Iron Guard not to yield any territory to Hungary and Bulgaria a. tomorrow's conference of Rumanian and German officials at Salzburg, Germany.

Rumania took further control of foreign oil interests within her borders by ordering expulsion of 12 French oil company executives. This action came amid reports that at least 22 oil company executives would be expelled, including additional British.

$15,000,000 Firm Seized.

Earlier this month 30 British oil men and their families were ousted and only yesterday Rumania seized the country's largest oil enterprise, the $15,000,000 Astra Romana company, and took over its vast supplies of British produced oil.

Rumanian sentries guard the formerly foreign-operated oil properties.

The government action followed closely after German statements that allied documents had been found which disclosed a plot to sabotage the Rumanian oil industry rather than permit oil from this source to reach Germany.

Of the French executives named in the latest order, eight are said to have left the country. The others were to follow immediately. The group includes officials of the big Colombia and Concordia corporations which produce 18 per cent of Rumania's total oil output.

British Boats May be Seized.

Reports circulated that the government would requisition 60 British owned or chartered Danube barges to augment the river fleet Rumania is massing to make good promises to deliver 200,000 tons of oil to Germany this month, furthering her bid for friendship with the reich.

Meanwhile, the Iron Guard handed King Carol a memorandum expressing uncompromising opposition against any territorial concessions to Hungary and Bulgaria at the Salzburg conference tomorrow at which Rumanian Premier Ion Gigurtu and his foreign minister, Mihail Manoilescu, will discuss Balkan problems with Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Fear Dictated Changes.

The Iron Guardists said the Rumanian people would fight rather than surrender any part of Transylvania to Hungary or southern Dobruja to Bulgaria. Both countries have been clamoring for return of these war lost territories.

Many Rumanians fear Germany might dictate changes in their border "to stabilize southeastern Europe."

The Iron Guardists, tho supported and harbored by German Nazis during more than a year of blood purge against them by the former Rumanian government, are the most nationalistic group in this newly Nazified country.

Britain Backs Bulgaria.

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—Informed British sources indicated tonight that Britain sympathizes with Bulgaria's claim to part of the southern Rumanian province of Dobruja, formerly Bulgaria's.

This source said the British government "always has been favorably inclined to Bulgaria's claim" but Britain's treaties with Rumania "made any British support awkward."

It was pointed out that if Bulgaria got Dobruja with British support it would bolster Britain's position near the Dardanelles.

Move Would Increase Shore Front.

Return of Dobruja to Bulgaria would increase the Bulgarian shore front on the Black sea, which the heavily fortified Turkish Dardanelles links with the Mediterranean.

Bulgaria, in close accord with Russia, has been supported in her Dobrujan claim by Russia and the British nod of approval to the claim was interpreted in some circles as possibly strengthening Britain's own relations with the soviet.

Could Block Off Rumania.

If Bulgarians had Dobruja, and now that the Russians control the former Rumanian province of Bessarabia, Bulgaria and Russia would have Rumania completely blocked from the Black sea and would jointly control the mouth of the important Danube route thru which supplies can pass to Germany.

Earlier in the day Rumania recalled her pro-British minister to London, Viorel Virgil Tilea. The British noted the action officially "with regret."

Russia Supports Bulgaria.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 25 (AP).—Russia and Britain displayed a friendly interest tonight in the Bulgarian government's delegation which will fly to Salzburg tomorrow to lay Bulgaria's claims for Southern Dobruja from Rumania before the German foreign minister.

Soviet and British ministers were said to have visited the delegates and offered their "good wishes" for success of the Bulgarian claim. Bulgaria lost Southern Dobruja in 1913.

Refused a Home

MRS. DOLORES LAU.

Mrs. Dolores A. Lau, 21 years old, of 4048 North Keeler avenue, told Judge Oscar F. Nelson in the Superior court yesterday that she wanted a home, while her husband, Warren A. Lau, 23, an official of the Dy-Dee Wash, Inc., a diaper service, insisted on living with his parents. His failure to supply a home was ruled to be constructive desertion by Judge Nelson, who granted Mrs. Lau a divorce. She and her husband separated July 23, 1939, four months and four days after their marriage. Her lawyer, Norman Becker, said she had accepted a $500 settlement.

ONLY 13 ON STATE WPA IGNORE NAZI BUND AFFIDAVITS

Only 13 persons of the 108,200 employed by the Works Projects administration in Illinois refused to sign affidavits that they were not communists, Nazi bund members, or aliens, Charles E. Miner, state administrator, said yesterday. Nine of those who refused to sign were in Cook county where 46,600 are on the rolls. Their names were not disclosed. Signing of the affidavits was required in the new relief bill which became law a month ago. Those who refused to sign were discharged. A penalty of $1,000 fine and one year's imprisonment is provided for false statement.

ROOSEVELT PUTS OIL, SCRAP IRON ON LICENSE LIST

Extends Control of Exports to Foreign Vessels.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Oil and scrap metal were placed under the export licensing system today by President Roosevelt. He acted virtually to embargo petroleum, scrap iron and other scrap metal exports under the law which gives him authority to control exports of munitions, materials and machinery essential to the national defense.

The White House gave no explanation for the action. A statement merely announced the addition of the new items to the licensing system under the law which set up such machinery in the interests of neutrality and national defense.

Stephen Early, the President's secretary, announced late this afternoon, however, that tomorrow the President probably would issue a new proclamation or an amendment to the regulations announced today so as to clarify the categories of scrap iron and oils. "It seems the classifications will have to be more clearly defined," Early said. In the case of oil, a distinction may be made between crude and refined oil.

The extension of the licensing system followed the administration's action in stopping oil shipments in American tankers outside the western hemisphere. This had cut off shipments to Spain and the far east except in foreign vessels.

Halts Export in Any Vessel.

The shipment of oil to Spain even in foreign vessels was halted as a result of British blockade of petroleum products. The blockade was established because it was feared that oil transported to Spain would reach Germany and Italy.

The maritime commission had stepped into line with the policy of confining American tankers to the western hemisphere by refusing to charter American vessels to carry oil to Japan.

Under the new order, export of oil and scrap metal in any vessels whatsoever is subject to license control as drastic as that which now applies to airplanes, weapons, ammunition and other implements of war. Licenses will have to be secured for export of oil to nations in the western hemisphere as well as any other nation in the world.

White House Issues Statement.

The formal White House announcement of the President's action read as follows:

"The President has signed an order amending the proclamation he issued on July 2 and also an order amending the regulations he issued on July 2 when he signed H. R. 9850.

"That bill provided legal authority for control of exports of munitions, materials and machinery essential to national defense. On July 2 the President by order also designated Lieut. Col. Maxwell as administrator of export control.

"By his order today in section 3 following subsection G, he adds petroleum and petroleum products to the commodities listed as basic materials under the subdivision of chemicals.

"Under subsection 4 in which aircraft parts, armor plate, glass, optical articles, etc., are listed, he added a subsection F which lists scrap iron and other scrap metal."

Japan a Chief Buyer.

Commerce department figures disclosed that exports of scrap iron and steel during the first five months of 1940 amounted to 1,152,341 tons valued at $19,319,481. More than $5,000,000 of this was in May. Japan has been one of the chief buyers of the scrap metal.

Exports of petroleum and petroleum products in the first five months were valued at $146,815,477.

PLACING OF OIL, SCRAP IRON ON U. S. LICENSE LIST STIRS JAPANESE

TOKIO, July 26, Friday (AP).—Japanese reaction to any United States embargo on scrap iron and oil shipments to Japan "will be very great," Yakichiro Suma, spokesman for the Japanese foreign office, said today.

Suma said there was no confirmation as yet of reports that the United States was embargoing such shipments. "Our reaction will be very great if it is true," he added.

[In Washington President Roosevelt signed an order requiring licenses hereafter for export of oil and scrap metals, Japan being the largest foreign buyer of the latter. The order does not shut off such purchases.]

Informed Japanese quarters expect Japan to attempt to increase purchases of oil in the Netherlands East Indies if an American embargo is put into effect. Negotiations are continuing with the East Indies government on a wide economic program.

CAA MAPS PLANS TO MAKE FLYERS OF 17,000 NOVICES

Private Clubs Will Be Basis of Program.

Plans for air courses which will qualify persons who now have only a limited amount of flying experience to become full fledged pilots are being worked out by the Civil Aeronautics authority at Washington, D. C., it was announced yesterday by Charles Cox, senior private flying specialist for the CAA in the Chicago area.

Under tentative plans, Cox said, these "refresher" courses are to be extended to 17,000 individuals thruout the country. They will bring under the CAA the members of 3,000 to 4,000 private flying clubs in the United States. Each of these clubs is made up of from 5 to 20 flying enthusiasts who pool their funds, buy a plane, and hire an instructor.

All Potential War Flyers.

As all private flyers are potential war pilots, Cox said, the government hopes to add these 17,000 pilots to the 15,000 passing thru the regular CAA primary courses each four months.

Meanwhile Robert Howat, executive secretary of the Junior Association of Commerce, said he and Frank Collins, chairman of the association's aviation committee, which is operating two ground school classes for men without college training, are seeking funds to establish eight or nine more classes.

Fifty Students in Each Class.

The two classes now under way are open to men between the ages of 18 and 26, and are being held two nights a week in the La Salle hotel. They are limited to 50 students each. At the end of the course 30 students will be chosen by competitive examination for flying instruction. Two thousand applications were received for the two classes. This number would furnish students enough for 70 ground school classes, Howat observed.

Cox said that if the funds are raised the CAA would coöperate in the extra instruction.

URGES U. S. SHIPS' USE TO EVACUATE BRITISH CHILDREN

Marshall Field III. Pleads at House Hearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Speedy action on a proposed amendment to the neutrality act designed to permit American ships to enter the European war zone for the sole purpose of evacuating refugee British children was urged today by Marshall Field III. of New York, chairman of the committee for the care of European children in this country, testifying before the house foreign affairs committee.

Field insisted he could not speak on the matter of national policy involved in the transportation of the children to these shores in United States ships, leaving that question up to the congressmen.

He asserted, however, that there is no question that Americans are ready and willing to care for a great many refugee children and that there is a great need to take them out of their present danger as soon as possible.

Kennedy Opposition Denied.

The committee hearing was on a bill introduced earlier this week by Representative Thomas C. Hennings [D., Mo.] who explained that the neutrality act as it now stands, permitting American ships to venture into combat zones with Red Cross workers, does not include necessary authority to go in quest of the refugee children.

Reports that Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to Great Britain, is opposed to the scheme set forth in the proposed amendment were branded as false at today's hearing. Field said Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles has told him there was not "a shred of truth" to the reports.

Committee Chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.] and Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the committee, recalled that there also have been reports that Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain frowns upon the evacuation plan.

Plans to See Lord Lothian.

After some discussion, Barry Bingham, Louisville, Ky., publisher and chairman of the Louisville branch of the committee for the care of European children, agreed to confer tomorrow with Lord Lothian, British ambassador here, in an effort to get some direct word from Churchill.

Several congressmen asserted that in transporting the children across the Atlantic the United States would be assuming too grave a responsibility. Field's reply was that the responsibility rests "entirely" with the British government and the English mothers and fathers who agree to take the chance of sending their children to this country for safekeeping.

FULL AID OF U. S. PLEDGED BRITISH ON PLANE ORDERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—The administration has pledged it will supply the British with "every possible facility" in their goal, announced last night in London by Lord Beaverbrook, of buying 3,000 military airplanes a month from the United States, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. said today.

Private aviation circles, however, did not share the enthusiasm expressed by government officials over the idea of supplying the British 3,000 planes a month in addition to America's own goal which, according to President Roosevelt's defense message on May 16, is a total of 50,000 military planes, compared with fewer than 5,000 for the armed forces now.

Plan Called Fantastic.

Some described the plan broadcast by Beaverbrook, a noted publisher and now British minister of aircraft production, as fantastic. They asserted present plane production in this country runs between 500 and 600 a month. It was estimated that American airplane factories could not build 3,000 planes a month until the spring of 1944.

Morgenthau said that the British proposed immediate action so that they could get 72,000 planes a year in 1941 and 1942. They have promised to pay for the erection of new factories and to buy the factories' output, Morgenthau said, adding that the sums to be spent would be colossal and that they "seem to have plenty of money."

The treasury secretary said the new plants to be provided under the program would give the United States an annual plane production capacity far in excess of 50,000 planes and that from the standpoint of national defense the British offer is "the best thing that has happened this year."

Planes Already Released.

It was understood also that the British government recently tried to obtain an option on 1,200 more military planes, but that the offer was rejected pending a study of American defense needs. The army and navy already have released planes to the British on the ground that they were "surplus" equipment and out of date for this nation's purposes.

Morgenthau, who is the "front" for the administration in contacting the British on military orders, asserted the war and navy departments are in agreement on the promise of aiding the British in filling their purchasing schedule on planes. William S. Knudsen, member of President Roosevelt's national defense advisory commission in charge of production, has agreed to work out the details, Morgenthau said.

Tax Grant Announced.

In line with the British agreement, the general counsel of the treasury, Edward H. Foley Jr., today announced a new treasury regulation permitting the amortization of new national defense plants constructed on leased property during the period of the lease. The regulation applies even tho the lease contains a renewal clause, Foley said. This permits the manufacturer to write off the cost of expansion in filing tax returns.

WAR DEPARTMENT RECREATES GHQ OF OLD WAR DAYS

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP).—For the first time since 1920 the war department today recreated the nucleus of a general headquarters, such as that which directed world war field operations, but announced that it would be concerned only with training.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, said the GHQ initially would handle the training of all units of the coast artillery and mobile forces, including the general headquarters air force and new armored divisions, but excluding overseas forces.

Distinguishing between the training of units and individual soldiers, he said the new GHQ would handle the training of the first conscripts, as they would be absorbed first within units of the regular army and National Guard. He announced the appointment of Brig. Gen. Leslie J. McNair as chief of staff of the general headquarters, which will be located in the Army War college. McNair will be promoted to major general Dec. 1.

DICKINSON NAMES BOYLES TO STATE SUPREME COURT

Lansing, Mich., July 25 [Special].—Gov. Luren D. Dickinson today appointed Emerson R. Boyles, his legal adviser and life-long friend, to the state Supreme court. Boyles, former probate judge and prosecutor of Eaton county, will fill the vacancy created by the death Sunday night of Justice William W. Potter. The appointment was made effective Aug. 15, because the court, which has eight members, is not now in session.

Political observers immediately began to speculate on the governor's choice of Boyle's successor in the executive office, in view of the influence conceded to have been wielded by Boyles as the governor's confidential adviser.

Gov. Dickinson, who is 81 years old, has admitted that he has allowed Boyles to exercise many routine administrative functions at the office, but has denied that he was a "power behind the throne."

ANTI-WAR GROUP IN SENATE GIRDS TO FIGHT DRAFT

Bipartisan Revolt Is Under Way.

ported legislation conferring hitherto undreamed of powers upon the President, but today he came out against peacetime conscription, and the Lee bill was too much for him.

"The bill carries out no detail whatever," Norris told Lee. "It does not even suggest a plan. It is a bare attempt, whether right or wrong, for congress to jump out from under the responsibility and put it all over to the President and say, 'here, you pass this law.'"

Senator Wheeler suggested to Lee that the President would have no objection if such powers were granted to him. Lee said he had not discussed it with the President, and Norris said he could not believe that Mr. Roosevelt would want such responsibility.

"The cry against the President has been made for the last two years that he wants to be a dictator," Norris said. "It seems to me this bill comes pretty near to making him a dictator."

Senate Action Near.

As the house military affairs committee continued hearings on the conscription bill, the corresponding senate committee approved all but the last few pages. Chairman Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.] said the bill would be reported in time for senate consideration on Monday.

An important provision agreed upon today is intended to force employers to rehire conscripts upon completion of their one-year training and service period. An amendment adopted by the committee provides that employers engaged in interstate commerce who fail to rehire men drafted from their jobs shall be deemed to have committed an unfair labor practice under the National Labor Relations act. The courts thereupon would have authority to order reinstatement of the men.

Another provision adopted today broadens the exemption from military service of conscientious objectors, provided they can prove good faith.

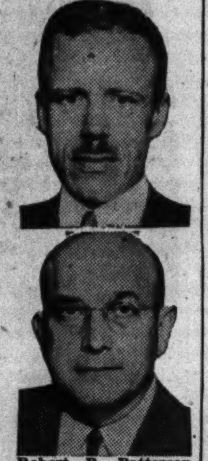
FEDERAL JUDGE TO BE ASSISTANT WAR SECRETARY

R. P. Patterson Will Take Johnson's Post.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Federal Judge Robert Porter Patterson of New York today was nominated by President Roosevelt to succeed Louis Johnson as assistant secretary of war.



Robert P. Patterson [top] and Louis Johnson.

Johnson submitted his resignation yesterday in conformance with the tradition that a cabinet member be permitted to pick his own assistant secretaries.

"Progress Reporter."

The White House indicated Johnson will be offered a post as administrative assistant to the President. He would be designated "progress reporter" on the entire national defense program and receive $10,000 a year, the same pay received by the assistant secretary of war.

"If Johnson accepts, and we hope he will," said Stephen T. Early, White House press secretary, "it is the President's intention to have him as an official member of the White House family to become his eyes and ears—his progress reporter on the entire question of national defense, with which Johnson is extremely familiar."

Letter Made Public.

Later a letter from Johnson to Mr. Roosevelt was made public. Friends of Johnson said the letter indicated that he probably would not accept the post of administrative assistant.

In his letter, Johnson recalled that he had offered to resign upon learning that Mr. Roosevelt planned to appoint Stimson as secretary of war. However, he said, he had been prevailed upon to remain.

"I have therefore so continued," he wrote. "I am now informed that Mr. Stimson had already made different plans. It is with keen regret, therefore, that I tender my resignation again. I have no alternative."

HERE'S A STORY OF A MIRACLE IN A BOOKIE SHOP

James Boyd Miracle, 24 years old, who skipped bond of $5,000 on a charge of embezzlement last Dec. 1, was captured yesterday in a handbook at Argyle avenue and Sheridan road by policemen from Summerdale station accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Sockel. Her husband, Ben Sockel, who has been a professional bondsman across the street from Maxwell street station for 22 years, had posted the bond forfeited when Miracle disappeared.

Miracle was employed last summer by Postal Telegraph company to pay off bets wired into Washington Park race track. He was accused of embezzling $3,600 thru overdrafts.

Miracle had just placed $2 to win and $2 to place on Anopheles in the fifth race at Arlington park when he was arrested. When he was lodged in his cell he called for a newspaper and learned that he had won.

"My husband gets them out and I put them back in," commented Mrs. Sockel, who said she had received a tip about Miracle's whereabouts. He gave the address of 7010 North Ashland avenue.

SWEET MUSIC FILLS AIR AS PRIMARY DAY DRAWS NEAR IN TEXAS

Dallas, Tex., July 25 (AP).—Texas is choosing a governor, tra-la.

W. Lee O'Daniel.

Saturday is election day. The Democrats nominate a governor, and five men and a woman have spoken for the job. Texas also nominates in its Democratic primary one United States senator and 21 representatives. In this state the Democratic nomination usually means election.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, the biscuit man of two years ago, is up to his ears in the race. He is trying for a second term. His five opponents, Jerry Sadler, Col. E. O. Thompson, Harry Hines, Arlon B. [Cyclone] Davis, and Mrs. Miriam A. [Ma] Ferguson, are determined he will not win the race in the first Democratic primary.

But the ex-radio bard is so sure he will not have to face anybody in the run-off primary next month that he wrote a song about it. It is a lilting thing called "There Ain't Goin' to Be No Run-off."

Senator Tom Connally has two opponents, but he has stuck to business in Washington, D. C., and let his friends campaign for him.

Representative Martin Dies of Orange has two opponents. His committee investigating un-American activities has been busy in Texas.

PRESIDENT TALKS WITH WALLACE ON CAMPAIGN PLANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Franklin Delano Roosevelt of New York and Henry Agard Wallace of Iowa conferred today for the first time since they were nominated for the Presidency and Vice Presidency respectively by the Democratic convention at Chicago last week.

The two were closeted in the spacious oval Presidential office in the executive offices building. It was assumed they met to plan campaign strategy and to shake the label of the Kelly-Hague-Guffey-Flynn ticket from the Democratic party.

As he left his chief, Wallace said he will do no political campaigning until after he is officially notified of his selection as Mr. Roosevelt's third term running mate. He said the notification ceremony will take place "somewhere in Iowa" not before Aug. 20.

Wallace did not commit himself on the question as to whether he will campaign as a member of the cabinet.

DOUGLAS PLANS WILLKIE RALLY OF DEMOCRATS

Sun Valley, Idaho, July 25 (AP).—Lewis W. Douglas, former budget director in the Roosevelt administration, said today he would meet with other antithird term Democrats about Aug. 7 to discuss formation of a national committee of party members to support Wendell L. Willkie.

The conference, he said, would be held either in New York or Washington, and would be attended by John W. Hanes, former undersecretary of treasury; Mrs. Robert C. Lawson, Tulsa clubwoman, and Dr. Alan Valentine, president of the University of Rochester. The four already have announced their support of Willkie.

Douglas left today for the Pacific northwest but plans to fly to New York with his two sons Aug. 7.

STATE RAIDERS SEIZE ELECTRIC SLOT MACHINES

Act in Southern Suburbs on Cassidy's Order.

Four slot machines of a new type, electrically operated and designed to accommodate four persons, or suckers as they are known to the trade, at one time, were seized by state police last night in raids on taverns and cafés in southern Cook county.

The raids were ordered by Attorney John E. Cassidy after newspaper reports that a mysterious voice had given the "go ahead" signal on slot machines in the county.

"There is a standing order against the machines," said Cassidy in Springfield. "Recently we heard they were operating again. I talked with T. P. Sullivan, chief of the bureau of criminal investigation, and asked him to take appropriate action." Orders were sent from Springfield to the Blue Island station of the state police.

All Work Taken from Losing.

The machines were picked up by squads led by Capt. Phil Renkosiak and Lieut. Morris Schwartz. The new devices take all the work out of losing money. There are no handles to pull. Drop a coin in any one of the four slots and electricity does the rest.

The machines are about the size of a kitchen table, with the pay-off dials under the flat glass surface of the table top. They weigh 300 pounds and cost about $1 a pound.

Gone with the operating levers of the old standup machines are the lemons, cherries, plums, oranges that used to spin around and, infrequently, wind up in combinations of fruit that paid dividends to the player. The new machines are done in the zoo motif. Replacing the fruit are figures of lions, tigers, monkeys, bears, camels, and zebras.

Raiders Visit 30 Places.

The police visited 30 places. They found machines at the Wolf café, operated by William J. and A. Wolf, at 2501 West 95th street, Evergreen Park; Christ Bantsalos' place at 3960 West 95th street in the same suburb; Peter Novak's Rosewood Inn, 127th street and Kedzie avenue, Blue Island, and at Smitty's Barbecue, run by Fred Schmidtke at 123d street and Archer avenue, Lemont township.

No arrests were made. The machines were taken to the station, where they will be broken up. More raids were promised for tonight.

Wife of Rogge Arrives in Reno to Seek Divorce

Reno, Nev., July 25 (AP).—Mrs. Oetje J. Rogge, wife of the assistant United States attorney general, has arrived to establish legal residence prior to seeking a divorce, it was disclosed tonight. Rogge recently headed the justice department's gambling graft inquiry in Detroit and investigated political corruption in Louisiana.

WILLKIE WINDS UP 1,400 MILE SWING IN WESTERN AREA

Back in Colorado to Toil on Acceptance Speech.

Alabamans for Willkie

Jasper, Ala., July 25 [Special].—Here in the home town of Alabama's Bankheads — Speaker William and Senator John—the state's first Democratic Willkie for President club was organized today. A telegram was sent to Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee, informing him of the action.

Approximately 25 persons attended the organization meeting and selected R. H. Carr, lumber man, as the club's president. At the same time Republicans at Jasper announced they would meet Saturday to plan their Willkie campaign.

Plans also are under way, it was disclosed, for organizing a Democratic Willkie club at Huntsville, a Democratic stronghod in northern Alabama.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 25.—Wendell L. Willkie returned here today after a 1,400 mile trip, mostly by air, through the Rocky Mountain states. His present plans are to remain here until he has drafted his speech accepting the Republican nomination for President, which will be given in Elwood, Ind., on Aug. 17.

Encouraged by his precampaign foray into these western states, Willkie may fly further afield in the west before he journeys eastward to Elwood and the formal opening of the campaign.

He might even venture down into Texas, where antithird term and anti-New Deal sentiment is said to be gathering such momentum that the Democrats admit they will have to put on a real campaign to carry the state. Hundreds of telegrams and letters have been received by Willkie from Texas, urging him to go there. They encourage him to think that he might carry the Lone Star state as Herbert Hoover did in 1928.

Outlook Is Hopeful.

Altho Utah was two to one Democratic in the last election, the Willkie reception there during the last two days had led his state managers to give strong hope that he also might carry that state. Colorado, under the leadership of Gov. Ralph L. Carr, is believed to be strongly in the Willkie fold. Wyoming, where he was given a great reception, also is regarded as a probable Willkie state.

Congressman Henry C. Dworshak of Idaho called on Willkie in Salt Lake City and predicted he would carry Idaho in November. Ralph H. Cake of Portland, Ore., national committeeman from Oregon, called on the nominee and said that state was safely Republican. Howard M. Wall, who organized the independents in Oregon for Willkie, also predicted his state was safe for the Republicans this year. Washington state also is regarded debatable territory due to the disaffection of farmers there with the New Deal.

Trade Treaties Big Issue.

Willkie has found that the reciprocal trade treaties are a big issue in this region and that the foreign policy issue is not discussed much. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, New Deal nominee for Vice President, has won the antagonism of the sugar men because of a remark attributed to him that the beet sugar industry could not stand on its feet in a real competitive world.

The cattle men are definitely against the foreign trade policies of Secretary of State Cordell Hull. So Willkie, who regards the secretary of state highly, is faced with the task of formulating a reciprocal trade policy which meets this issue in a specific sense and at the same time satisfies his own sense of what is basically right for the whole country.

Farm Parley Scheduled.

This is one of the problems the Republican nominee faces as he prepares to work out an agricultural policy. His next definite step in this direction will be to attend a conference in Des Moines on Aug. 5.

On his return nere Willkie conferred with Homer Capehart of Washington, Ind., and Arch Bobbitt, Republican state chairman of Indiana, on notification day and other campaign problems of that section.

Before leaving Salt Lake City this morning Willkie had a talk with J. Reuben Clark, former ambassador to Mexico and one of th high officials of the Mormon church. President Heber Grant of the church and Reed Smoot, former United States senator and a church official, came to bid him good-by.

Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for United States senate in Illinois, who accompanied the Willkie party to Cheyenne and Salt Lake City, left today for a short trip to Yellowstone park and then will return to Illinois.

Land Bought for Subway Route

$1,165,000 PAID BY CITY FOR LAND TO BUILD SUBWAY

99 Parcels Acquired to Complete Bore.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

The city's cost of acquiring rights of way from owners of private property in the path of the eight mile subway route totals $1,165,000, Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, announced yesterday. Harrington said the acquistions, which are included in the 46 million dollar estimated subway cost, have now been completed.

An agreement negotiated by city attorneys for acquiring the last of 99 parcels involved was approved by the city council finance committee Tuesday, with the recommendation that it be passed by the council.

Large Single Transfer.

This final acquistion is one of the largest single transactions for right of way on the entire subway route. It calls for the payment of $155,000 to the Arthur Dixon Transfer company, 1317-45 South State street. The subway tunnel comes up to the street level from 40 feet underground at the rear of the Dixon building. This necessitates cutting off about 20 per cent of the building, including its elevators and heating plants, and will reduce the adjoining alley from 45 to 15 feet in width.

The rights of way, or easements, have been purchased at eight different locations on the subway route. These points are located where the tunnel will come to the street level to join the "L" structure, as in the case of the Dixon property; where it turns an underground corner under private property; or where the tunnel must swing under private ground because of construction problems. Rights of way for the actual connections with the "L" structure have not been acquired and are not included in the subway project.

Total cost being paid to the owners for rights of way themselves is $1,058,893, to which is added about $106,000 for services of lawyers, appraisers and building experts hired to make appraisals and negotiate with the various owners.

Fees Take 10 Per Cent.

"The sum of $106,000 taken by itself might seem large for legal and appraising costs, but actually it is very reasonable," Harrington said. "It amounts to 10 per cent of the payments to owners. Moreover, the careful work and patient negotiating carried out by appraisers and lawyers have saved hundreds of thousands of dollars. "Our original prediction for the total cost of rights of way, set up in estimates, was $1,676,000. The saving over this estimate is about $500,000. As an example, the Dixon company wanted $316,000 for its property right, but by negotiating we acquired it for $155,000."

Harrington said that in only a few cases were condemnation proceedings instituted and brought to a jury trial in the courts. The city was able to settle about 90 per cent of the cases by negotiating an out of court agreement and then obtaining court approval of the agreed condemnation price, he said.

Frank S. Righeimer, attorney, was in charge of the city's acquisitions and was aided at various times by about 10 appraisers and building experts. All of these, including Righeimer, were paid on a daily fee basis.

Most Expensive Parcel.

The most expensive of the eight locations acquired was in the vicinity Milwaukee and Ashland avenues where the tunnel comes to the street level, preparatory to making a connection with the "L." The cost of buying rights to all or parts of 19 parcels was $323,136.

More expensive than this in proportion to the amount of land purchased, however, was an easement to turn an underground corner under the Selwyn and Harris theaters and three other parcels at the southwest corner of Lake and Dearborn streets. The high value of loop properties boosted the cost per square foot to $19.14, compared with $9.09 a foot at 13th and State streets and $6.08 at Milwaukee and Ashland.

CITY OFFICIALS DENY BLAME IN TRANSIT DELAY

Members of the city council transportation committee denied yesterday that city officials are hamstringing completion of the unified traction ordinance. Charges were made Wednesday in the Federal District court of Judge Michael L. Igoe by William J. Froelich, that city officials are delaying negotiations. Froelich is attorney for Walter A. Shaw, chairman of the lines' negotiators.

The council committee voted to call in transit representatives Tuesday to determine who is causing the delay.

The committee also voted to have the lines submit at that meeting a proposed pension plan for employés of the unified company to be set up under the franchise; and to give their views on a fair price to be paid for the Chicago Motor Coach company.

MR. HULL AT HAVANA.

Mr. Hull was in a tough spot at Lima when he endeavored to get a declaration of solidarity, and he is in a tougher spot in Havana now when the effort is to make the declaration of Lima work out. The Lima conference acknowledged the many common interests of the American nations and affirmed the intentions of the governments to consult with one another when their common welfare required it. The Havana conference takes note of the world situation. The problems which the Lima conference could see gathering on the horizon have taken shape. Territories in the Americas are now involved in the war and some of them are actually prizes which have been won by Germany.

Mr. Hull in his speech to the conference indulged in the usual American governmental attack upon the forces of aggression, but was at a loss to suggest a reliable defense. When representatives of American nations get together they know they are dealing with realities which they do not like to mention and with illusions which they cannot trust, but must approve.

The idea that these are all nations on an equal footing must be preserved, and yet every one knows that for defense against attack from overseas there is only one thing available and that is the power of the United States, which has the only navy and the only air force. It is the only nation which can hope to increase its military strength to meet emergencies, and yet the theory must be one of common defense.

If national defense draws the other American nations closer to the United States, national economy pulls many of them away. A pooling of economic interests is far more difficult than a pooling of defenses. The defense needs can be fitted to one another and the economic requirements cannot.

Exchange of goods between Europe and South America is complementary, whereas North American and South American production is in part competitive. We can produce what they want, but with well known exceptions cannot take what they produce. European commercial influences flow in natural channels to South America, whereas the United States finds serious, if not insurmountable, obstacles. In a vital respect, the alliance of North and South America is an unnatural one and the advantage lies with the very powers against which defenses are to be set up.

It is useless, also, to pretend that there are cultural sympathies binding the powerful nation of the north and the nations of the south together. The people of the United States and the peoples of the other countries are more likely to misunderstand than to understand each other. They are more likely to give offense than to win friendship. There are more disintegrating than centralizing influences.

Mr. Hull endeavors to combine firmness, and tact, and reasonableness with discriminating courtesies. The agile minds which he endeavors to bring into harmony with his own do not lose sight of the fact that, in the relations of their countries with the United States they take the position of wards and the United States the position of trusteeship. Courtesies cannot conceal that reality and yet it is not conceded.

The foreign possessions of the nations which went to war against Germany or were drawn into it are at present trouble spots. If some disposition is not made of them in accord with the Monroe Doctrine, the title to them may pass to Germany in the peace treaty. The French, Danish, and Dutch possessions represent ownership now held temporarily by defeated nations under German control. The victor hasn't mentioned them as yet. He still has to find out whether he can add the British possessions to his present accumulation of spoils. Then he would be ready to dictate his peace terms and we don't know what he'd leave the nations he conquered.

Only the United States can prevent the transfer of the islands and continental holdings now in jeopardy. The proposal that there be a hemispheral alliance to hold them in joint control would only breed confusion and feebleness if it were adopted. In any fair dealing the United States can assert that it has already paid for most of them. France and Great Britain are the largest holders and France and Great Britain owe this country money they can never pay.

The transfer of the territories to the United States would be a trade in which the European ownership would be extinguished by purchase. The purchase price would be either a generous offset on uncollectible debts or the extinguishment of them. It is not certain that the United States would want jurisdiction over all of them; for instance, Jamaica might well be attached to Cuba. The United States has to defend Cuba and it might as well include Jamaica in Cuban territory. A good policy would be inclined to give the Falklands to Argentina because if Argentina could not defend the islands it couldn't defend its own territory.

Most of these territories, the destiny of which is now in doubt, are useful only as bases to a foreign power for attack upon the North American mainland. We don't know now how far the Monroe Doctrine can be made to extend with the present or potential military power of the United States. We know that it would include the entire hemisphere if it is possible. We do know that if we obtain all the bases near our shores and near the canal, a large protective zone can be assured. It can be assured with the bases in possession of the American military forces, and that disposition cannot be made too quickly. France may already have lost the right to negotiate for transfer, but the United States cannot afford to be influenced by that consideration.

A writing off of the French debt can be assumed to be a settlement of the French claims. Great Britain has never taken well to the idea that its American possessions should be so disposed of that the United States can keep them from being used for hostile purposes. Possibly a different view prevails now or will soon. The justice of the American claim was never stronger and it is one which must be pressed if all the American preparedness schemes are not to be regarded as unreasonable and undecisive.

DRAFT ROOSEVELT AND HE WILL DRAFT YOU.

The administration's bill to register for military conscription all male Americans between the ages of 18 and 64 provides another evidence that Mr. Roosevelt intends to get this country into the war as quickly as possible.

Tho the bill is still in committee, the war department has already completed its preparations for the draft. The blanks have already been prepared and skeleton organizations to direct the registration are ready in each state.

If Mr. Roosevelt knows, or has any reason to believe, that an attack upon America is imminent he ought not to keep the facts upon which his judgment is based a secret. If there were substantial reason to believe that within a few weeks or months a German force would be on its way across the Atlantic, there might be some excuse for drafting an army this summer, even tho no arms were available for the conscripts to use.

But no such evidence of imminent danger has been provided and common sense suggests that an invasion, however likely it may become in the indefinite future, is not now imminent. Herr Hitler seems to have the habit of calling his shots and at the moment he is talking about London and nothing else. It took him five years to prepare for his present wars. Not one of his airplanes would prove of value in a trans-Atlantic campaign because none of them can fly the ocean with a load of bombs. He has not yet captured the British navy and at the moment is trying to sink it rather than seize it. If he gets it, many months and probably several years would be required in which to organize an expedition which would have any hope of a successful landing on our shores even in our present state of unpreparedness.

As the new arms and an understanding of their use become available to the army, and that means a year from now at the earliest, conscription of the young men of the country may be required. There is surely much to be said for it in principle; but the draft at this time can only interfere with the nation's preparation for defense. It will divert the attention of the army from the more pressing business of obtaining armaments, and at the same time disorganize the productive capacity of the country.

Immediate conscription makes sense only if it is assumed that Mr. Roosevelt means to organize an expeditionary force within the next few months. Mr. Roosevelt's conscripts would not be ready for war against a first-class enemy, but they could take their place in the line in an emergency and, perhaps, before they were all killed off they could be replaced with men better armed and better trained.

Meanwhile conscription can serve Mr. Roosevelt in other ways. The departure of National Guardsmen as well as the draftees for camp will whip up the war hysteria upon which he is counting to win him his third term. The mounting excitement will make it easier to bring the country into war and the knowledge that a million men are in training will give many people a wholly false sense of the nation's military strength, encouraging them to undertake adventures for which we shall be insufficiently prepared.

At the same time Mr. Roosevelt will have been given a powerful engine with which to quiet opposition. Every man in the United States, between the ages of 18 and 64, will find himself subject to orders from the White House. Citizens who may wish to argue that there is no occasion for war and less for the third term may find it expedient to keep their thoughts to themselves. The penalty might be an assignment to work in a factory half way across the country.

It is difficult to believe that the President's conscription bill is going to meet with popular favor. It is difficult to believe that the people of the United States are not suspicious of the motives behind the scheme, and especially so in the absence of any clear showing of a need for the measure at this time.

THE HOPKINS TESTS OF CHILDREN'S HEARING.

[Baltimore Sun.]

The otological laboratory of the Johns Hopkins medical school has been examining children of the public and parochial schools and now it has reported that about two-fifths of them have been found to suffer from an impairment of hearing which, if uncorrected, may lead to deafness in later life. In the case of about 15 per cent the abnormality is sufficiently serious to require immediate treatment. The condition that is thus revealed as being so prevalent seems to be one which prevents the hearing of higher tones, and is due to the growth of tissue around the Eustachian tubes.

Thanks to a form of radium treatment that the Hopkins laboratory has developed, this tissue can be effectively reduced provided the deficiency in hearing is discovered and treated before the child reaches the age of 15. Hopkins doctors are said to believe that if tests and treatment could be widely applied 50 per cent of adult deafness could be prevented.

The beginning made in the instance of some 1,300 school children is small and yet definitely promising. It is, moreover, a matter in which parents—whose consent for examination must be obtained—should be glad to coöperate. For deafness, which usually first shows itself in such ways as to constitute hardly more than a slight inconvenience, can be, in its later stages, a very cruel affliction.

To be sure, there are now numerous and excellent mechanical aids that mitigate some forms of deafness. But, as in instances of other physical ailments, prevention and early cure are distinctly preferable to mere alleviation, with its attendant uncertainties and burdens. And since the Hopkins examinations indicate an unusually widespread extent of deafness, or at least the prospect of deafness, it seems to follow that parents and children alike should welcome the increasing opportunity that medical science provides to discover the threat to hearing and treat it while there is still time.

Little by little, the story of Carol of Rumania loses its old, lighter side. The situation seems to have gone heavy, along with Magda.—The Constitution, Atlanta.

LET'S TALK OF WILD FLOWERS.

"I never saw anything like it before around Chicago," said Bob Becker, the Tribune's woodsy boy, as he looked out of a train window over the prairies of south Evanston and found them carpeted with acres of pinkish-white flowers. He interested us, for we happen to dwell among these fields of asphodel and have also marveled at them. The floral display is Californian this summer. It will continue until September.

The plant in question bears the slightly ridiculous name of bouncing Bet, and belongs to the family of pinks. It is as hardy and spreading as a weed, but it had honorable status as a garden flower in Europe until it was imported by the colonists and began to run wild along the roadsides of the land. Pioneer women discovered that its leaves had soap making value and used them on washdays.

Bouncing Bet, which may also be called hedge pink and old maid's pink, is fragrant as well as colorful, and its abundant growth this summer sweetens the suburban air. The dumb cluckery of antiweed fanaticism is mowing the plants, often three feet tall, off the Evanston parkways, but bouncing Bet keeps right on spreading over the vacant lots to prove that a thing of beauty is a joy forever.

Another wild flower that is blooming resolutely thru the summer in the waste lands around Chicago is the fleabane, which is kin to the asters and daisies. The blooms are small and daisylike, with many fine white, purple, or pinkish rays around a yellow disk. They may be observed from May until late in the fall.

The fleabane gets its name because our grandparents believed it would keep fleas and other insect pests out of the house. Bob Becker can remember seeing his grandmother hanging festoons of fleabane over doorways and windows. The leaves and blossoms, dried and powdered, were sprinkled in dog kennels. The scientific opinion about this belief is that the "bane" works on the dog rather than the flea, and drives him out of his kennel in disgust.

DON'T FORGET, DARLING.

Put on your rubbers, we'll see the parade,
But don't forget, darling, the First Crusade.

His words were like matches touching dry grass.

For seven short months, or maybe it was nine,
Down thru the French towns and along the Rhine,
Bright against the foliage, came the pilgrim line.

In nine short months, or maybe it was less,
Its bones were white in the wilderness.

Don't forget Nicolas, don't forget Stephen,
Defying the earth in their fight for heaven—

Nicolas and Stephen, the two who led
The Children's Crusade after Peter was dead—

Defying the earth and defying the sea,
(The water went lapping first ankle, then knee,

The water went sucking first ankle, then shin,
As Nicolas and Stephen waded in.)

The blonde and brown heads that followed those two,
The brown and blonde heads, then only a few
Diminishing dots where the water was blue . . .

Don't forget, darling, how often before
The leaders have called it a Holy War.

After the Insomnia Broadcast.

Lass Thurs night, July 18, a guy in Chi by name of Foss lissens to Mr. Big come in thru the raddio on subject, "How I can't sleep nights and it ain't the coffee," and after collapse of Mr. B.'s final sob this Foss yells back at the Great Fight Father and gets out his ax and chops the back porch offa his house and hacks down a largish tree in yard. Nex morning a jedge gets him, is it contemp or just lese majesty, and he sends this here now Foss out for a daily doz from a court joker they call a psychiatrist.

Me, I lissen to same nervous worry from same smooth, pale snarl over my raddio too, and not having an ax, back porch, or tree in yard if I hadda yard, I throw the whole box-a tubes out the winda you must go, and the crash is a happy sound, seemin prophetic of many happy returnsa the day.

Best Story from the Convention.

A southern delegate came up to the bar in the Stevens hotel and asked:

"Have you got any 10 cent whisky?"

The answer, of course, was "No," after which the delegate stalked out in high dudgeon with this Parthian shot:

THINKER OF FRANCE.

[Blaise Pascal, 1623-62.]

The entourage of greatness moves along
Crossing the mountains with imperial tread,
And one by one is silhouetted strong
Against the dusk each celebrated head.
And some tho brief, and seeming far away,
Project their beings luminously near,
Like Norman sunrise in the month of May
Or cloudy skies by April winds blown clear.
Of these is one of intellect so grand,
So nobly ravenous in pursuit of truth,
His phrases rubies, numerous as sand,
To deck the garland of perpetual youth.
He is that Pascal whom the French so love,
And ev'n the immortal gods themselves approve.

To Set Before a King.

The Line o' Type has always been a dainty dish to set before a king—his majesty the mind. Filled with chunks of prose, swimming in a liquid of miscellany, garnished with poetry, flavored with spicy wit and humor, sprinkled with a pinch of anything and everything, and topped with the crusty remarks of the Linemaster, it is something for the mind to relish. I find it has increased my appetite for more information about many things.

Ward Monte.

The proponents of the peacetime draft should turn back a few pages of history and read the prophetic utterance of some German general: "Our troops will cut thru the average conscript armies like a knife thru warm butter."

THE MEANING OF CONVULSIONS.

PROBABLY no household calamity is quite so alarming as a convulsion in a child. It may come so suddenly that it finds the mother unprepared—incapable of thinking of the proper remedy. Of course, it is merely a symptom of some underlying condition. While the family doctor should be called without delay, there are several procedures that may be applied promptly.

Infants particularly are prone to these attacks. Perhaps the passage of the child's head thru the birth canal was greatly prolonged. In consequence, the brain may have been subjected to a substantial amount of pressure. Ordinarily, nature takes care of this matter satisfactorily. But if the newborn babe has difficulty in nursing or exhibits signs of weak breathing, we may be on the alert against a possible paroxysm.

The most common cause, however, is an acute disease with a high fever. Ailments such as measles, scarlet fever, pneumonia, whooping cough, mumps, or any intestinal infection—wherein the temperature shoots upward rapidly—may be ushered in by one of these sieges. While the physician may prescribe suitable drugs, relaxation may be obtained by reducing the fever quickly. One method is to plunge the child into a warm [not hot] bath to which two or three tablespoons of ground mustard have been added. The body may be rubbed gently to reëstablish circulation in the skin and removal from the water is advised only when the natural color begins to return. Subsequent sponging with 25 per cent alcohol will lower still further the internal heat.

With older children we should think of epilepsy—especially if there is a typical history of a seizure occurring now and then. But between the ages of 3 and 10 we can explain most of these incidents on the basis of some malady which leads to a temporary congestion of the brain. If the episodes recur repeatedly and appear without much warning—other than a feeling of fatigue—we may be forced to consider "falling sickness."

When such a diagnosis is made it is necessary to decrease the number of bouts and—in most cases—this may be accomplished thru the employment of a sedative—such as a bromide. Just enough is administered to keep the trigger element—the unknown irritant—below the level at which it will send lightning-like messages to the muscles. In the meantime, strict attention must be given to the diet and here cholesterol plays an important rôle. Contrary to most of our teaching, many of these patients do well under a regimen which contains a generous quantity of egg yolk, cream, etc.—foods that are rich in this substance.

While a brain tumor—as a cause—must not be forgotten, such a situation is rare. But should convulsions develop at about the age of 40, a careful diagnostic study should be made to eliminate this source.

In those who are older, apoplexy occasionally exhibits itself in this manner and the phenomenon is easily understood when we realize that the blood vessels have hardened to such an extent that an actual hemorrhage has taken place and that the pressure on the brain is sufficient to bring on the episode. As a rule, the manifestation is temporary. Treatment consists in relieving the capillaries and the arteries of the incessant "pound" due to increased tension within these tubes. This is why "ye olde tyme" bleeding is still practiced in a few disorders.

FIRST COUSINS.

M. A. J. writes: Is it advisable—from a health point of view—for first cousins to marry?

REPLY.

Not as a rule, even tho both parties are in excellent health. On the other hand, instances are not uncommon. Children of such unions may be physically perfect and of high intelligence. I have known many who fall into this group. Should there be some hereditary family defect not visible on the surface—for example, nearsightedness—the chances are that it may be multiplied in the offspring.

BLACK COW.

D. R. writes: Is it all right to eat ice cream after drinking beer?

REPLY.

Yes—rootbeer.

HEART COUGH.

A. B. writes: What is a heart cough?

REPLY.

One of the early signs that the heart is not quite up to par. Relieving the pumping organ of some of its work or aiding it in other ways may abate the symptom.

BICYCLE RIDING.

Mrs. H. G. writes: Is it harmful for a boy of 17 to ride a bicycle if he has a rupture?

REPLY.

Not much more than walking or running. We should recall, however, that pressure on the abdominal wall may increase the danger. The hazard lies in the fact that a loop of bowel may become constricted. Surgical repair should be undertaken as soon as possible. In the meantime, a well fitting truss should be worn.

MARSE HENRY'S VIEW OF IT.

Signal Mountain, Tenn., July 23.—The memory of Henry Watterson is honored not only in Kentucky but by all who read the Courier-Journal when his brilliant pen wrote the editorials.

It is pertinent to recall how he regarded the third term issue when another Roosevelt—a Roosevelt covered with gory glory of an African lion hunt, not to mention some elbow rubbing with European royalty—appeared on the scene in 1912 as a Presidential candidate for a third term.

Marse Henry believed in the two term limit. He argued, "Lift the time limit and life tenure is the logical consequence. Life tenure means absolutism and arbitrary power. Under the title of President we should have an autocrat—the need of one day becomes the exigency of another day, until self-perpetuation is not only easy but taken for granted by a people accustomed to power."

Twenty-eight years after Teddy made his third term attempt another Roosevelt, minus lions and royalty but plus radio, believes he is the only man who can save our country. Query: Is any country worth saving if only one man can do the job? The Democrats have many able men in their ranks—Hull, Byrd, and a host of others.

One becomes suspicious that the real instigators of this third term business are the New Deal beneficiaries, who realize that the front page, pork barrel, and other emoluments will be denied them unless the magic voice of F. D. R. intervenes over the air waves. They know that Hull and others can save our country, but they feel that no one but F. D. R. can save the election. They are willing to sacrifice their country in order to perpetuate themselves in power.

TRIBUNE RUDE AND YELLOW.

Detroit Lakes, Minn., July 20.—I would be remiss in behalf of myself and others if, before leaving the convention city, I failed to comment upon the rude viciousness of the yellow political sheet which you run under the name of The Chicago Tribune.

If the liberty of free speech is lost by our people, it will doubtless be due in a large part to the license of quasi-public utilities such as yourself. I hope you never again have the pleasure of vilifying visiting delegates of a Democratic national convention.

Robert C. Bell Jr.,
Secretary-Treasurer, 9th District, Democratic Organization of Minnesota.

RED TAPE AT AN ARSENAL.

Moline, Ill., July 23.—I am an experienced machine operator temporarily out of work due to a slackening of production in agricultural implements, principal manufacturing carried on in our community.

The Rock Island arsenal is nearby and as I have had experience on many types of machines I hoped to receive some consideration for a job, due to our expanded national defense plans.

We hear much about shortages of skilled labor but if our civil service agencies ever hope to uncover people to man this arsenal properly they should open their eyes a bit.

You may think you have met up with demented systems of governmental red tape but you haven't seen anything until you meet up with a civil service examination. You must be able to explain every moment of your waking time for years past. There are abracadabras of every description covering your past, present and future. Now, one would be led to believe that such an exhausting examination would lead to the hiring of the most qualified persons. Not at all. I know of one chap hired this way who was to be a general machine operator. His nearest approach to anything mechanical has been the assembling of Venetian blinds. He is today doing a simple job of filing rough castings, which any 10 year old boy could do equally well, at a wage of $7.04 a day.

If we ever hope to get rearmed these jobs will have to be given to private manufacturers as these government agencies will have all the appropriations wasted before anything will ever have been accomplished.

This civil service system seems designed to keep as many non-productive workers snouts embedded in the public trough as possible. Three trained personnel men could handle this hiring more effectively than the two hundred or so now engaged in doing such a bungling job. Here is hoping the American people decide some day to make their own agencies at least as efficient as some of our more backward industrial concerns.

Ben F. Carroll.

ON HITLERIZING OUR YOUTH.

Chicago, July 23.—I am a 100 per cent registered Democrat; voted for Roosevelt in '32 and '36.

The compulsory training bill may change my vote this November. It is nothing more than a plan to Hitlerize American youth into the army and navy. All this talk of an army of 1½ to 2 million men [by conscription] is unnecessary.

Young men and parents of America! Wake up! Write or wire your congressman at once that you are against passage of this unfair law, the compulsory military training bill. Now is the time to act, for all accounts indicate that this bill is going to be "railroaded" thru congress.

Ex-Democrat.

FOR HITLER TO PONDER.

Story City, Ia., July 22.—Hitler talks loudly about what he is about to do to England—and doubtless it is in his heart to do all that his mouth talks of. The thing that must give him pause, however, is the good German blood that will be left to fertilize the fields of the British Isles before he even gets started on his job. When he moves his legions toward England he should tell every mother's son to bid his folks good-by. It is a cinch most of them will never see the fatherland again. And the debacle that is sure to ensue may lose Hitler and the Hitlerites everything they have so far gained.

Lister Farsund.

ANOTHER PERFECT HAND.

Chicago, July 21.—On May 14, in answer to my plea which appeared in this column, your reader, George W. Gronewald, said that in the game of 66 the chance of getting a perfect hand is once in every 33,649 hands. One can imagine my amazement at getting a perfect hand again. It happened this evening and this time in clubs. This is the second time in two and a half months. Since I do not do much playing I had not expected this to happen within my lifetime.

John Valentino.

MAY YET BE SAVED.

Chicago, July 20.—I note that one delegate to the Democratic convention asked a vote of thanks to Chicago in which he saw everything good but The Tribune.

I have been a constant reader of your paper for 50 years and have often differed decidedly with its policies. I now thank God that the delegate and his ilk know we have a Tribune and continue to read it. They may yet be saved for democracy while there is still a chance.

M. N. Zook.

DANGERS IN THE DRAFT.

Miles City, Mont., July 22.—The draft is our latest defense move. There are at least two grave dangers in it that should be studied. First, it may turn into just an untrained mob or a poorly trained army. Second, military training for all is the way European dictators throttled democracy and started their autocratic governments.

If we must have the draft it should be used to expand already trained and functioning units. By this method we can make the best use of our nucleus of highly trained officers and men to train the drafted men. Furthermore, by keeping a three-way split in our defense system [as intended by congress] we may be able to prevent it becoming a one man's army or the army of a small clique of men.

Clay Stone.

DANES GOOD CITIZENS.

Chicago, July 22.—At Mr. and Mrs. Simon P. Klitz's golden wedding anniversary party last Saturday evening at 1733 North Kedvale avenue, an incident occurred which will remain in my memory the rest of my life.

After the dinner had been blessed 170 people stood up and sang "God Bless America." Ninety per cent of these people were of Danish descent. I have never been more proud to be of Danish descent. It is most gratifying to know that the Danish people living in America are 100 per cent Americans.

L. P. Jensen.

WHY HE HAD TO RUN.

Chicago, July 23.—Roosevelt had to run. He could not afford to have his activities in provoking the war become known if he could help it.

HOMESTEAD RIGHTS—DIVORCE.

Chicago, July 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. When property is not occupied as a homestead would it be essential for husband's signature in case of sale?

2. I understand he has no dower rights if he is not occupying it, or does the deed have to contain that clause?

3. In case I marry again, would my present husband's debits [in case he entered bankruptcy] come to me or my newly acquired husband?

4. Most debts are considered family expenses, are they not? I am at present living with my husband and I find a divorce unavoidable.

5. Is it necessary to live apart before filing for divorce a definite period of time? I want a divorce and no alimony.

E. S.

1. Yes.
2. If he is not occupying it as a homestead this means that there is no homestead interest, which would have been an additional reason for acquiring the two signatures.
3. Are you assuming the death of your present husband, or are you divorced? In general, you are not liable for your husband's ordinary business debts.
4. We see no object in such a generalization. The question whether they are family expenses is one of fact.
5. Depends upon whether you have legal grounds for divorce. We cannot advise without knowing your facts.

RAIN COOLS CITY AFTER 2D DAY OF 101 DEGREE HEAT

Mercury Drops to 70s; 80 Forecast Today.

Relief from the intense heat wave that drove the mercury to 101 degrees yesterday and Wednesday was swept into Chicago last evening on strong north winds. The temperature dropped from 97 degrees at 8 p. m. to 78 at 9 o'clock, and there was a further decline later.

Weatherman A. J. Knarr, who forecast this development, said that showers were possible today, and that moderate thermometer readings—probably well under 80—would prevail at least thru tomorrow.

Crops Get Little Help.

The cooling winds were accompanied by a brillant lightning display, but in most sections of the Chicago area the rain was light, and the forecaster said there was little hope for moisture enough to give any appreciable aid to corn and other crops.

Many trees in Chicago and the suburbs were blown over by the high winds and there were several reports of plate glass windows being broken. A light wire was hurled to the ground at 3237 North Narragansett avenue, and a trolley line broke and fell at Canalport avenue and Jefferson street. Radio station WMAQ was out of commission between 8:12 and 8:44 p. m. because of power failure at its transmitter at Bloomingdale.

The concert of the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra in Grant park was interrupted for a half hour when the wind whirled dust upon the audience and the musicians.

Lightning struck a barn on the farm of Mrs. Barbara Grasser, one mile south of Grayslake, in Lake county. The barn, 3 horses, and 11 head of cattle were destroyed, with a loss of $10,000.

Michigan City Man Lost in Lake.

Richard Kunkel, 25 years old, of Michigan City, sports editor of the Michigan City News-Dispatch, was believed to have been drowned as the storm swept over the lower end of the lake. He was a half mile off Michigan City when the boat in which he was sailing with three companions overturned. The others battled their way to a pier, but no trace was found of Kunkel. Those who swam in are Paul Jackson, Richard Bentley, and Edward Lyons, all of Michigan City.

Several small boats, in distress after the wind grew high, were rescued by coast guardsmen of the Chicago stations. Off Highland Park a sailboat capsized and the four occupants clung to it until Glen Ohman, a beach guard, and Ed Brown Sr., secretary of the Highland Park park board, reached them with a motorboat. Those rescued are Robert F. Timm, 553 De Tamble avenue, Highland Park; his wife; their daughter, Doris, and Joseph Riddle, 623 St. John's avenue, Highland Park.

Four Evanstonians Saved.

Among those saved by the coast guardsmen were four young Evanstonians whose boat overturned off Evanston. They are Chet Tolad, 508 Lee street; Miss Beatrice Morton, 335 Ridge avenue; Allen Syenson, 813 Crain street, and Miss Ruth Johnson, 1116 Cleveland avenue.

Wind damage was particularly heavy in the western suburbs. Ryan Brittain, 22 years old, 305 North Menard avenue, was injured seriously when a sign board blew over on him at Taylor avenue and Madison street in Oak Park. At the Oak Park hospital it was said his spine was fractured.

Paul W. Chapin, 2400 Colfax street, Evanston, narrowly escaped death when a large tree fell on his automobile as he was driving past 480 Sheridan road, Winnetka. The car roof was crushed, but Chapin was unhurt. Near Racine, Wis., lightning struck and killed Ernest Longruder, a farmer.

Yesterday was the seventh consecutive day of plus-90 daily temperatures, the second longest heat wave in Chicago's history. In 1934, beginning on July 18, there were eight such days. Only three times previously had plus-100 days come consecutively—July 16 and 17, 1887; Aug. 5 and 6, 1918, and July 3, 4, and 5, 1911.

Other cities had higher temperatures yesterday. Among them were:

Joliet	103	Grand Isl'd, Neb.	106
Lincoln, Neb.	110	Aurora	104
Springfield, Ill.	102	La Porte, Ind.	105

Chicago parks and beaches were crowded and it was estimated that 30,000 persons slept outdoors Wednesday night. There were many heat prostrations, and more than 50 deaths were attributed in part to the heat.

The city water department pumped 1,398,680,000 gallons into its mains Wednesday, for an all-time record.

120 Degrees Stops Workmen.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said that 1,000 carpenters and ironworkers employed on the new city filtration plant had to quit work when the temperature in the concrete filtration basin rose to nearly 120 degrees.

Several drownings were reported in the Chicago area. Isaac Daniels, colored, 21 years old, 6328 Eberhart avenue, drowned off 59th street. John Plavec, 47, drowned in Oak Knoll pool near Belmont, in Du Page county; Donald W. Fredericks, 19, of Glen Ellyn, drowned off Centennial beach at Naperville, and Glenn Woodarchak, 24, of Rockford, lost his life in a sand pit at Rockford.

Gardener Has 109.6 Degree Fever; Doctors Reduce It

An elderly gardener who was taken into Swedish Covenant hospital last night with a temperature of 109.6 degrees was on the way to recovery early today. Physicians reduced the fever to 102 in seven hours, but refused to discuss their methods. The patient is Paul Balas, 58 years old, of 1339 Cullerton street. He was taken from a Milwaukee avenue street car at Central avenue when he said he felt he was burning up. Work in the intense sun of the last few days was blamed for his condition.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TO MASS BANDS OF FOUR TYPES

Concert to Reach Climax with 2,500 Playing.

Thousands of musicians will appear in the four massed bands that will be features of the Chicagoland Music festival the evening of Aug. 17 in Soldiers' field.

These bands will make a lot of loud music, but soloists who will appear at the festival are not going to be outdone. Winners of the solo contests for cornet players, violinists, and piano accordion players will be given the aid of the stadium's tremendous amplifying system so their music will be heard plainly by the crowd of nearly 100,000 spectators.

Instrumental Deadline Aug. 5.

Capt. Howard Stube, who is in charge of all instrumental contests for the festival, warned prospective entrants yesterday that official entry blanks must be filed at festival headquarters not later than 6 p. m. on Aug. 5. The offices are on the fourth floor of Tribune Tower.

All competing bands will appear together as a massed band of approximately 2,500 pieces at the festival concert. Dr. Frank Simon, one of the nation's leading bandmasters, will direct one of the numbers to be played by this huge aggregation.

Dr. Helen Howe, head of the music division of the Chicago public school system, is organizing a band of 1,000 boys and girls from 38 Chicago public high schools. This band will play as a separate unit at the festival.

Fretted Band Unique Idea.

A fretted instrument band of 750 pieces will be a new feature at the festival this year. The men and women in this band will play mandolins, tenor banjos, and Hawaiian, Spanish, and electric quitars. In one number these instruments will combine with the accordion band of equal size.

Bands seeking to win one of the four contests, based on the number and the ages of the players in each band, have entered or plan to enter the festival from points as far away as West Virginia and Kansas City, Kas.

The Garnet High school band of Charleston, W. Va., has been entered in the contests to be held on the day of the festival. The Kansas City band will be selected at a festival to be held in that city. The Wurlitzer Concert band plans to return to the finals here in an attempt to beat the Davenport, Ia., Summer school band which won the juvenile contest last year.

Boys' Club Band to Compete.

The Chicago Boys' club band also plans to be in the finals on Aug. 17 to defend the championship in the adult band class it won last year. The Community Band of Waukesha, Wis.; the Spencerian college band of Milwaukee, Wis.; the St. Mary's Training school band of Des Plaines, and the Boys and Girls band of Muscatine, Ia., are among other bands planning to enter the contests.

Flag swingers and baton twirlers will be among the thousands of participants in the festival. All who wish to compete in these events were urged yesterday to file their entry blanks without delay.

FUMES OVERCOME BOY; SAVED.

Malcolm James, 6 years old, son of M. F. James, manager of the St. Clair hotel, was revived by a fire department inhalator squad in 45 minutes yesterday after he was overcome by fumes of a cleaning fluid he spilled on a rug while playing house.

DRAINAGE CANAL IS NO ROSE, AND THAT'S OFFICIAL

Master Notes an Odor for the Record.

The drainage canal now smells bad—officially.

Yesterday, as Monte M. Lemann, special master for the United States Supreme court, presided in his crowded hearing room in Joliet, he sniffed. The windows of the room, which is used ordinarily for the Joliet city council, were open. The official temperature on the street outside was 103 degrees. Inside it was hotter. The room is three blocks from the canal.

Master Lemann, who has kept the hearing records very formal, turned his head towards the other side of the room and sniffed again. He then leaned towards his court reporter.

The Master Takes Note.

"Make the record read," he said, "that the master take judicial notice that an odor from the canal is permeating the courtroom."

Joliet citizens, who have packed the hearing room since Monday and have tried to convince the master that canal odors are a health menace, beamed.

The hearings are part of a study of the lake diversion problem being made by Master Lemann at the direction of the United States Supreme court. Illinois has asked that the diversion of water thru the Illinois waterway be increased from 1,500 to 5,000 cubic feet per second. The flow was reduced at the end of 1938 after several states complained that diversion was lowering the level of the Great Lakes.

Among residents of Joliet who testified yesterday were several nuns and registered nurses from St. Joseph's hospital. The hospital is two blocks from the canal.

Hospital Patients Affected.

Sister M. Ursulina, superintendent of the hospital, said that when canal odors are strong they permeate the hospital and affect the sleep of nuns, nurses, and patients alike.

Sister M. Hortense, an anesthetist, testified that altho applying anesthetics does not affect her the canal odors make her "groggy."

Nurses testified that when the canal odors are bad the temperatures of patients rise from one to two degrees.

Dr. George E. Rooney, Joliet, a psychiatrist, said he recently treated a woman for mental disorders and attributed her ailment to disagreeable odors from the canal.

Tell of Bacteria Content.

A Joliet bacteriologist, Thomas Testin, asserted that tests made in June showed that the canal water was so impure that one cubic centimeter of it was sufficient to render unsafe 500 gallons of pure water.

The hearing was adjourned after Attorney General John E. Cassidy said he had already placed 121 witnesses on the stand and could supply 1,000 more. Master Lemann will reopen the hearings in Chicago on Sept. 9.

MRS. MULBERRY AGAIN URGED FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Officers of the Woman's City club said yesterday that they had again asked Mayor Kelly to appoint Mrs. H. M. Mulberry, former president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, to one of the two vacancies on the board of education.

A telegram containing the request was sent to the mayor several weeks ago. A letter sent yesterday repeated the request and asked that the other vacancy be filled from the list submitted a year ago by the Joint Committee on Public School Affairs. The list included William Bachrach, Curtis Reese, Lea Taylor, and Louis Asher.

The letter was signed by Mrs. David Fechheimer, chairman of the public education committee, and Miss Eula W. Deaton, corresponding secretary.

RULE BROADCAST OF RECORDS IS NO LAW VIOLATION

New York, July 25 [Special].—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals here ruled today that a broadcaster, in playing ordinary "home" phonograph records over the radio, did not infringe the rights of the copyright holder. In a unanimous decision, the court set aside an injunction in which Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibell ordered the operators of radio station WNEW to cease playing RCA Manufacturing company records over the air.

The court's decision was embodied in an opinion by Judge Learned Hand, presiding judge of the court, with Judges Charles E. Clark and Robert P. Patterson concurring.

Action for tonight's episode takes place in an airplane factory, where agents for the Advance Front attempt to stir up trouble and impede plane production. FIND CONVENTION LISTENERS FAVOR W-G-N BY 45.9% 16.2% Hear Broadcasts of Second Station.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Analysis of a poll of radio listeners which was made during the last evening session of the Democratic National convention in Chicago Stadium on Thursday, July 18, disclosed yesterday that 45.9 per cent of Chicago listeners were tuned to W-G-N. Chicago's second station drew 16.2 per cent.

Results of the survey, which was conducted by 20 experienced investigators thru telephone interviews, were announced by the W-G-N management. Residential numbers were called at random from 9:50 p. m. until 11:05 p. m., when all major Chicago stations were broadcasting the convention.

Figures on Other Stations.

Calls were completed to 991 homes. Of these 555, or 56 per cent, had their radios turned on. Of these, 255 were listening to W-G-N. This was almost three times the number listening to the second station, WBBM, with 90, or 16.2 per cent. Next came WMAQ with 65, or 11.7 per cent; WENR with 33, or 5.9 per cent; WCFL with 6, or 1.1 per cent, and others with 4, or .7 per cent. One hundred and two, or 18.4 per cent, said they didn't know to which station they were listening.

W-G-N executives were inclined to credit this preference for the station's convention broadcasts to several factors. W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system broadcast both the Republican and Democratic conventions in their entirety. No other station or network provided this complete coverage. Plans for this complete coverage were announced in advance thru the station and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Listeners quickly learned that when the convention was in session W-G-N was always carrying the proceedings.

Sponsored Shows Dropped.

W-G-N and Mutual canceled their evening sponsored broadcasts to carry the Democratic convention while other networks adhered to their regular schedules. Thus on both Wednesday and Thursday evenings, the two big evenings of the convention, W-G-N was airing the convention broadcasts well in advance of other stations.

Station executives also reported that many listeners had written in and commented on the superiority of the W-G-N "pickup," or the sound reproduction of its convention broadcasts.

Appears on W-G-N

Olympe Bradna, French film actress, as she broadcast over W-G-N last night.

Olympe Bradna, motion picture actress, headed the newest presentation of the series, In Chicago Tonight over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system last evening. In a brilliantly hued flowered gown which dazzled the crowd in the W-G-N studio, Miss Bradna played two rôles in an episode from her film, "South of Pago Pago."

The program, arranged by William A. Bacher, producer-director, had variety enough to please any listener. Harold Stokes and Henry Weber directed the W-G-N orchestra. Bruce Foote and Annette Burford, winners of the Chicago Opera company audition, sang. Foote's selection was the familiar "Old Man River" while Miss Burford gave the polonaise from "Mignon."

John Ringling North, executive head of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus, was interviewed by Announcer Jesse Kirkpatrick and said business was the best in 10 years. Circus thrills were detailed by Alfred Court, animal trainer.

LAKE CALUMET DIKE PROJECT TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said yesterday that construction will start next week on a $25,000 earthen dike across the north end of Lake Calumet at 110th street. The dike was authorized recently by the city council.

When it is completed water in the 300 acre inclosed area will be pumped out. Silt on the bottom of the lake is to be scraped and piled in pyramids, 70 feet square at the bottom and 22 feet high. Refuse from the south side wards is to be dumped between the pyramids and covered with the silt. Eventually the entire area is to be filled and used for a south side airport, Hewitt said.

An application to employ 5,300 WPA workers for four months on the project has been completed for submission to the WPA.

City Gets 2d PWA Check on Filtration Plant Grant

Col. E. W. Clark, acting commissioner of public works, announced yesterday that a check for $1,203,500 had been released to the city in part payment of a $5,415,750 Public Works administration grant for construction of the south side filtration plant. The instalment is the second that has been paid by the PWA. Total cost of the improvement, which is 60 per cent completed, will be $12,000,000.

CHICAGO 'I AM' CULTISTS MEET, EJECT OBSERVER

Indictment Is Persecution, Says Paul Potter.

Members of the I Am mystic cult held a closed meeting in their reading room in the Auditorium hotel last night, 24 hours after a Los Angeles grand jury had indicted 24 of the organization's leaders, including seven Chicagoans. The indictment charges fraudulent use of the mails to obtain contributions from devotees who allegedly were assured they would become immortal.

As last night's meeting was starting, a reporter seated herself among 50 persons already there, listening to an organ prelude. A man approached and demanded that she show her card. She said she had none and asked permission to stay for the "services."

Shown to the Door.

The man replied that she could not. He seized her by the arm and propelled her to the door, where another man waited to assist in ushering her out. As the reporter stood briefly in the hall, the keepers of the portal opened it a crack and peeped at her several times.

Afterward, she was told the meeting was the regular weekly gathering. The devotees could be heard singing and going thru their ritual.

Attorneys for the cult here yesterday were seeking reduction of the bond set for their clients in Los Angeles. Paul Potter, Chicago I Am leader who, with his wife Mabel, are among the indicted, assailed the grand jury's action.

"This is just a religious persecution," said Potter. "I am certain my wife and I can prove our innocence."

Potter is secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers.

$2,500 Bond for Each.

Federal authorities here said they had not yet received official notice of the indictment nor any request to take the defendants into custody.

Attorney Thomas Gilmore, who has represented the local I Am group, said, however, that he had been informed bonds have been set for the defendants in Los Angeles. The bonds for the Potters are $2,500 each. Similar bonds were set for Mary McGinnis, office bookkeeper for the Chicago organization, and William H. Cassiere, field group leader. Bonds of $5,000 each were fixed for Paul Stickel, also a field leader, and Louise Majeris and Cecilia Majeris, officers of the Chicago movement.

The visits to Chicago of the late Guy Ballard, founder of the movement, were nearly always marked by court action against him. In 1938 Miss Mary Ingham, a former follower, sued him for $6,755 and interest at 7 per cent—a total of $10,906. She said she lent the original sum to him in 1924-'26 to buy a California lake.

Last April the I Am movement was involved in a suit filed in Superior court on behalf of Mrs. Jennie Van Fleet Cowdery, wealthy Kenilworth widow. The defendant was Mrs. Cowdery's daughter, Mrs. Louise Willard, who was accused of obtaining money from her mother thru instilling I Am theories in Mrs. Cowdery.

Illinois Groups Organized.

The federal indictment charged that in furtherance of fraud, the defendants organized and dominated two Illinois organizations, the St. Germain Foundation and the St. Germain Press.

Attorney Gilmore denied that any cash collected thru the Chicago chapter finds its way to the widow and son of Ballard, directly. Money is sent to them only in payment for books and tracts, he said. The Chicago I Ams are supported by contributions which usually are less than the cost of operations, Gilmore said. A group of devotees who are financially able to do so usually make up these deficits, he added.

There are slightly more than 600 I Ams in Chicago, Gilmore said.

JAIL SUPERIOR COURT AGENT IN $1,330 SHORTAGE

Victor P. Frank.

Attorney Victor P. Frank was committed to the county jail on a contempt citation yesterday for an alleged shortage of $1,330 in one of his accounts as a special Superior court commissioner. He also has been accused of shortages totaling $4,249 in three other accounts.

Frank, who was found in a coma in St. Luke's hospital last week, was brought before Judge John C. Lewe yesterday by Anton Cichowicz, chief deputy bailiff.

Under the contempt order, Frank can be kept in jail until the money is repaid. The funds were derived from the foreclosure sale of an apartment building. Frank will come before Judge Lewe again on Aug. 1 for hearing in another of the alleged shortages.

A petition for a sanity test for Frank was filed yesterday by his brother, Seymour Frank. Judge James J. Gullett of Elizabethtown, sitting in County court, set this hearing for Aug. 1 in the Psychopathic court.

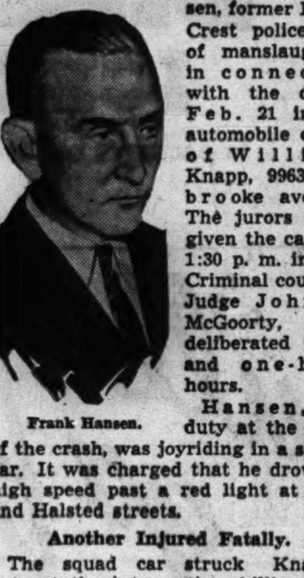
JURY CONVICTS JOYRIDING COP IN CRASH DEATH

1 to 14 Year Prison Term Faces Policeman

A jury of eight women and four men yesterday convicted Frank Hansen, former Hazel Crest policeman, of manslaughter in connection with the death Feb. 21 in an automobile crash of William Knapp, 9963 Edbrooke avenue. The jurors were given the case at 1:30 p. m. in the Criminal court of Judge John P. McGoorty, and deliberated one and one-half hours.



Frank Hansen.

Hansen, on duty at the time of the crash, was joyriding in a squad car. It was charged that he drove at high speed past a red light at 95th and Halsted streets.

Another Injured Fatally.

The squad car struck Knapp's auto at the intersection, killing him outright and fatally injuring Evan A. Flora of Hazel Crest, who was riding with him. James Sarak, bartender in an East Hazel Crest saloon, testified Hansen had had three drinks of whisky and a glass of beer shortly before the accident.

On the stand Hansen said he had drunk only coffee, that he was driving at 40 miles an hour, and that the signal light was green.

With Hansen in court when the verdict was read were his wife and two sons, Edward, 13, and Floyd, 10. All wept.

Prison Sentence Mandatory.

Conviction of manslaughter carries a mandatory prison sentence of from one to 14 years. The offense is probationable, however. Motions for a new trial will be heard by Judge McGoorty this morning. Hansen, meanwhile, remained at liberty on his original bond of $10,000.

Assistant State's Attorney Alex Napoli, who prosecuted the case, stated that if Hansen is sentenced today the state will move for dismissal of the second manslaughter case.

Mrs. Margaret Knapp, wife of the crash victim, was in court when the verdict was read. Afterward she said: "I am satisfied."

WPA MOSQUITO SURVEY BEGINS IN 3 COUNTIES

Work Projects administration crews in Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties yesterday began an exhaustive survey of mosquito breeding places. When the survey is completed next year funds will be sought for an abatement project.

Crews of roadmen making the survey will tramp across farm lands in each county daily. Their job is to locate all bodies of water, marshes, and temporary pools. Their information is then turned over to draftsmen, who locate the possible breeding places on township maps. These will be checked later against aerial survey photographs of the United States department of agriculture.

CHARGES 'I AM' CULTIST IS UNFIT TO CARE FOR SON

Former Husband Sues for Custody; Shows Letters.

A master in chancery, bemused by the mystic terminology of the "I Am" cult, was asked yesterday to grant a father sole custody of his son on the ground that the boy was in danger of becoming neurotic and abnormal because of a flood of exhortations showered on him by his mother, a devotee of the cult.

The boy, Robert Moberg, 10 years old, a pupil at Dakota School for Boys in Dakota, Stephenson county, was admonished, among other things, to use a "blue flame" to keep out evil thoughts, to tune in on a higher mental body, become acquainted with "tunnels of light," make an "ascension," and tune in on a certain goddess of light in Washington.

Shows Bundle of Letters.

Benjamin B. Davis, counsel for the lad's father, Harold E. Moberg, 35, of Des Moines, Ia., submitted a bundle of letters sent to the boy at school by his mother, Naomi, of 9253 South Damen avenue. She divides his custody with the father, under terms of a divorce decree entered Nov. 10, 1934, during the time Robert is not in school.

Attorney Davis produced the letters before Master in Chancery Thomas J. Sheehan to support the assertion of Moberg that his wife's addiction to "I Am" principles makes her an unfit mother.

The "I Am" movement was headed by Guy Ballard, who died last Dec. 29. It promised spiritual grace thru St. Germain, who was supposed to speak only thru Ballard, the Great I Am himself.

News of the Great I Am.

One letter produced by Attorney Davis read:

"We received a telegram from Mrs. Ballard saying: 'Rejoice, Daddy Ballard is wielding full ascended master power in the octave of light. He ascended from his light body into the higher mental body at the Royal Teatons just before New Year's.'"

Davis commented that this was pretty astral stuff for a kid 10 years old.

Another sample was:

"The big news from the Washington class is that the goddess of light had all the discarnate entities and the sticky atmosphere they lived in removed from the whole U. S. A. Now we can go in comfort anywhere. Haven't you noticed how clear the sky has been on sunny days lately?"

Thrills for a Believer.

St. Germain was reported as having done his stuff during a seance in Chicago, April 20, 1939, when he prophesied thru Ballard that "a new accidentproof airplane would come forth soon, and a new electric light bulb which will kill insects."

"I was so thrilled!" Mrs. Moberg remarked.

Mrs. Moberg, given permission by Master Sheehan to speak, said:

"I want to denounce the use of the term 'cult.' I Am activities are purely patriotic. The movement is not a religion. It teaches only how to protect oneself. It teaches the law of the beauty of life. I have been a student for three years. The perfect life teaches Robert not to drink or smoke, and, naturally, I want him to be a perfect self."

The master acceded when Benjamin Vanderveld, counsel for Mrs. Moberg, asked a continuance so that he might prepare an answer to Moberg's petition. The hearing will be resumed Aug. 2, St. Germain willing.

25,000 FILL HALL FOR MEETING OF WITNESSES SECT

Detroit, Mich., July 25 [Special].—The second session of the national convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, religious order which opposes war and flag salutes, was held today in Convention hall. About 25,000 persons, many of them curious onlookers, filled the hall and overflowed outside.

The convention was moved here from Columbus, O., after members of the sect had been refused the use of the Ohio state fairgrounds for the scheduled opening of their conclave last week.

COURT REFUSES A RECEIVER FOR BARKEEP UNION

Judge Cornelius Harrington yesterday refused the plea of George B. McLane for immediate appointment of a receiver for the Bartenders union, of which Louis Romano is president. He ruled that there is no emergency and that the matter can be handled Aug. 9 by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne, now on vacation, to whom the case was originally assigned.

McLane, a business agent for the union, charged that organization funds are being pocketed by other union officials who have deprived him of his power. He has also asserted that Romano is an agent of Frank Nitti, Murray Humphreys and other gangsters.

Romano retorted with a charge that $155,000 of the funds were misappropriated in the seven years McLane was in office. McLane has contended that he never had the power to draw checks against union funds.

DEATH IS HELD SUICIDE.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide yesterday in the case of Mrs. Genevieve McKenna, 25 years old, wife of a policeman, who was found dead Wednesday after taking an overdose of sleeping tablets. They lived at the Skyline apartments, 188 West Randolph street.

Village Grocer Goodwin Is Generous to a Fault

Chesterfield, Va., July 25 (AP).—Village Grocer Jim Goodwin was generous to a fault today. His generosity—lending the two young men who entered his store a set of tire tools. His fault—supplying them with the equipment they used to remove a wheel from his car and take away with them.

HERE'S SQUEEZE PLAY TO DEFEAT HEAT: LEMONADE

Variations on This Cool Drink Are Many.

"What's your trade?" "Lemonade." It's part of the rigamarole that went with the old game of charades, but many a mother may feel pushed to the point of adopting it as her theme song during a hot spell.

There are more variations to the lemonade theme than just pink lemonade. Have you tried making lemonade with carbonated water? Lemonade is the basis of many a fruit beverage, and lemons even find their way into milk shakes and eggnogs.

LEMONADE.

For each person allow:

1 lemon
1 to 3 tablespoons sugar or honey
1 cup cold water
Ice

Extract lemon juice and add sugar. Stir to dissolve. Add water and serve over ice in extra large glasses. Garnish with lemon slices and maraschino cherries, if desired.

VARIATIONS.

Lemon Fizz—Use carbonated water.

Lemon Float—Add a dip of lemon sherbet or frozen custard to lemonade.

Pineapple Lemonade—Allow ¼ cup pineapple juice and only ¾ cup of water for each serving.

Lemon Ginger Flip—Add juice of half an orange and a bit of shredded lemon peel to each serving. Use ginger ale in place of water.

LEMON MILK SHAKE.
[For 1 serving.]

¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
⅓ cup milk
½ cup crushed ice

Combine ingredients and shake well.

LEMON EGGNOG.
[For 1 serving.]

1 egg white, beaten stiff
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg yolk, beaten
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Milk

Beat egg white with sugar and reserve one tablespoon of this mixture. Add rest to egg yolk which has been beaten with lemon juice and pour into a tall glass. Fill almost to top with milk and garnish with remaining egg white. Serve immediately.

For other recipes for cold drinks, see Mary Meade's booklet, "Thirst Quenchers." It is now on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn and in the Tribune Tower lobby; or it will be mailed to you for 5 cents in stamps. Please address mail requests to Mary Meade.

For a Hot Afternoon

Tall, sparkling glasses of pink wine lemonade are delightfully refreshing on warm, summer afternoons. To make these delicious wine coolers fill each glass with the juice of half a lemon, ⅓ cup of dry red wine, a teaspoon of sugar, and plenty of ice. Then fill the glass with charged water and serve. Garnish with fresh unstemmed cherries if desired.

OLD TIME RECIPE FOR CLINGSTONE PEACH PICKLES

When it's peaches and cream for lunch, most women prefer the easily sliced freestones. But for flavorful whole peach pickles, old timers hold to clingstones. Now, while Georgia clingstones are still available, is a pretty good time to put up peach pickles.

The recipe for peach pickles given here was taken from Mary Meade's new booklet, "Favorite Pickles and Relishes." The booklet also contains timely recipes for watermelon rind and cantaloupe pickles. Send 5 cents in stamps to Mary Meade and the booklet will be mailed to you, or pick it up in person for 3 cents at the Tribune's Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower lobby.

SWEET PICKLED PEACHES.

2 cups vinegar.
4 cups sugar.
1 stick cinnamon.
1 tablespoon whole cloves.

Dip peaches in scalding water, then in cold water, and slip off skins. Meanwhile boil vinegar, sugar, and spices together for five minutes. Peaches may be cut in halves or left whole. Many persons like to leave a pit or two in the pickling sirup to add flavor when peaches are cut in halves. Drop peaches, a few at a time, into the boiling sirup, and cook until barely tender. Do not overcook. Pack into clean, hot jars, fill jars with the boiling sirup, and seal.

PAPAYA JUICE MAKES A FRUIT PUNCH WITH AN UNUSUAL FLAVOR

PAPAYA PUNCH.
[Serves 6.]

1 small can papaya juice [about 1⅓ cups].
Juice of 4 oranges.
Juice of 2 lemons.
Sugar sirup to taste. [Made by boiling equal parts water and sugar together for 5 minutes].
Ice.
Maraschino cherries for garnish.

A HOT WEATHER TREAT: PLATTER OF COLD MEATS

Thoughts of food turn to cool and easy buffet suppers these days, especially when guests are present. On such occasions an attractive platter of assorted cold meats is a real boon to the hostess. An arrangement like this one is most tempting: Place a ring of sliced bologna in the center of the plate and fill with a zippy potato salad, made with a bit of green onion, capers, and a snappy mayonnaise. Put radish roses, celery curls and ripe and green olives around this ring, and arrange assorted cold meats at the edge of the platter. Deviled eggs, sliced tomatoes and cheese are other good garnishes for cold meats.

POPULAR ITALIAN DISH FEATURED FOR CASSEROLE

The casserole meal becomes company fare when the popular Italian dish, Chicken Tettrazini, is served. It consists of tender young chicken, fresh mushrooms and spaghetti, smothered in a rich, creamy sauce. A bit of sherry is added to the sauce for extra appeal.

CHICKEN TETTRAZINI.
[Serves 8.]

1 young chicken.
1 teaspoon salt.
¼ pound fresh mushrooms.
3 tablespoons butter.
½ pound spaghetti.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
2 cups chicken broth.
1 cup heavy cream.
2 tablespoons sherry.

Cover cut up chicken with boiling water, add salt, and simmer until tender. When done, cool in broth; then shred into fine pieces, putting skin and bones into broth. Simmer 45 minutes, reducing broth to about 2 cupfuls. Thinly slice fresh mushrooms and saute in butter over moderate heat until soft and brown. Break spaghetti into small pieces and cook in boiling salted water until tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Make cream sauce, using butter and flour, gradually adding strained chicken broth. Stir until smooth and the boiling point is reached. Stir in cream and sherry. Divide sauce, add shredded chicken to one half and cooked spaghetti and mushrooms to other half. Put spaghetti into hot baking dish, making hole in center for shredded chicken mixture. Cover with grated Parmesan cheese and bake in moderate oven until lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Serve immediately.

Cucumbers, Hot in Piquant Sauce, Are Easily Fixed

Have you tried serving your cucumbers hot in a piquant mustard butter sauce? The cucumbers are easily prepared. Here are the directions: Peel and cut in quarters lengthwise; cook in just enough boiling, salted water to cover; cook rapidly until just tender; drain and serve with a sauce made by melting 2 tablespoons of prepared mustard with 1 tablespoon butter.

CHOCOLATE PATTIES, MADE WITH FRUIT, FILL SUMMER NEED

Chocolate fruit patties are easy to make, and you'll find many summertime uses for them. They may be served as a dessert accompaniment, a picnic food, or just as a snack.

CHOCOLATE FRUIT PATTIES.
[About 3 dozen small cookies.]

1 cup sifted cake flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
2-3 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup chopped nut meats
½ cup chopped raisins
¼ cup candied cherries, chapped
¼ cup candied pineapple, chopped

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add butter to chocolate and mix well. Add sugar gradually to eggs, beating thoroly. Add chocolate mixture and blend. Add flour, nuts, and fruit. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate [350 degree] oven for 10 or 12 minutes or until done. One tablespoon of candied orange peel or lemon peel may be substituted for the candied cherries and pineapple if desired.

IT'S HOME GROWN VEGETABLE TIME; MANY BARGAINS

Chicken, Lamb, Pork Are Good Meat Buys.

BY MARY MEADE.

Chicken with fresh picked vegetables is what company might expect on any farm dinner table about this time of year. And, from the way the bargains stack up, guests can expect about the same fare on city dinner tables this week-end.

You may want to select one of the other meat counter specials for your Sunday dinner, but you'll have the fresh picked vegetables at any rate. It's pretty hard to find fresh vegetables that aren't home grown these days, and the home grown items are bargain starred for their extra fine quality as well as their tempting low prices.

The home grown supply of carrots is increasing rapidly and prices on these as well as those shipped in from the west are very reasonable. Prices took another drop this week.

Tomatoes Are Now Cheap.

Tomatoes have declined sharply in price this week. Market experts say they're about as cheap right now as you'll ever find them. Most of them are now coming from Illinois or Missouri. Illinois supplies of cucumbers are increasing rapidly. You can expect excellent buys this week-end.

Radishes, green onions, and most of the other salad-makings are inexpensive. There is a great deal of cabbage on the market, and it's selling at low prices.

One of the best vegetable buys is green beans—the beans are bringing extremely low prices and the quality is good.

Head lettuce, most of which comes from California, is one of the few non-home grown vegetables available and it is one item that has advanced slightly this week. The price is still far from high, however, and plenty of leaf lettuce and other low priced greens are available to take its place in your salad bowl.

Poultry on Bargain List.

Poultry has been on the bargain list at the meat counter more consistently than almost any other item for several weeks. It's the season when fryers and broilers are at their best and stewing hens are featured with fair regularity.

If you've ever served fried chicken and found that a neck or scrawny wing was your share when it came time to fill the hostess' plate, you'll like the new idea of selling chicken by the piece. You can now order half a dozen drumsticks or breasts of chicken instead of a whole chicken. Several independent stores and at least one chain are now selling chicken on this basis.

Chicken is not the only meat bargain, however. Lamb is an excellent buy with leg of lamb featured everywhere and other cuts on the "specials" list in one store and another. Pork, while a less appealing meat for hot weather consumption, is among the cheapest available.

Chuck Cuts Are Good Buy.

All beef cuts from the chuck are a good buy. These include pot roasts, rolled chuck roasts, and neck cuts. All chuck cuts are in the less tender or economy class and need to be cooked as Swiss steaks or pot roasts. Since they are cooked on top of the stove, they are not such a bad choice for hot day cookery.

The price of lemons is almost as good an indicator of the temperature as the thermometer. When torrid days come and the sidewalks sizzle lemons and limes are in demand for cold drink making. Right now lemons are price-jumping and limes are so much in demand that dealers can't get enough of them.

This is a good week for berries. Both raspberries and blueberries have dropped in price. Michigan red raspberries are rather low priced. The blueberries are those big cultivated ones grown in New Jersey and Michigan. They're so good you'll want to eat them "as is" with maybe a spot of thick cream.

Melons Are Top-Notch.

Cantaloupes will cost you a little more this week, but the improved quality is worth the difference in price. The more expensive melons are coming from California and they're of top-notch quality. All the melons which have been coming from the Imperial valley these last few weeks are now gone. Cheaper prices can be expected when the Indiana and Texas seasons, now just beginning, get under way.

What pennies you lose on cantaloupes can be made up on honeydews. These sweet, delicately green fleshed melons have dropped in price this week. The quality of honeydews from Arizona is excellent—those from California are of only fair quality.

The Georgia crop of Elbertas is now on full steam and prices are moderate. There is practically no change in apple, apricot, and pear prices.

This is not a bad time to buy canned goods. Some stores are having sales to clean up last summer's canning factory output and to make way for this year's merchandise.

Use Honey for Variation in Your Cinnamon Toast

If you like honey, you'll like this variation of cinnamon toast. Toast bread on one side—use whole wheat bread, for extra flavor—and spread untoasted side with butter and then honey. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon and place slices under low broiler flame until bread is lightly browned and topping is well blended. Cut in strips for serving.

DESSERT MAKING NOW IS THE JOB OF REFRIGERATOR

Here Are Recipes for Frozen Dishes.

Refrigerators are no longer just a place to store foods. Even a refrigerator must work nowadays to help lift part of the cooking burden from a homemaker's shoulder. And refrigerators are pretty busy making cool ices and ice creams during these hot days.

Ices, sherbets, ice creams, parfaits and mousses can all be successfully made in an automatic refrigerator. As a rule some stabilizing agent such as gelatin, marshmallows, eggs or a commercially prepared mix or powder is used in these refrigerator frozen desserts in order to insure a smooth, ungranular product. And except for mousses and parfaits, a thoro beating of the partially frozen product is almost essential. Results are well worth the extra trouble. To make refrigerator ice creams is probably less trouble and less messy than the ice cracking and cranking required in using hand freezers.

MAPLE NUT ICE CREAM.
[Made in the Refrigerator—Serves 8.]

1 cup maple sirup
1⅓ tablespoons flour
⅔ cup water
2 eggs
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups coffee cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¾ cup chopped pecans or black walnuts

Heat maple sirup. Make paste of flour and water, adding water to flour a little at a time. Add hot sirup to paste, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water for 10 minutes or until thickened. Add a little of the mixture to the beaten egg yolks, stir, and combine egg yolks with rest of maple mixture, stirring vigorously. Cook and stir until mixture is consistency of thin custard. Cool and add salt and cream. Pour into freezing tray. Freeze, remove to bowl, and add flavorings. Whip with rotary egg beater or electric mixer until light and creamy. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Add chopped nutmeats and return quickly to freezing tray. Freeze quickly, then reduce cold to hold until serving time.

PEPPERMINT STICK CREAM.
[Refrigerator Made—Serves 8.]

16 marshmallows
½ pound peppermint stick candy, broken
1 cup boiling water
1 pint heavy cream, whipped
1 cup top milk

Melt marshmallows and candy in the boiling water in top of double boiler. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip cream until very stiff, whip top milk into it, and fold into candy mixture. Place in freezing tray and freeze, stirring once, until solid.

MELON SHERBET.
[Serves 3 to 4—Refrigerator Made.]

½ cup sugar
1 cup water
1 cup melon pulp and juice [use honey dew, cantaloupe or watermelon]
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup sugar
½ cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg whites

Combine the cup of sugar, water, melon pulp, and juice, and lemon juice, and stir until sugar is dissolved. Freeze to a mush. Boil the remaining sugar and water to the thread stage, 230 to 238 degrees, and cool slightly. Beat egg whites and salt to a stiff foam and pour the sirup slowly over them, beating constantly. Beat mixture until cool. Fold or stir into frozen fruit mixture and continue freezing. Stir once or twice during freezing.

All of these recipes were taken from Mary Meade's booklet, "Refrigerator Ice Creams," which will be mailed to you for 5 cents in stamps. If you prefer to pick it up in person, get it for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower lobby. Please address mail requests to Mary Meade.

FEATHERY PINEAPPLE CAKE IN A RING MOLD IS BAKING TRIUMPH

For an unusual company dessert, bake a feathery pineapple cake in a ring mold and fill the center with a snowy mound of sweetened whipped cream to which crushed pineapple or other fruit has been added. There'll be heaps of well-deserved compliments on this baking triumph!

FLUFFY PINEAPPLE CAKE.

½ cup butter or other shortening
⅔ cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk
⅓ cup pineapple juice
⅔ cup crushed pineapple, drained
½ teaspoon lemon extract

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat until smooth and creamy. Sift flour once. Measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Combine sweetened condensed milk and pineapple juice. Add alternately with dry ingredients to butter mixture beating after each addition until thoroly blended. Add crushed pineapple and lemon extract. Pour into greased ring mold or loaf pan [8x8x2 inches] and bake in moderate oven [350 degrees] about 30 minutes. Serve with whipped cream to which ½ cup crushed pineapple or other fruit has been added.

APPLE BUTTER CUPCAKES ARE A TASTY TREAT

Good old-fashioned apple butter makes a tasty snack when spread on fresh white bread slices, but just try it in tender, fluffy cupcakes for a real surprise. You'll be delighted with the results!

APPLE BUTTER CUPCAKES.
[14 cupcakes.]

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
⅔ cup apple butter
¾ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and soda. Cream butter and sugar together thoroly, and add the egg, beating well. Combine apple butter with creamed mixture. Add flour mixture alternately with milk, stirring well. Bake in greased cup cake pans in a hot oven [400 degrees] for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done.

OPEN NEW GRADE SEPARATION FOR DRIVE LINK TODAY

It Will Connect Soon with La Salle Street.

BY HAL FOUST.

A quarter of a million dollar grade separation in Lake Shore drive north of North avenue will be opened this morning. In so far as could be foreseen, the complexities of Lincoln park detours will remain, for at least another six months.

Northbound traffic from the La Salle street extension across the south end of the park will use the lower level of the grade separation, passing under Lake Shore drive traffic before merging with it. Southbound travel in Lake Shore drive en route to La Salle street will diverge onto a ramp at the grade separation.

Connection Nearly Finished.

The connection at La Salle and Clark streets with this new park drive will be completed in about two weeks, according to Otto K. Jelinek, traffic engineer for the park district.

The new grade separation will also begin to function this morning as an approach to the parking area for the new North avenue bathing beach. A pedestrian bridge over Lake Shore drive is under construction. One glimpse at this parking area discloses palpable inadequacy. Its capacity is only about a hundred cars.

Mr. Jelinek, the Chicago Motor club, and THE TRIBUNE road car yesterday completed independent surveys of the inconvenience and delays encountered by 90,000 automobiles in driving the temporary routes thru Lincoln park which were opened on Tuesday.

Delays in Rush Hours.

The surveys were in approximate agreement on the following points:

1. Morning and evening rush hour travel loses approximately three minutes between Addison and Ohio streets as compared with driving times before beach drive was closed on Tuesday for reconstruction and widening.

2. Travel counter to the rush movement—travel north bound in the morning rush and south bound in the evening rush—loses approximately six minutes due to the detours.

3. Outside of the rush hours, travel between these two points has been slowed from 1½ to 2 minutes.

No Blockade in Rush Hour.

In eight test runs in THE TRIBUNE road car, no blockade was encountered in the express routes during the rush hours, altho the pace was slackened to second gear a few times. In driving against the rush movement, there were several blockades, each of only a minute or two by the clock but seeming much longer.

"The capacity of the pavement has been reduced about a third, so it's impossible to get the efficiency that we had when Beach drive was in service," said Engineer Jelinek.

The most conspicuous opportunity to improve the utility of the temporary routes lies in enforcement of parking restrictions on city streets adjacent to Lincoln park.

It was also discovered on these surveys that traffic to and from the vicinity of Lincoln park was inconvenienced more than thru traffic by the detour system.

BARONESS WINS DIVORCE FROM EXILED GERMAN

Detroit, Mich., July 25 (AP).—Baroness Margaret Von Mauchenhein was granted a divorce today from Baron Egon Karl Freiherr Von Mauchenhein, German exile who works in a Detroit automobile plant.

The baroness, who was married when she was 17 years old in 1935, charged at the trial that the baron commissioned a man whose name was withheld to negotiate a marriage with any American woman with $100,000, "because he was tired of being a workman."

The couple came here in 1936 after fleeing Germany. President Roosevelt last May vetoed an act overruling a labor department deportation order, but no new deportation order has been signed since.

STRANGER POSES AS DOCTOR AND ROBS SURGEON

Chicago hospitals were warned yesterday to be on watch for one Dr. Long of New York, who looks like a physician, talks like a physician, and is—a thief.

The spurious Dr. Long presented himself at American hospital on Tuesday, showed his card, and asked to be taken thru the institution. On Wednesday was back again. This time he asked that Dr. Max Thorek, surgeon-in-chief, permit him to watch an operation. He donned a white gown and accompanied Dr. Thorek to the operating room.

Before the operation was over, Dr. Long excused himself. When Dr. Thorek returned to the dressing room, he found a $250 ring and a $100 watch missing from his trousers pocket. Dr. Long also was missing.

Women World Wide
by Ruth DeYoung Kohler

YESTERDAY in my radio broadcast I referred to a letter from the program chairman of a woman's club in a southern Illinois town. I quote from this:

"It is unthinkable that we should spend the coming season reviewing current books or delving into 19th century drama or practising flower arrangements as we have done in the past when there is so much serious thinking to be done on the part of women today as to just what they are going to do about understanding and improving world situations of the hour.

"Feeling the need for something vital to get at grips with and yet vague as to the proper procedure by which to pursue such a course of action, I am asking you for some help with my problem. The group to use this material is, I think, a typical cross section of the average intelligent American woman of our smaller communities in the United States."

The letter is typical of many I have in my portfolio to answer. It also bears out the thought of a writer who visited my home this week.

"Most women's club programs are so inane," she said. "They deal with such unimportant subjects."

TODAY it seems to be the fashion for many speakers and writers to make women's club programs the target of their criticism . . . to urge program chairmen on to world problems away from the topics that concern everyday living in the home and the community.

Many clubs have listened to these advisers and as a result the members are listening to "The Fiscal Policies of the New Deal" analyzed and appraised in one hour—"The Deadlock in Palestine" in 40 minutes—or again "The Soviet Régime as Pictured Thru the Russian Novel"—this in 45 minutes.

I AM willing to grant the lady writer who visited me that many women's club programs are inane, but most of them are inane because they try to deal with vast world problems and they do it in such a superficial manner that it leaves the audience uninformed and uninspired, or, even worse, informed and inspired on only one side of a very important and serious issue.

I respect the clubs that study gardens and flower arrangements. I respect the clubs that raise the money for baby clinics in their home communities. I respect those women who can keep calm and serene in a chaotic world . . . who carry on the normal, everyday family functions that have made America a great nation.

It is a noble thing to attempt to save mankind, but sometimes it is a little more practical and effective to save the fatherless family of ten across the railroad tracks. Again it may stimulate the imagination to hear a speaker on the plight of migratory workers 3,000 miles away, but it may help more, as in the case of Kentucky clubwomen, to come to the rescue of 45,000 Kentucky babies by raising $25,000 for clinics when state and federal aid were discontinued.

CERTAINLY we can take pride in the fact that the American home is, in many instances, a better place and the American countryside beautiful because clubwomen have written papers and listened to lectures on home decoration, family budgets, and household management—because they have cultivated gardens and organized garden clubs. Women's clubs are responsible for removing thousands of unsightly billboards from the country's highways. Women's clubs of Hawaii have banished billboards from the islands altogether.

Why shouldn't women's clubs discuss the problems of their own parlors, kitchens, and back yards and why shouldn't they retain some interest in the literature inherited from our forefathers and still taught to our children? With destruction rampant on other continents, Americans must become the guardians of culture . . . and what is a better medium for this than the woman's club?

As a well known writer has pointed out, "Often the danger to individuals and groups is that they overreach their powers . . . and failing to live within their intellectual, spiritual, and material means to the best of their abilities, fail in everything."

THIS problem of program topics brings up another point: With many a woman a club is valued most as a medium for friendship. Why then shouldn't program topics tend to stimulate conversation in the meeting? If the subjects are too vast and vague, it is practically impossible to raise any discussion from the floor. Only thru the careful selection of topics, brevity of speeches, and a definite period set aside for discussion can club members be transformed from hearers of the word to doers. In clubs there is constant talk about democratic processes. Yet it is a strange anomaly that many club practices are autocratic.

RIGHT now when program committees are at work the length and breadth of this land building for the approaching club season, my suggestion is that the American home might well be taken as the general topic for the meetings ahead. If there is any reason for formulating programs now for meetings next March and April and May—besides announcing them in a year book—it is to build a year's program that is a comprehensive whole . . . that will stimulate and educate and reflect accomplishment at the conclusion.

The American home is a topic vast and yet intimate. It can be treated from the standpoint of the family. It can be treated from the standpoint of the budget . . . of buying food and clothing. It can be treated from the standpoint of the house itself. How closely, for instance, politics relates to the family budget. An important 1940 campaign symposium might be developed on this point alone.

Housing—a need for better homes in America—is a challenge to every group of organized women. Despite the vast resources of the United States about one-half of the homes are below minimum standards of health. There is a housing shortage of 2,000,000. The slums in this country are the worst in the world.

THE woman's club in Kohler village in which I live has taken the home as its central theme ever since its organization 23 years ago. Instead of feeling that it has exhausted the subject, each year it sees a new challenge and the need for increased effort.

The club considers its most significant accomplishment the sponsorship of a demonstration house—a different house each year—tastefully furnished, decorated, and provided with piano, pictures, a good selection of books, and an attractive garden, at a cost kept within a modest budget. The village school assists in furnishing and decorating the house by having the students make necessary furniture and the curtains. The village garden club plans and plants the garden. Every year from June to November thousands of visitors from far and wide come to see this house and carry away ideas and inspiration for improving their own homes and yards.

I CITE this only as an example. Such programs and projects are possible the length and breadth of this land. Whenever was there greater need for thoughtful planning and for action without confusion? And whenever was it more necessary to strengthen the home as America's first line of defense?

Women's clubs are not expected to cure all of the malnutritions and paralyses of society in this broad land or this big world, but they can do a mighty good piece of preventive work, and once a good cure is offered they than see that it reaches the individual. Perhaps, as has been pointed out, the function of most women's clubs is to be society's nurses and not its doctors.

Wind, Dust, and Rain Unable to Stop Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The wind blew like mad, the waste paper swirled, and the dust got into everybody's eyes and ears. Later it rained. Yet last night's Grant program went on, and Richard Czerwonky and his Chicago Philharmonic orchestra—with Rudolph Reuter as piano soloist—succeeded in presenting their scheduled all-Russian program. What is more, a large part of their audience put up with every indignity which nature could devise rather than leave the band shell before the end.

There was, it is true, a bit of an intermission. This was when the dust and wind storm was at its height and when the musicians could not keep their eyes open long enough to find out what their next note was.

A part of Tschaikowsky's "Pathetic" symphony was abandoned, but when things calmed down the orchestra gave a creditable performance of the same composer's "Marche Slave." Immediately thereafter the stage was set for the presentation by Mr. Reuter and the orchestra of Rubinstein's D Minor concerto.

By this time the dust caked audience had been washed clean by a nice rain, and they responded enthusiastically to Mr. Reuter's playing. The performance had a splendid fluency, a fine bravura quality in the first and third movements, and a nice lyrical line in the second. Probably this concerto had never been presented under stranger circumstances.

With the break in the weather, sponsors of the Grant park concerts are hoping for one of those huge gala audiences next Sunday night when Paul Robeson, renowned colored baritone, comes to Grant park as featured soloist.

See Everything, Know Everything Department.

The Republican party is already in trouble about big money. John D. Hamilton of the Republican national committee ran in and out of La Salle street cigar stores last Wednesday morning trying to change a $20 bill while a petulant cab driver waited for his fare.

"La Salle street hasn't seen that much money in years," commented William A. Dean.

Consistent.

Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, has been quoted as saying that whenever he feels like exercising he just lies down quietly until he gets over it. He was seen twice recently in a bathing suit at the beautiful Lake Shore club swimming pool, but he was just sitting beside the pool. He did not go in.

Reply to Colleen.

(Who inquired where men go on vacations.)

I have been delegated by a committee of four to voice a reply to Colleen's query in behalf of 101 unfortunate males employed by our company who are being deprived of the pleasure of meeting her at such vacationing spots as she mentions. We have no vacations with pay. If Colleen wishes to know where we go on our week-ends I'll be more than glad to inform her.

Add Liquid Measures.

A teacher in a north shore private school was explaining liquid measure. She named the units—gill, pint, quart, gallon.

Distinguished Doorman.

When the Casino club opens again in the autumn, members will miss the tall, smiling, pink-cheeked doorman who for 16 years has been on duty there. His name was Edgar Medlicott and he died early yesterday morning at St. Elizabeth's hospital from a heart ailment. A veteran of the Canadian army, Medlicott had never missed a day of service during his 16 years and was proud of his record. He knew every one, remembered all arrivals at the club, and was always able to tell a member arriving late whether or not her guests had arrived ahead of her. Probably no other doorman in the city, except perhaps Charles Pritzlaff at the Washington street entrance of Field's, was so well known to the city's first families. Charles has served patrons of Field's for more than half a century.

Engagement Announced

Jolson Still His Amusing Self if Foot Is Broken

BY CECIL SMITH.

With his right foot in a cast, and with a cane to help support him, Al Jolson is currently giving an even more engaging performance in "Hold On to Your Hats" than at the opening ten days ago. If he experiences any pain from the two bones he broke when he twisted his foot last week, he never lets the audience know a thing about it.

With his show settled down into a successful run, Mr. Jolson lets his wit bubble forth, sometimes extemporaneously, with consummate ease, and his whole performance is imbued with the eagerness and warmth of a veteran glad to be back in harness.

While those in the know whispered vehemently about a still wholly unsubstantiated rumor that Ruby Keeler might leave the cast, to be replaced by Eunice Healy, yesterday's performance went off like clockwork and with high good humor.

Mr. Jolson took his audience into his confidence immediately upon his first entrance [for who can conceal a plaster cast and a cane?], reporting that his physician told him he had broken his foot in two places, and adding that he should have known better than to be in those places. Apart from a surprisingly small reduction in actual physical movement, his entire share in the show remains as copious and as amusing as ever.

Martin Freed has taken over the musical direction from Al Goodman. Having been at the piano from the start of rehearsals, Mr. Freed is thoroly at home with the score, and he conducts with such excellent pace and coördination that with my eyes closed I should not have guessed that Mr. Goodman had departed. There have been no other changes in personnel, and the big, handsome musical is still worth any one's time and trouble.

1935 Debutante

Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Lagorio of Wellington avenue, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Carlotta, to John A. McGuire, elder son of Dr. Walter G. McGuire of Ellis avenue. Miss Lagorio, who is spending the summer with her parents and her brother, Frank Jr., at their summer home at Delavan Lake, Wis., and her fiancé will fly to Atlantic City this week-end to visit his father at his summer place.

Miss Lagorio was educated at the Girls' Latin school and Miss Bennett's at Millbrook, N. Y., and Mr. McGuire at Loyola and the University of Notre Dame. He is well known in horse show circles, for he and his younger brother, Walter Jr., and their five sisters, Mary, Frances, Julia, Patricia, and Josephine, all have horses, and often take part in local shows.

Miss Lagorio made her debut in 1935.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

There's all the difference in the world between daubing cologne on and spraying it on. These hot days we've been doing some experimenting and we've found that spraying somehow makes the cologne a better cooling agent.

There are some colognes available now—and they're awfully good ones, in beautiful fragrances—that come in bottles equipped with a new type of atomizer. This looks, on first glance, like just a dome shaped rubber bulb attached to the top of the flacon, but pressure on the dome top brings forth a cool, fine spray of the cologne, which is brought up thru a glass tube and released in a mist from a little opening in the metal rim around the neck of the bottle. It's a grand little idea, enabling you to spray cologne with only one hand and doing away with all clumsiness.

The scents are so beautiful and so famous they stand alone. We've always been impressed by the fact that these colognes are the experts' choice. People who make perfumes and colognes their business all take off their hats to these. They contain an astonishing percentage of the perfume essence, which means that their scent is wonderfully lasting.

Nowadays the modern woman doesn't do what her ancestors did when a heat wave descends. Instead of heading for a darkened room, with cold cloths on her brow, she goes about her business in the hot, busy world. She makes cologne, used in and after her bath, one of her most valuable weapons against wilting.

Music Festival, Horse Show on Berkshire Bill

BY JUDITH CASS.

OUR correspondent in the Berkshires sends word that next week will be the liveliest so far this summer in that beautiful community. The three week Berkshire Music festival at Tanglewood in Lenox opens on Thursday and the eighth annual two day Pittsfield horse show starts on Friday, the same day that the three-day Wyantenuck Country club's men's golf tournament commences.

Every house in the Berkshires will be filled with guests next week-end. Donald F. McPherson is joining Mrs. McPherson at their home in Pittsfield early next week. Arthur G. Cable and the Robert Neil Cowhams will be the McPhersons' guests for the first series of Tanglewood concerts and for the horse show. The McPhersons are showing several of their riding and driving horses at the show, and on Saturday Mrs. McPherson is giving a large buffet luncheon for the judges.

Horse Show Being Held at Historic Holmesdale.

The horse show is being held on the polo grounds at historic Holmesdale, so named for Oliver Wendell Holmes, who spent seven summers there. Mrs. Donald Mitchell Watson, sister-in-law of Mrs. Clarke Washburne of Winnetka, is the present owner of Holmesdale.

Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. W. Rockwood Gibbs [Rebecca Whitehead of Chicago] are active in the Berkshire branch of the World Famine Relief organization, and so is Mrs. Bernhard Hoffmann [Irene Botsford of Chicago], who is president of the Berkshire Garden center. Mrs. McPherson personally obtained the cooperation of Berkshire farmers in planting, and also gave the use of several acres of her estate on which to raise vegetables. With favorable weather it is expected that the harvest will yield more than 30,000 cans each of beans, carrots, and beets.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spalding Back in Great Barrington.

Albert Spalding, violinst, and Mrs. Spalding have returned to their home in Great Barrington after a stay on Chicago's north shore, where he was soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Ravinia park. The Edward T. Herndons of New York are arriving today at Tamarack, Tyringham, for a visit with the Harry C. Holloways, Mrs. Herndon's parents.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely, Mrs. James O. Hinkley, Mrs. Keene Addington and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase are going to be Mrs. Warren M. Salisbury's guests at Tor court in Pittsfield during some of the festival. Mrs. Franklin Hussey is going to be at the Berkshire inn in Great Barrington for the concerts.

Prof. Albert Sprague Coolidge, Mrs. Coolidge and Miss Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge are arriving in Pittsfield next week to spend ten days with the Willem Willekes. On Monday the string quartet, of which Mr. Willeke is cellist, will play the world première of Daniel Gregory Mason's Prelude and Fugue. Mr. Mason, professor emeritus of music at Columbia university, and Mrs. Mason will attend.

Orchestral Association Increases Membership.

On the eve of the observance of its golden jubilee season the Chicago Symphony Orchestral association has increased its membership from forty to fifty. Eleven new members were elected, however, at a recent meeting, because of a vacancy caused by the death of Emanuel F. Selz. The new members are Paul Davis, Gaylord Donnelley, Percy B. Eckhart, Dr. Harry S. Gradle, Miss Gwethalyn Jones, Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, Donald R. McLennan Jr., Howell Murray, Dr. Eric Oldberg, Edgar Stanton Jr., and Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood. Election to membership is for life. Charles H. Hamill is honorary president of the association and Edward L. Ryerson Jr. is active president.

The Field Museum of Natural History has cards out for a preview of the Babylonian hall on Monday and Tuesday between the hours of 9 and 4 o'clock. The hall will be opened to the public on Wednesday. The material in the hall was excavated during the 10 years that the museum had an expedition working at the city of Kish.

Harriet Dexter Case to Make Debut Sept. 14.

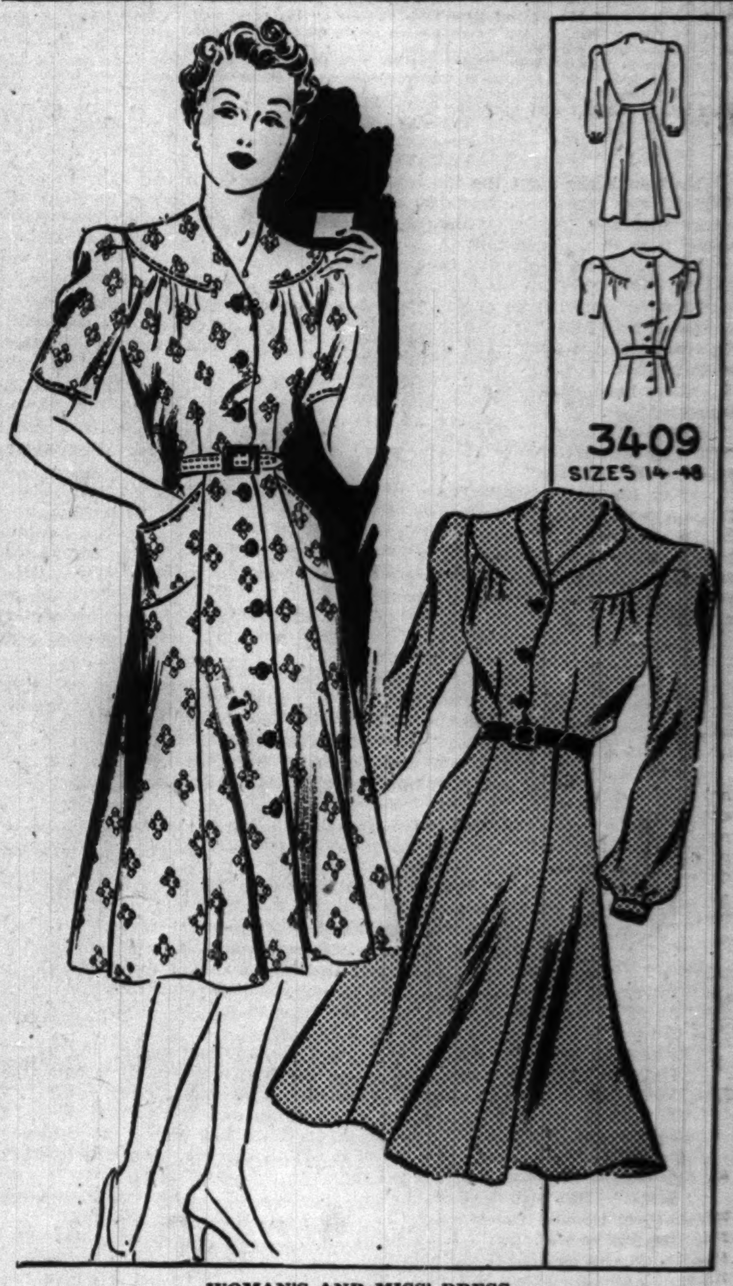
Another name to be added to the debut list for the current season is that of Miss Harriet Dexter Case. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Jones Case, will give a tea for her at their Wilmette home on Sept. 14. Miss Case, a graduate of the North Shore Country Day school, will return to Bryn Mawr college for her sophomore year in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cummings will have a houseful of young guests in Lake Forest over the week-end, including Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., son of the United States ambassador to Great Britain. Young Mr. Kennedy and David Beals III. of Kansas City, who roomed with Walter Cummings Jr. at Yale and Harvard, arrived yesterday and were especial guests of their host at a dinner before the weekly Onwentsia dance. Robert McCormick of Wilkes Barre, Pa., a Yale classmate of Arthur Cummings, is arriving today.

Golf enthusiasts apparently are impervious to discomfort for despite the blistering heat yesterday the best husband and wife teams at two north shore clubs vied with each other in the clubs' annual Benedict Cup tournaments. Mr. and Mrs. George C. Baldwin were the winners at the Exmoor, and at the Onwentsia Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Prentice and Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Porter were tied.

Mrs. Earl Thulin of Kenilworth is giving a tea and miscellaneous shower this afternoon in the penthouse of the Hotel Sherman for Miss Patti Fox, whose marriage to Howard Gray Swann will take place on Aug. 3. The ceremony will be performed at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred L. Fox of Woodlawn avenue.

Smart for Larger Figures



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

The almost classic lines of this daytime dress recommend it to women with larger figures. The neckline treatment is optional, the pattern providing for collarless and collared versions. There's an interesting shoulder yoke, and the skirt is paneled for good fit and beautiful lines. Sleeve length is a matter of personal choice. The pattern provides for both long and short ones.

All the washable materials will make up well, and both prints and plain colors are fashionable. You may like this style for autumn wear, in which case you might select an attractive crêpe.

Style No. 3409 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material for short-sleeved dress, 3⅞ yards for long-sleeved version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, July 25.—The call sheet for "I'm Still Alive" read: "One bit man for director—Fred Niblo." And there was a book, but not quite a tearjerker, in that one line.

The call sheet lists who's working that day on a picture, and for a one day bit as a director they had hired one of the greatest of them all. It was Niblo who directed the Rudolph Valentino pictures. It was Niblo who had made "Ben Hur" in Rome. It was Niblo who directed the vehicles of a freckle faced kid, Wesley Barry.

"I'm Still Alive" is, really, the story of Helen Twelvetrees and her stuntman husband, and was originally titled "Stunt Man." A story of picture people, it is really a movie within a movie. Hence the need, for a scene or two, of an actor to play the part of a director. It was Niblo's first appearance before a camera. The assistant director on the production is the same Wesley Barry who once was a freckle faced kid star.

Niblo has been retired for five years, owns a big sheep ranch in northern California and isn't broke. But he says he can't keep away from Hollywood and will do anything for an excuse to hang around. He got $400 for his day's work, which is far above scale for bit players.

I went to the preview of March of Time's full lengther, "The Ramparts We Watch," hoping that it might be the answer to a question. The question: Do you have to have actors in the movies?

"The Ramparts We Watch" is a pasteup of first world war newsreels with the story of small town people and their rise to Americanism as a binder. The town is New London, Conn., and most of the players are New Londoners who never acted before. On the whole they do a good job and C. W. Stowell, a lecturer and educator, is excellent as a congressman. But I do not think the carefully made up, publicity pampered, and financially spoiled actors in the movie business need fear an invasion of nonpros. Walt Disney is still the only guy who can get along without stars.

The story of the Kildare series is interesting. Barrymore was Judge Hardy in the first Hardy picture. Then, because it just happened he wasn't around, Lewis Stone inherited the rôle. The studio had another series for Barrymore—the Kildare things—but the actor wasn't particularly enthusiastic about taking it on.

Then they told him that Harold Bouquet, who had been Barrymore's assistant director on a number of films, would have the main job in the new series. "I'll play it," said Lionel. "We all have to give the youngsters a chance."

Murder Is Not Mute

By Audrey Newell

SYNOPSIS.

Detective Patrick Doyle, of New York City, is on his vacation in a small resort town when he goes walking in the woods on the estate of Adolph Wunsch, wealthy ex-brewer, and stumbles upon a skeleton. He tells his discovery to Truman Briault, Wunsch's brother-in-law, who in turn tries to bribe Doyle to keep the matter quiet. But Doyle reports it to police headquarters, and when Officer Madden and Judge Blain accompany Doyle to the spot where the skeleton was, they find it gone. They find fresh footprints and trail them to a spot where they think the skeleton has been buried.

INSTALLMENT V.

VACATION WORK.

Madden broke thru the bushes. He was armed with two shovels, carried riflewise across his shoulder, and followed by the coroner, at sight of whose pleasant, homely face and gray Vandyke beard, Doyle's eyebrows jerked high in astonishment.

"Well, I'll be damned!" he exclaimed.

Dr. Blake held out his hand. "How are you, Doyle?"

Madden stared from one to the other. "You know each other, huh?"

Doyle told him, "Dr. Blake used to be medical examiner on my cases." He turned to the doctor curiously. "What are you doing out here in the sticks?"

"Live here—ever since my retirement," Blake answered. "What about yourself?"

Doyle grimaced. "Vacation."

"You couldn't choose a better spot," the doctor applauded. "Healthiest place in the country."

"Not for everybody." Doyle pointed to the makeshift grave. "Wait till you see the unhealthy bunch of bones I've got to pick with you."

Dr. Blake looked on while Doyle and Madden turned over the loosely packed earth and disclosed the skeleton wrapped in a large spread of canvas. Then the doctor dropped to his knees for an inspection. His gloved hands turned the skull carefully.

"Shot thru the brain." He nodded approvingly. "Shot once and cleanly. The bullet passed thru the occipital and right lateral half of the frontal bone. A nice, neat murder."

"No chance of suicide?" Doyle challenged.

"None," the doctor assured him. "The bullet entered the back of the head. And it was fired from a distance—I'd say ten or fifteen feet."

Doyle turned to Madden. "Well, there you are. Now it's up to you."

Madden leaned heavily on the handle of his shovel. "I've got my hands full with traffic and whatnot," he objected. "The D. A.'s office will have to deal with this."

Dr. Blake's eyes twinkled. He knew Doyle. It would break his granite heart if this fine messy murder got away from him. The doctor addressed Madden reflectively.

"Rewards?" Madden's eyes glistened. "You mean money?"

"Often as not there's a cash reward in a murder case," the doctor reminded. His glance dwelt briefly on Doyle. "I should think Mr. Doyle could give you a hand if you decided to carry on by yourself."

"Sure," Doyle said, brightening. "I'd be glad to scout around for you. Just to keep in training, you understand."

Madden looked interested. "You mean you wouldn't expect any pay?"

"Hell, no," Doyle assured him. "I'm drawing a good salary from the New York City police department all the time I'm loafing down here."

"You won't get fired for working outside your own territory, will you?"

Doyle shook his head. "The department doesn't give a hoot how I spend my vacation—so long as I spend it within the law. I'm free to work on this case if the local police say I may."

"I see." But still Madden looked troubled. "Suppose your vacation ends before we find the murderer? Then I'm left holding the bag."

"No you're not. All I have to do is apply to my superior, and show him that I can be of assistance to you. Then he'll assign me to the special duty of assisting you. But hell," Doyle grinned. "I've got a whole two weeks ahead of me. What are you worrying about?"

Then Doyle turned briskly to Dr. Blake. "How long have these bones been lying around?"

The doctor arranged the skeleton in better alignment and adjusted his pince-nez for a closer inspection.

"It's a bit hard to tell." His forehead wrinkled thoughtfully. "I'd say it's been at least a year since the murder. And probably a bit longer than that."

Doyle nodded. "It it a man or a woman?"

"A woman."

Madden vented his surprise in a whistle. "How do you know?"

Dr. Blake stood up, flexing his knees gingerly. "There's plenty of evidence. For one thing, the complete decay of the clothing. A man's garments would withstand exposure longer, and we'd find buttons and metallic parts. Now if this woman was killed last summer, she probably wore a dress and an undergarment of silk or cotton; thin stockings, or none at all; low cut shoes, more than likely of cloth; and possibly a hat of straw or fabric—all of which would disintegrate and leave little or no trace. However, you should find the wooden heels of her shoes where you first discovered the body. And the metal frame of her handbag, if she carried one."

Doyle broke in. "How old was this dame?"

"A man can't even tell that when they're alive," Madden pointed out.

"But it's not so hard when you get them stripped down like this." The doctor smiled and polished his glasses with his handkerchief. "All we have to do is take a look at the os innominatum or haunch bone. Because in early life the haunch bone consists of three bones—ilium, ischium, and pubis. But about the twenty-fifth year these three bones unite into a single bone." He settled his glasses firmly on his nose and used a dead branch as a pointer. "You see that? Three bones—not united. Proof positive that the young woman was under twenty-five."

"At least eighteen years old," Blake announced. He pulled on his gloves and turned the skeleton face down.

"The spine bone is a good twenty-eight inches long. And that's average length for the adult spine. The individual differences in our stature result chiefly from the length of the lower limbs." He pursed his lips thoughtfully. "I'd judge from the length of tibia and femur that this young woman was just about five feet six inches tall."

Doyle nodded, well satisfied, and turned to Madden. "Give me a hand, will you?"

Madden helped slide the bones from the canvas carrier so that Doyle might examine it. The canvas was a large spread, not new, but in good condition, and marked only by the traces of its passage thru the underbrush.

"What about fingerprints?" Madden asked.

Doyle shook his head. "Any dumbbell would know enough to wear gloves. Our problem is, where did the canvas come from? And what was it used for besides carrying skeletons?"

"I'll bet a dollar that's what it is," Madden agreed.

"How about it?" he inquired of the doctor.

Doyle and Madden took turns carrying the bones to the doctor's car, parked next to Blain's. Blake shook hands with the two men and drove off across the fields.

Madden looked at Doyle expectantly. "Now what?"

"We'll wait for the judge," Doyle decided, easing himself into the tonneau of the judge's small car.

Madden leaned confidentially over the car door. "What do you suppose that girl looked like when she was alive?"

Then Madden realized Doyle wasn't paying any attention to him. The detective was peering across the fields, attracted by the persistent beeping of an automobile horn.

"Somebody's trying to signal us," Doyle said.

There was a car parked on the highway—a long, sleek limousine, chauffeur-driven. As they stared at it, the chauffeur left the car and came running toward them.

Judge Blain lingered until he was certain that Dr. Blake and Madden were headed right to find Doyle, waiting for them in the pine grove. Then the judge set off on an investigation of his own, following the path from Table Rock on toward Wunsch's golf course.

This skeleton business was bad, and the quicker it was disposed of, the better. It would give Beachville a bad name. Make respectable folks afraid to summer there.

The judge took from his pocket two bits of twig tipped with fuzzy wool. Sweater yarn, sure as taxes. Now all Blain had to do was find some one on Wunsch's estate wearing a bluish sweater.

Sally's Guests Have a Swell Time at Circus

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

One hundred boys and girls completely forgot the heat yesterday afternoon. They were much too busy watching three rings full of wonderful things at the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus!

Many of my small guests had never seen a show under a big top before, and none of them ever saw one to equal yesterday's thrilling performance. They were wild with excitement from the moment we filed into our seats in the handsome blue tent until, with a final flourish, the band brought the show to a close.

We saw dancing elephants, musical seals, and boxing ponies. There were dogs that played basketball, and tigers that sat up and begged. We craned our necks to watch the daring trapeze artists swinging high, high up in the air, and one of the juggling acts was so good that a little fellow in front of me thought he was seeing double, as the performer tossed eight or ten plates in the air and bounced a ball with his head all at the same time.

There are two other items necessary to enjoy a circus—clowns and refreshments — and my guests got plenty of both. There seemed to be hundreds of clowns — big ones and little ones, all wildly painted and the youngsters screamed with excitement and delight every time one of them came near us.

We had ice cream and cool drinks galore, and in all, a perfectly swell time!

Two smart little items for the summer cottage are a waste basket and a magazine rack, both gayly adorned with magazine covers put on in haphazard fashion and completely covering them. The waste basket is a good size and the magazine rack is large enough to hold all the assorted papers and periodicals with which vacationers while away the hours. The prices on these items are very reasonable.

Side Sweep to Skirt or Bodice New and Smart

BY REA SEEGER.

Sure signs of a new fashion getting into action are silhouettes that not only look different but that manage in a clever way to make the clothes collector dissatisfied with a summer wardrobe. For instance, the side swept streamline, and dresses that stress a smooth revealed hipline. See them once and you'll crave a new figure. Pulling either skirt or a bodice or both way over to the side is a master stroke . . . other dresses suddenly seem naive, lacking in interest.

This new side sweep is flattering, distinctive and becoming to practically all ages. Such a trick emphasizes the waistline and the contours of the hips and that means proper foundations if the dress is to be a fitted success. Coats, suits, ensembles and even now the negligees and lounging outfits are using the same dashing sweep to the side. It means the return of the wrap around skirt idea, the side swirl, the side drapery, shirring or pleating anything known to the dressmakers that will serve as an excuse to take the attention to a new line.

Also a new fashion is a brand new "black and" combination, first featured in hats. It's a gray and black combine, unquestionably the most subtle contrast ever used. Black velvet hats have brims of dove gray feathers; small, coquettish turbans have the entire crown covered with quaker gray flowerets the size of forget-me-nots.

Gray veils will drift over black hats, or black over silver gray. It's a color promotion that came in with the amethist shades. Both are new, both devastatingly feminine, and both unusual enough to satisfy the most demanding shopper out for something different.

Methodists Name New Chairman of Publications Board

Judge William H. Swiggart of Nashville, Tenn., yesterday was elected chairman of the board of publications of the Methodist church at the organizational meeting in the Hotel La Salle. Delegates from the six jurisdictions of the church appointed Troy W. Appleby of Cincinnati, O., vice chairman, and Dr. Charles E. Schofield, president of Iliff Theological seminary, Denver, Colo., secretary. Selected as publishing agents were B. A. Whitmore of Whitmore and Smith, Nashville, and the Rev. Fred D. Stone of Methodist headquarters, 740 Rush street.

The Rev. Roy W. Smith of Los Angeles, Cal., was made editor in chief of the Christian Advocate, weekly official organ of the church. Dr. Noel Harmon of Roanoke, Va., was elected book editor.

Bishop Adna Wright Leonard of the Washington, D. C., area, was elected president of the board of education, and Lud. H. Estes of Memphis, Tenn., was appointed recording secretary.

"The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 diamond	Pass	3 clubs [1]
Pass	3 diamonds [2]	Pass	4 no trump [3]
Pass	7 diamonds [4]	Pass	Pass
Pass

"As you see, East held four diamonds to the jack, and the queen of clubs was a doubleton, making seven clubs or seven no trump cold.

"[1] North questioned the jump response without adequate support in diamonds, since a two club bid would have been forcing for one round and could be followed if necessary by a force on the following round. North might conceivably have held: ♠x x ♥K Q J x ♦K Q J x x x ♣x which would have been a sound non-vulnerable opening, and game would be impossible in any contract if clubs failed to break.

"[2] Lacking support in clubs, North made a minimum response until he received further information from South.

"[3] Since diamonds was the only suit rebid, North maintains a four no trump response at this point establishes diamonds as the suit and assures adequate trump support, even had there been any doubt of it in the original jump take-out.

"[4] At this point South insists the correct response is five no trump since a seven diamond bid shuts out a seven club bid. North, while admitting that five no trump would be correct, contends that the four no trump showing the ace-king of clubs and ace of spades provides a discard on the club king for the only apparent loser in the hand, the small heart, and that whatever response South would make to a five no trump bid, he would go to seven diamonds, so there was no object in making that bid. Since this hand was at rubber bridge, without a warning from South of unfavorable distribution, and with 100 honors in diamonds, there was no advantage in a seven no trump contract. What say you?—D. W., Wis."

This is just one more argument based largely on a misapprehension. Because the diamond jack could not be captured and the club queen could be, the partners have jumped to the conclusion that seven clubs would have been the better contract. The table of probabilities does not agree with this notion. Actually it was about seven to three that the diamond suit would run without loss, whereas there was only a 50-50 chance of shutting out the club queen.

As to the specific arguments for and against each bid, well, the fairest thing to say is that every one of them was persuasive. It is true that a jump take-out usually connotes a "fit" for partner's suit, but in this case South hardly can be blamed for attaching great value to his own eight card club suit and spade ace. He shaded the technical requirements for his jump take-out, but only by a "plus value." After the three club bid, the other bids had to follow more or less automatically. North's reason for "skipping" the technical response to the four no trump bid carries unimpeachable logic and, all in all, the partners should consider themselves more the victims of a malign fate than of their own ineptitude.

Legal Sorority Meeting.

A three day meeting of the Kappa Beta Pi, legal sorority, will open today at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Miss Cora Green, president of the Chicago alumnae chapter, and Mrs. Howard Janousek of De Paul university chapter are in charge of registration.

Prevent Child from Tackling Difficult Job

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"They want a snappy, jazzy sort of style," a friend of mine was telling me. "That's not my way of writing, but I'd like to get into the magazine and they pay well. So I tried to write their way. I worked and worked and they criticized and pulled the article apart so, that for a long while afterward I felt like a failure. I shouldn't have attempted something I'm not fitted for."

Did you ever attempt to do a job you were utterly unsuited for? And fail?

Did you ever have to tackle a job which it was entirely beyond your strength, or skill, to put thru? And fail? And do you remember the sense of futility and frustration that came over you?

As a grown person you probably could handle your emotions and work out of the mental state it threw you in by sizing up the situation and knowing yourself, but small children can't.

The sense of failure is one they should not experience unavoidably, but success is good for them. The sense of success is one they always should have. Not too easy success, because if it is too easy it will not be accompanied by a sense of accomplishment and power. But, perhaps better even that, than some kind of work or play so much beyond them that it will be followed by certain failure.

With your little children temper and tears often can be traced to their attempting something that is, to them, like moving mountains. I have seen the simplest picture puzzle reduce a child to tears, because he was years too young for a picture puzzle. Also lack of interest is another accompaniment of failure. Intricate small blocks will affect a small child so that his defeat makes him nervous and unhappy, where huge, simple blocks will keep him interested for hours.

I know it's a temptation to drink beer too cold this hot weather...

But don't do it, folks!

Besides...beer tastes better at 50 DEGREES

... the temperature where experts test beer for goodness

by Richard Seibold
MEISTER BRÄU BREWMASTER

How to Make the "50-Degrees" Test

Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you buy at a ten-cent store. Take a bottle of MEISTER BRÄU and a bottle of any other brand and let it warm up a few minutes. Then open, take temperature, and compare flavors.

1 Phone or Stop for MEISTER BRÄU

2 Take plenty with you

We could add sugars or syrups ...but we'll never do it

Thousands have found there's no point in over-chilling the all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu

I don't have to tell you that cooling beverages are better for you if they're not too cold. But with beer, there's another mighty good reason why over-chilling is wrong.

Freezing cold hides the delicate goodness of fine beer. You just can't get the full benefit of its goodness if your taste is dulled by cold. That's why over-chilling is a flavor cheat. You have to warm it up a little to get true flavor—like beer experts have always done to test beer quality. 50 degrees—that's where true flavor, good or bad, shows up. A few degrees warmer than the average refrigerator. But those few degrees make a world of difference.

Do the "50-Degrees" test! You'll find you've been missing a lot. You'll see why we are so particular about the way we brew MEISTER BRÄU. Won't add sugars or syrups. Won't change that all-grain flavor. And we'll keep right on bottling with only Natural Draft Beer Carbonation created in the brew itself! Do the "50-Degrees" test and you'll want the all-grain flavor of MEISTER BRÄU every time.

And when you go for a week-end outing or your vacation, settle the beverage question before you start. Phone or stop at your retailer's and take plenty of MEISTER BRÄU along. He'll have it—HANDY-PACK cases of 12, either Steinie Bottles or Keglined Cans, or in cases of 24 of either. Have it ready to throw into the car and go. No trouble. And you'll be fixed for a more pleasant time.

WATERLOO FANS CONFIDENT OF EDDIE'S VICTORY

Expect to Double Players' Total.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Waterloo, Ia., July 25.—In this city the vote for Dr. Eddie Anderson to be named head coach of the All-Stars in the game with the Green Bay Packers Aug. 29 is regarded as a demonstration of the solidarity of the state.

"This is the first time in years," Ed. Moore Jr., sports editor of the Waterloo Daily Courier, said emphatically today, "that Iowa has been able to agree on one man. Anderson not only established a record last fall with the state university football team that surprised all of us, but by that campaign he has united all athletic factions.

Anderson Has Full Support.

"In any year, an Iowa coach would have drawn a fair-sized vote. We have had some capable men since the champion teams of Howard Jones. Always, however, some were opposed to the coach, or, at least, apathetic. Anderson has changed this. He will be the unanimous choice of every city and community in the state. What is more, everyone will work for his selection as head coach of the All-Stars.

"We knew from the start of the players' poll," Moore went on, "that the Iowa Iron Men would be named to the squad. After all, that isn't a tremendous task considering the size of the squad. The choice of Nile Kinnick as starting half back seemed to be assured because of his national reputation and popularity. Now the folks are ready for what we all consider a man's sized task. I believe Anderson will get a total vote which will astound the fans of the nation."

Close to Iowa Athletics.

Possibly there is no keener judge of the state poll than Moore. Since his graduation from Drake university in 1928 he has been closely associated with athletics thruout the state. Moreover, his brother, Tom, who was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1934, was one of the Hawkeyes' finest centers. He played with Joe Laws, Dick Crayne, and Zud Schammell on the 1933 Iowa eleven, which established the best record in recent years until last fall.

The voting in Waterloo and the activities of the Courier sports department, which has the heartiest support of General Manager Jackson McCoy, produced upward of 15,000 ballots in the players' poll. To this number could be added votes obtained in nearby communities and those obtained thru efforts of the Rath Packing company.

"Number Will Be Doubled."

"We'll double this number easily in the coaches poll," Moore predicted. "We start off with 5,000 names of those who insisted in voting for Anderson when they received the players' petitions.

"The unusual item in the contest has been the number of ballots clipped from the Courier and mailed to us. It costs two or three cents to mail a ballot. People seem to make this an individual matter. They could sign one of the petitions more easily and without charge."

Get 5,000 Votes at Game.

Last Monday night, however, at the Waterloo-Cedar Rapids baseball game, 5,000 votes were obtained under sponsorship of the Rath Packing company. Fred Bedore of Chicago, who recently was appointed

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The $50,000 Futurity, which will be run tomorrow at Arlington Park, will be the first event of the season with an important bearing on the juvenile championship. Some years ago Saratoga's Hopeful stakes was the earliest major engagement for which youngsters of the highest class were prepared, after which they went on to the Futurities at Belmont and Pimlico. In recent seasons, however, the Arlington Futurity has replaced the Hopeful as the jumping off place for late summer and fall campaigns.

The 15 possible starters have come up to tomorrow's event thru a series of preparatory races that furnished incomplete data on their capabilities. Two of them—Attention and Chicuelo—won stakes, but even in those events the competition could not be compared with what they will face tomorrow, and the distances were too short to give an accurate line on class and staying power.

Showdown for Winners.

In the course of the six furlongs of the Arlington Futurity, however, each horse on the track will be called on for a showdown. The winners of stakes and allowance events on a dozen tracks in the east and middle west will be thrown together for the first time this season for a demonstration of what they can do when they're running against each other. Some of them will meet again in the big stakes at Saratoga, Belmont, and Pimlico, but tomorrow's event may bring out the juvenile champion of the year.

So many of the country's wealthiest stables are represented and so many well bred youngsters are ready to go to the post that the Futurity will be one of the year's truest tests of merit.

The east will be represented by Mrs. Payne Whitney's Swing and Sway, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's New World, Mrs Parker Corning's Attention, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Mettlesome, Mrs. E. Graham Lewis' Chicuelo and Mrs. Barclay Douglas' War Result and Port Alibi.

Attention Gets Attention.

Kentucky, Illinois and other middle-western states will send a strong contingent against these easterners. This group will include Warren Wright's Whirlaway, Cleveland Putnam's Swain, E. F. CUBS AND LEE (PLUS ROOT) WIN FROM BEES, 8 TO 4

Boston Makes League's 1st Triple Play of Year.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 25.—Sufferin' William Lee, tho knocked out in the eighth inning this afternoon, won his first victory behind spectacles. He got official credit for vanquishing the clever but inadequate Boston Bees, 8 to 4, in the final of the series. It was Bill's seventh success, achieved after three failures since he won his sixth. It also was the Bayou boy's third conquest of the Bees, whom the Cubs have whipped 13 times in 1940. Bill wasn't the least perplexed when he bunted into the first National triple play of the season, for he had a 6 to 2 advantage at the time.

Lee held the Bees to five hits until he blew up in the eighth for a single, a walk, a double, and a single good for two runs. Charley Root went in with the tying runs on third and second and one out and quelled the uprising without additional tallying.

Cubs Shock Salvo.

Manuel Salvo, who shocked the Cubs by shutting them out in Chicago July 13, 5 to 0, was the losing pitcher. The Cubs nicked him for 10 hits, six of which were doubles They added three singles off Alva Javery for two runs in the ninth.

After the game the Cubs dashed to a New York bound train. Tomorrow they will open a three game series. The season series currently shows a half dozen victories for each side.

The Cubs subsided in the second inning after making a run in a hurry on Nicholson's walk and Leiber's double. Bonura then flied to Cooney and Hartnett and Warstler struck out.

Nip Hack at Plate.

After Salvo got Lee at the start of the third for his third straight strikeout Hack got credit for a double when Rowell misjudged his pop fly. Galan sent a grounder to Rowell, then Hassett dropped Rowell's throw for an error, but recovered the ball and threw to Berres in time to get Hack at the plate.

Bees Score Twice.

The Bees broke thru for a pair of runs in the fourth. Rowell opened with a double to right, took third on Ross's fly to Nicholson and scored on Miller's fly to Galan. Sisti singled, stole second and went on to third when Hartnett threw into center field. Herman fumbled Cooney's easy grounder, Sisti scoring. Herman tossed out Berres.

Nicholson opened the sixth with a single and Leiber walked. Then Bonura, Hartnett, and Warstler supplied easy outs. In contrast, the Cubs got run production under way after two were out in the seventh. Successive doubles by Herman and Galan were good for the Cubs' fourth run.

Bees Make Triple Play.

In the eighth Leiber walked and stopped at third on Bonura's double to center. Hartnett was given an intentional pass, loading the bases. Dallessandro batted for Warstler and singled to right, scoring Leiber and Bonura. Lee, attempting to sacrifice, popped to Hassett. Hassett threw to Miller to double Hartnett off second. Miller then threw to Rowell at first to retire Dallessandro and complete the triple play, the league's first of the year.

The Cubs got to Javery for two runs in the ninth on singles by Hack, Galan, and Nicholson.

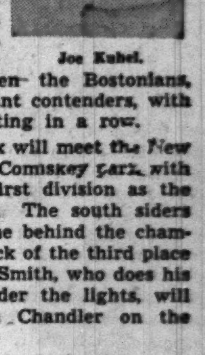
KUHEL'S HOMER HELPS SWEEP BOSTON SERIES

Pick Edgar Smith to Oppose Champions.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.



Joe Kuhel.

The White Sox, who are hotter than the weather, roared on in their own reckless way again yesterday, much to the discomfiture of the Boston moneybags, familiarly known as the Red Sox. Altho denied the pleasure of scoring in the free-for-all fashion they have popularized during the last 10 days, the Chicagoans belted the ball sufficiently to attain their seventh straight victory, 6 to 4, and at the same time burden the Bostonians, supposedly pennant contenders, with their eighth beating in a row.

Tonight the Sox will meet the New York Yankees in Comiskey park with a berth in the first division as the prize for victory. The south siders are only one game behind the champions and two back of the third place Red Sox. Edgar Smith, who does his best pitching under the lights, will oppose Spurgeon Chandler on the mound.

Brown Rescues Knott.

Jack Knott, whose recent two-hitter in Boston helped the Chicagoans desert their rôle of Red Sox cousins, registered his sixth victory of the year yesterday, altho he was missing when the finish line was reached. The Texas giant went into the last inning with only two runs against his performance—homers by Bob Doerr and Jim Tabor. But with two gone in the ninth, Tabor hit another ball out of the park, so Dr. Clint Brown was called in for consultation and he solved the problem, altho prolonging the distress by issuing a pair of passes.

While the Chicagoans were held to fewer than seven runs for the first time since they began to show interest in the first division, they nevertheless remembered that the extra base hit is the big item in production. Of their 11 safeties off Jim Bagby, who discovered seven innings was enough for one day, six were longer than singles. Taft Wright, Luke Appling, and Julius Solters notched triples. Appling also came thru with a double, as did Mike Kreevich. But the important tap was Joe Kuhel's 18th homer with a man on in the fifth, the wallop putting the Dykes boys in front, 3 to 2. They stayed there to the finish.

Fielding Is Sensational.

Along with their run collection, the Chicago Sox managed to support Knott, not only flawlessly but sensationally in several instances. Choicest of the latter was a feat by Bob Kennedy in the seventh when the home edge was a mere 4 to 2. With Tabor on base as the result of a single and none out, Kennedy leaped to snare an apparently cinch base hit by Glenn. Without waiting to get back on the ground, Kennedy rifled the ball to Webb to launch a double play and thus snuff out threatened trouble.

Dykes' Sox not only had the honor of scoring the first run but also registering the first hit of the torrid afternoon. The hit, a Joe Kuhel product, occurred in the first inning but two were gone at the time and Solters wasn't able to bring his home run bat into action. The next hit, also carrying a Chicago label, fetched results. It was Wright's triple open-

KIEFER, JARETZ TO SEEK TRIBUNE SWIM CROWNS

Chicagoland Trials Will Open Tomorrow.

Adolph Kiefer, who long ago lost count of the number of world records he has broken, will be among the several hundred contestants in the eleventh annual 100 yard free style Chicagoland championship swim, qualifying trials of which will start tomorrow.

Kiefer will be competing in the Chicago Tribune event for the first time. He will make his qualifying attempt tomorrow at the Cermak pool, one of the competitive centers. More than 100 boys and girls, entrants in five age divisions, will seek to qualify in Sherman park pool, 52d street and Racine avenue. Cermak pool is at 7600 Ogden avenue, Lyons.

Trials Close Sunday.

The qualifying round will be finished Sunday with trials in Whealan pool, Milwaukee and Devon avenues, and California park pool, 3901 North California avenue. Qualifiers, of whom there will be more than 100, will advance to the finals on Aug. 4 in Lincoln park lagoon.

Kiefer's Chicago Towers' club teammate, Otto Jaretz, men's national A. A. U. 100 and 220 yard free style champion, also is entered. Jaretz will make his qualifying effort Sunday in Whealan pool. Both are entered in the Class E, or senior division, for contestants 19 years old or over. Jaretz won the Class D championship last year. Kiefer was second to his teammate in the 220 yard free style event in the recent national A. A. U. title events in Santa Barbara, Cal. Kiefer's specialty is the backstroke. He broke 13 records in Santa Barbara where he won the all-around and medley titles.

Contestants from Four States.

The contestants will come from miles around, four states, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin, having representation. Among the hundreds are some who have won titles in previous years. Champions cannot compete in the same division a second time, altho winners in the lower age brackets are eligible to swim in higher classes.

Every contestant who finishes the 100 yard test will receive a bronze souvenir button. To the qualifiers will go gold medals. The ten champions crowned in the finals will be given gold medals, a practice maintained since 1931. Second and third place finishers receive silver and bronze medals, respectively.

60 from California Park.

California park, coached by Henry Kamienski, has the largest number of entries, 60. Next is the South Side Boys' club, coached by Al Williams, with 46. Bloomington Country club is sending 25, while the Midwest Athletic club and Naperville playgrounds will be represented by 18. A newcomer to the competition is the Oak Park Country club, which will send 15 into the water.

Classification is arranged as to age in both the boys' and girls' competition. The highest grouping is class E in the 19 years and over bracket. Other groups are: Class D, 17-18; class C, 15-16; class B, 13-14; class A, 11-12.

GOLFING STARS TEE OFF TODAY IN ST. PAUL OPEN

St. Paul, Minn., July 25 (AP).—Professional golfing stars tomorrow will begin carving up the cash and glory at the annual St. Paul Open.

Site of the event is the Keller course and just being even with a par in the 72 hole medal test probably won't get a player a very big slice of the $7,500 put up for prizes.

Dick Metz of Chicago, the defending champion, proved that to his own satisfaction when he slipped around the 72 holes in 270 strokes last year, a figure which stands as a competitive record for a par 72 course. A 288 total, even par, last year paid off only $70.

Eighteen holes will be played tomorrow, with an additional 18 Saturday and a windup 36 on Sunday.

As a preliminary to the opening of the tournament, visiting professionals teamed with Twin Cities women golfers in exhibition matches today.

Two teams tied for first place with 149. They were Metz and Ruth Seeger, St. Paul, and Little, and Margaret Barry, St. Paul.

Old Rivals of Women's Golf Battle Today

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Ellamae Williams of Medinah and Virginia Lindblad of Joliet, finalists in the 1939 state tournament, this morning will play an encore to that duel in the first semi-final match of the Chicago Women's District Golf association championship meet at the Northmoor Country club.

The second argument in the penultimate bracket will bring together Eleanor Dudley of Ridge and Janet Smith of Rockford in resumption of another old rivalry. Each has scored two victories in four previous competitive meetings.

Miss Williams, who recently won her second straight state crown, and is currently seeking a district double, moved along yesterday with a 3 and 2 decision over Rena Nelson, Exmoor star.

Late Rally by Ellamae.

It was no easy task the slim Miss Williams had, for she was only 1 up at the turn, after having taken the first two holes, one with a stymie negotiation, and she was only even after the 11th, whereat she bunkered her second shot. She took the next with a birdie, however, and then closed out the match with pars on the 15th and 16th, at each of which Miss Nelson was trapped.

Miss Lindblad, in order to arrange a second meeting with the girl who conquered her in the state meet last year, had to work to take a 3 and 2 battle from Mrs. Virginia Vilas Norton of Glen View. Miss Lindblad won the par 4 second with a 5, but the match was square after Mrs. Norton holed a 40 footer for a deuce at the 175 yard seventh. Miss Lindblad then took the 8th, 10th, 14th, and 17th, yielding the long 16th to her opponent, who nearly holed out for a birdie 4.

Miss Johnson Beaten.

The husky Miss Dudley, runner-up to Miss Williams for the state title last month, also had a busy morning before winning, 4 and 2, from Shirley Ann Johnson of Sunset Ridge. She won the second and fourth but found herself square after the fifth and sixth, both of which Shirley won. Eleanor then came back to take three of the next eight holes, and the match ended at the 540 yard 16th, where Miss Johnson drove out of bounds.

Miss Smith gained the final foursome with a 2 and 1 decision over Mrs. Frank Mayer of Lake Shore. They were even at the turn, Mrs. Mayer winning the ninth with a par to square it. Janet then won three of the next four holes, gave up the 15th, and halved the last two to conclude the match.

Finals in all flights except the championship, which will go 36 holes tomorrow, will be decided this morning.

Dave Olin led Ravisloe to a 21½ to 5½ victory over Olympia Fields as he shot a 68, two over par, for the best round of the interteam matches. Other leading shooters were: Sam Alpert, Idlewild, 74; J. M. Ragin, Jr., South Shore, 75, and Russ Martin, Flossmoor, 75.

Calumet, 81½; Idlewild, 72; Midlothian, 68; Ravisloe, 67; Olympia Fields, 65½; Beverly, 65; Flossmoor, 61½; South Shore, 59½.

A little scrambling among the second, third, and fourth place teams occurred in West District Golf league matches yesterday at Hinsdale, but Oak Park remained undisturbed as the leader, after burying Riverside, last year's champion, 23 to 4. This result dropped Riverside from second to fourth place. Westward Ho went from third to second, and Medinah moved up from fourth to third place. In the other matches Hinsdale defeated Westward Ho, 18 to 9; Glen Oak scored, 17½ to 9½, over Brookwood, and Medinah defeated Elmhurst, 16½ to 10½.

Fred Wagner of Westward Ho and Chuck McGuire tied at 74 for the lowest score. Team standings:

Storm Drives Chicago Race Yacht Ashore

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 25.—The 55 foot sloop Intrepid, owned by Roy M. Boyd of the Chicago Yacht club, was hard aground in three feet of water today as the result of a gale which swept the upper lake as an aftermath of the annual Chicago-Mackinac yacht race. Scores of other craft in the fleet returning to their home ports, were endangered by the wind and waves.

Just before the storm broke, the yawl Holiday, owned by John K. Grafton and flying the colors of the Burnham Park Yacht club, crossed the finish line, the last of the fleet to complete the 331 mile voyage.

Deck gear, cabin top, mast and rigging appear to be in good shape, according to Lieut. R. R Curry of the United States Coast Guard cutter Antietam, who inspected the yacht. He said it could not be determined whether the yacht was a total wreck, but it will be difficult to pull it off the rocky shore unless the heavy iron keel is unbolted first.

Small craft storm warnings for Lake Michigan and Lake Huron were hoisted here by the island coast guard station at 10 a. m. today for more bad weather.

The coast guard cutter Escanaba took the Gaviota in tow and headed her to Charlevoix, Mich. The sails of the Gaviota were torn, and her propeller fouled.

The Gaviota is a 68 foot yacht registered from Chicago. She is owned by Christ Lyngby, 8204 Kimbark avenue, and Harold Peters, 1935 West 101st place. There is a crew of twelve aboard.

Heat Wave.

A stifling day of enervating heat—
The seventh in a row this one has been;
Every one you meet's a bit on edge,
Nerves are jangled, starting to wear thin;
Laments, complaints are heard on every side—
All mankind droops beneath this torrid blight;
Then comes the most unkindest cut of all:

The beach, the hills, the motorboat, the car,
Long tinkling draughts of rickeys, lemonades,
The whiles we brood how put-upon we are;
My way of fighting heat is simply this:
I close my eyes and think of those in pain,
Row on row in countless hospitals,

KOVACS DEFEATS FRANKIE PARKER AT SEA BRIGHT

Sea Bright, N. J., July 25 (AP).—Frank Kovacs stroked to a brilliant three set victory today over Frankie Parker and a place in the semi-finals of the Sea Bright tennis tournament. Defending the title he won a year ago, Parker played near flawless tennis, but still absorbed a 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 beating at the hands of the 20 year old coast boy.

Into the semi-final round with Kovacs marched Bobby Riggs, national champion; Elwood T. Cooke, and Gilbert A. Hunt Jr., winners in prolonged tests. Riggs battled three sets to eliminate Henry Prusoff, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4. Hunt disposed of Sidney B. Wood Jr., 8-6, 1-6, 6-2, and Cooke turned back Gardner Mulloy, 8-6, 6-4. Tomorrow Riggs meets Hunt and Cooke faces Kovacs.

Survivors in the women's singles were idle, but in the doubles the teams of Alice Marble and Sarah Palfrey, and Dorothy May Bundy and Mary Arnold won their way to the finals.

LADY LUCK AIDS AS TIGERS WHIP SENATORS, 5 TO 2

Errors, Wild Pitch and Long Fly Factors.

Detroit, Mich., July 25 (AP).—Luck smiled on the Tigers today as they defeated the Washington Senators, 5 to 2. Costly Washington errors helped the Tigers to three runs. Harold Newhouser, pitching with a sore arm, won his season's eighth victory. Score:

NINE CATS (ALL BLACK) BREAK A LOSING STREAK

Manager Buzz Arlett scatted one of the cats toward Joplin's pitcher, Johnny Orr, in the first inning—then drove in two runs. In the ninth with the score 11-all, two out, and a runner on first, Arlett and his cat strolled to the plate again.

Before scoring in the fifth, Boston's chances were thinner than Paul Revere's famous horse. Williams got to second with none out on Webb's alleged error on a tough bounder in the second inning but the remainder of the inning proved easy for Knott. Di Maggio singled with two gone in the third and died stealing. In the fourth Cronin walked but not far. However, in the next inning it was a bit different. Doerr and Tabor led off with homers to left, putting Boston on the sunny side of a 2 to 1 count.

The White Sox Rebel.

Two were out in the home half of the fifth before the White Sox started to show they were dissatisfied. The first indication was Kreevich's two bagger to the left field corner, whereupon Kuhel, after looking over two unsatisfactory pitches, bounced the next toss by Bagby against the upper deck in right field for his 18th homer and a 4 to 2 edge.

For a few minutes in the sixth Knott indicated he might need help. Cramer and Cronin opened with singles but the three following batters failed to recognize opportunity. This threat gave the Chicagoans an idea that added protection for Knott was warranted, so in the home half Appling doubled with one out, went to third on a wild pitch and home on Kennedy's bounding single to Cronin.

Three hits in a row gave Knott his 5 to 2 advantage in the seventh. With one out Kuhel singled to right and rode home on Solters' triple to left center. Wright's single into center moved Solters to the counter. Knott retired Williams and Finney on infield taps in the ninth before his boss figured it might be advisable to make a change. Doerr singled and Tabor knocked his second homer of the day, also No. 15, into the left field seats, so Brown was brought to the rescue. He walked Spence, who batted for Glenn, and also walked Foxx, who swung for Mustaikis. Wagner ran for Foxx but his service wasn't needed because Di Maggio went after Brown's first pitch and popped it into Appling's hands.

Elmer Weingarten, an outfielder, joined the White Sox yesterday. He was called in from the Rayne, Louisiana, club of the Evangeline league because Manager Jim Dykes felt there was need for utility help.

Thanks, Charley

The Bees' press box array has been following the White Sox-Red Sox series in Chicago with more interest than the Cubs-Bees struggles here. And hearts have been bleeding for those who must toil in the heat. The temperatures have been in the 60's and 70's during the Cubs' stay here.

Bobby Mattick was not in uniform today. He was experiencing considerable pain from an instep injured on the bag at second in yesterday's game.

CANADIANS LIFT BAN ON HUNTING BY AMERICANS

Ease Wartime Rules on Carrying Firearms.

After worried weeks the guides in Canada's tall timbers today hung that sign on their log cabins. The federal government had just amended regulations which would have cost them their best customers—the American sportsmen who flock across the border each fall to bag big game in northern forests.

Sometime ago an order was passed prohibiting aliens from carrying or having possession of firearms. This was put into effect as a war measure. Thereupon guides notified their American hunters that they would be unable to book parties this autumn.

They Need the Money.

But this war is being fought with silver bullets as well as lead. American sportsmen bring foreign exchange to Canada—exchange needed to buy airplanes and other supplies in the United States. One of the things the government least wanted to do was to keep this American money from coming into the country. There was a sentimental angle, too. Canadians had no desire to impose hardship on welcome visitors whose habit for years has been to hunt game in this country in the fall.

Americans must, however, go thru a simple formality. It consists of applying in advance to H. D. Scully, commissioner of Canadian customs, or Commissioner S. T. Wood, of the Royal Canadian mounted police, both of Ottawa, either by letter or wire, and applying for permission to bring firearms into the dominion and to use them while here.

What You Must Tell.

Letters or wires should give the following details about the applicant: Name, address, occupation, purpose and duration of visit, destination in Canada; description, make and serial number of each gun, and Canadian frontier port of arrival. Permits will be forwarded to the customs officers at the port designated, to be delivered to the visitor on his arrival. There is no fee for this service.

Visitors who arrive at the frontier with firearms for which no permit has been obtained in advance will have to leave them at the customs office until the requisite permit has been obtained. But if they wish they may wire an application from the point of entry, have the permit mailed to their destination, and receive their guns there via express.

All Iowa for Anderson in Coaches Poll

manager of the Waterloo-Three-Eye team, a White Sox farm, is a strong Anderson fan. Bedore recalls the days when Anderson played with the Chicago Cardinals in Comiskey park.

The Waterloo total also will be increased by votes from Cedar Falls, six miles distant, the site of Iowa's only state teachers college; Waverly, Oelwein, and Grundy Center. At Oelwein last week, in a fight as hot as the weather, a proposal was defeated to sell bonds to establish a municipal power plant. Despite this furious local battle, the steady stream of votes for Iowa's football players and Dr. Anderson continued unabated.

Every One Works.

As any politician will testify, a campaign is no stronger than its precinct committeemen. In Waterloo, professional men, students, business men, hotel men, managers of theaters, boxing promoters and Iowa alumni are gathering Anderson votes. There seem to be no generals in this army.

Bob Kelley, manager of the President hotel, one of the many polling places, is said to be the strongest booster for Anderson in town. This description is somewhat like a layman's comparison of molten iron and lava—they're both too hot to judge.

The Strand and Paramount theaters of the Tri-State circuit, have turned in a tremendous vote. Petitions are available at the Hotel Russell Lamson, of which Lewis Horner is manager. Mike MacElroy of Station WMT, Waterloo, has pushed the campaign thruout. Andy George, Waterloo boxing promoter, a brother of Pinky George of Des Moines, insists on a vote for Anderson before selling a ticket.

Take Active Parts.

Jack Warner, secretary of the chamber of commerce; Dr. H. O. Gardner, Dr. Clark Cooper, and Dr. F. Harold Entz, Iowa men, and Dr. Fred Lohman, an Iowa half back in the '20's who won all-western honors, have had active parts in the civic expression of Coach Anderson's popularity.

Ronald Reed, former Iowa football captain and last of the great ends who played under Howard Jones; Jim Graham, who played under Burt Ingwersen and Ossie Solem; Leo Leeper, prominent Iowa alumnus, and his daughter, Peg, who attended the university last year, and Ben Butler, Waterloo attorney who was president of the Iowa Alumni association in 1939, form another group of workers.

United by One Purpose.

Then there are Bob Case, former student; Ed Wenner, former county attorney and an Iowa graduate, and Leonard Raffensperger, and Glenn Strobridge, who coach Waterloo's two high school football teams.

All are united by single purpose. They are getting out the Waterloo vote for Eddie Anderson. And, as Ed Moore says, they are demonstrating the solidarity of the state.

Futurity First Test of Season for Juveniles

at Arlington Park, Attention and Swing and Sway have attracted particularly favorable notice from the clockers. Both are sons of Equipoise, which set the world's record for a mile at Arlington Park.

Vanderbilt arrived from the east yesterday and watched his colt, New World, jog around the track. Most of the candidates were asked for little in the way of speed, a notable exception being Whirlaway. He went the five-eighths in 1 minute, covering the half in 47 seconds.

Blinkers on Whirlaway.

Trainer Ben Jones had to send Whirlaway back to the barn for blinkers after he bolted toward the outer rail twice when the exercise boy gave him the signal to start running.

With the blinkers on, however, he went thru his move of five-eighths without any attempt at running out. It will be recalled that in his first victory at Lincoln Fields he went wide and finished after the manner of Andy K, far out near the fence, but this was believed to be merely a temporary tendency of a green youngster.

John Marsch's Blue Flyer outfinished Milky Way farm's Royal Edict in a hard stretch duel to win the Fox Lake purse, main event on yesterday's program. Young and Rogers' Soup and Fish was a fast closing third.

BRITISH REJECT SCHEME TO BRING DOGS TO AMERICA

Anyhow, Who Would Pay the $6,250,000 Cost?

BY BOB BECKER.

American dog fanciers are not going to get free dogs from England, even tho a recent proposal to import British refugee dogs and give them homes here was aired on the radio and given much publicity in newspapers and magazines. Thousands of Americans who saw the stories or heard the radio program thought it would be a simple matter to apply for a purebred English dog and get it for nothing, at least for the duration of the war.

A pet magazine published in Chicago conceived the laudable but wholly impractical idea of bringing thousands of English dogs to America and placing them in good homes.

Get Deluge of Pleas.

As soon as nation-wide publicity on the plan was released newspapers, radio stations, dog magazines, kennel clubs, and humane societies were deluged with requests from persons who wanted to get beautiful purebreds from England. This department received scores of these calls. From as far away as Florida came one letter asking how to proceed to get a beautiful English cocker.

An investigation of this "bring the dogs from England" proposal reveals these facts: First, the English are not keen about sending their best dogs to America. The latest information from the British Isles indicates that the dogs are doing pretty well on a diet consisting mostly of rabbit meat and fish.

Secondly, the English embassy has denied that it is interested in the idea or coöperating on a plan of evacuating dogs. Children come first in any comprehensive plan for evacuations, with aged and infirm second, horses third, and dogs fourth on the list.

English Reject Plan.

The English Kennel club rejected the plan for sending dogs to this country as impractical. The American Kennel club was not a party to the idea, but has been harassed by thousands of letters and calls from dog breeders and the general public.

The impracticability of the idea is indicated by an estimate of the cost of shipping [for example] 1,500,000 dogs across the water. One dog authority figures that it would cost about $6,250,000, or $25 a dog, to crate, ship, maintain the records on, and find American homes for the English dogs.

We wonder who would furnish the $6,250,000 for this job and a similar sum to send the dogs back to England after the war is over.

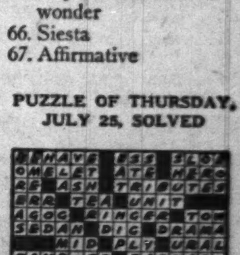
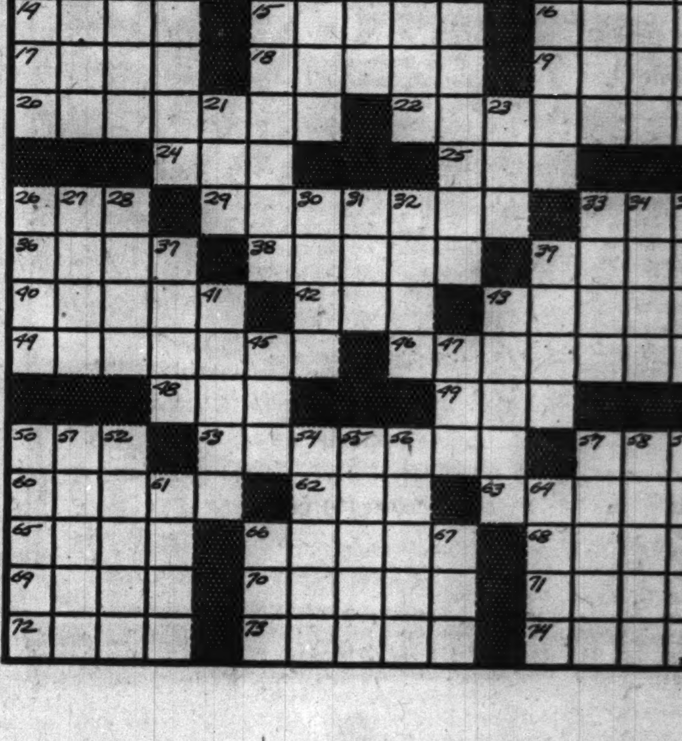
PUZZLE OF THURSDAY, JULY 25, SOLVED





Chicago Daily Tribune
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER
FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1940.

PROFIT BOOSTED BY BETHLEHEM AND CHRYSLER

Steel Firm Quarter Best in 11 Years.

Sharply increased earnings were reported yesterday by Bethlehem Steel corporation and Chrysler corporation—two of the nation's largest enterprises engaged, respectively, in steel and automobile manufacturing.

Bethlehem earned $10,807,318, or $3.07 a share, on the common stock, in the second 1940 quarter, compared with $3,822,927, or 61 cents a share, in the second quarter of 1939. The 1940 figure was the largest for any second quarter since 1929.

Chrysler earned $30,494,274, equal to $7.01 a share, on the common stock, in the first half of this year, compared with $25,345,771, or $5.83 a share, in the first half of 1939.

Both Declare Dividends.

Directors of both companies declared dividends of $1.25 a share on their common shares. The Bethlehem dividend is payable Sept. 3 to stock of record Aug. 9, and the Chrysler dividend is payable Sept. 12 to stock of record Aug. 12. Bethlehem paid a similar amount in June and $1 a share in January, and Chrysler has paid $1.25 a share in recent quarters.

Eugene G. Grace (left) and K. T. Keller, who reported big gains in Bethlehem and Chrysler earnings.

Bethlehem earned $10,891,139 in the first quarter of this year, equal to $3.02 a share on the common stock. The larger per share earnings in the second quarter, despite the lower profit than in the first quarter of this year, resulted from retirement of the company's 5 per cent preferred stock in April. Indicated earnings of the big steel company for the first six months of this year were $21,698,457, equal to $6.09 a share, against $6,231,986, or 78 cents a share, in the first half of 1939.

A Leader in Shipbuilding.

Eugene G. Grace, Bethlehem's president, said the increased earnings did not reflect the nation's defense program in which the company is slated to take a major part. Unfilled orders at the end of June were at an all time high for a peace period, he said. Orders in July have been running 30 to 40 per cent above the company's current production, which is at 99 per cent of theoretical capacity.

Unfilled orders on June 30 totaled $288,521,487, against $255,802,117 on March 31 and $184,921,081 on June 30, 1939. Orders for about $200,000,000 for warships were received by the company after June 30.

Facilities To Be Increased.

Commenting on the government's defense program, Grace said that the capacity of the shipyards handling naval and shipbuilding will have to be increased greatly. The labor to man the increased facilities will be obtained thru training, he said.

Plants for the production of guns and munitions must be enlarged, Grace said, and extensive enlargements must be made at the plants producing armor plate.

Enlargement of all these various plants will require a lot of money, Grace said. He discussed the question as to where the money is to be obtained.

"I do not think that we have a right, nor do we care to spend the stockholders' money," Grace stated. "Therefore it must come in one of two ways—either the government must supply the money or it must permit private interests who will provide the money to get sufficient business and make sufficient profits to compensate them for creating these facilities."

Chrysler's Gains Told.

Chrysler's report, made by K. T. Keller, president, indicated that the company's second quarter business was nearly as large as that of the first 1940 quarter. Normally there is a summer slackening.

For the first quarter, Chrysler reported net profit of $15,742,387. On the basis of $30,494,274 for the half year, the net for the June period would be $14,751,887, or $3.39 a share. This would be the best for the period since 1937, when profit was $16,542,307.

Sales by Chrysler and subsidiaries for the half year established a new peak, aggregating $422,643,281, compared with $342,788,293 for the first half of last year and with the former record of $409,687,254 in the January-June period of 1937.

Insurance Society Enters 82d Year; 4 Billions Paid

New York, July 25 [Special].—Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, which will enter its eighty-second year of business tomorrow, has paid to policy holders and their beneficiaries a total of $4,475,313,610, Thomas I. Parkinson, president, said today.

Nash, Other Firms Report Rising Profit

Quarterly earnings also showed a substantial rise. Net income for the three months ended June 30 was $901,939, or 21 cents a common share, against $108,264, or 3 cents a share, in the corresponding 1939 period. A provision of $251,000 was made for federal income taxes for the nine month period, the company said.

Can Firm Does Better.

Earnings of Continental Can Co., Inc., and its wholly owned subsidiaries, for the 12 months ended June 30 totaled $14,088,386, the company reported. After provision of $5,208,758 for depreciation, depletion and federal taxes, $7,979,628 was available for common stock, being equal to $2.80 a share. This compared with $7,230,142, or $2.21 a share, after similar deductions in the 1939 period.

Chicago Yellow Cab Co., Inc., had net profit of $100,912 in the six months ended June 30, compared with $52,872 in the first half of 1939. For the second quarter net income was $23,509, compared with $6,826 a year earlier.

Pittsburgh Coal Reports.

Pittsburgh Coal company, the nation's largest commercial soft coal producer, reported net profit of $448,937 in the year ended June 30, against a net loss of $2,494,711 in the preceding year. Sales totaled $39,305,385 in the latest year, against $34,727,517.

Consolidated profit of $1,734,344 in the year ended June 30 was reported by the Baldwin Locomotive works. In the preceding 12 months the company had net loss of $1,988,666.

Babcock & Wilcox company, maker of boilers, reported net profit of $1,474,905, or $2.19 a common share, in the six months ended June 30, against a net loss of $636,620 in the first half of 1939.

Youngstown Sheet Net Up.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and its subsidiaries reported net profit of $1,169,283, or 57 cents a common share, for the quarter ended June 30, against $329,086, or 7 cents a share, in the second quarter last year. For the six months ended June 30, net profit was $2,423,212, or $1.20 a common share, against $546,193, or 8 cents a share, in the first half of 1939.

International Business Machines corporation had net profit of $4,535,482, or $5.05 a common share on 898,178 shares outstanding, in the six months ended June 30. This compared with $4,392,356, or $5.13 a common share on 855,408 shares, in the first half of 1939. Profits this year excluded $958,364 blocked foreign net income, while in the first half of 1939 this figure was $569,549.

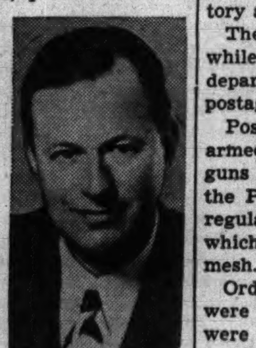
Terms Plane Goal Possible If Army Acts

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25 [Special].—Robert E. Gross, president of the 170 million dollar Lockheed Aircraft corporation, today declared that the American aviation industry can produce 40,000 to 60,000 planes a year if it is permitted—and helped—to proceed with an ironclad, eight point program.



Robert E. Gross.

Basically, Gross asked that present army-navy procurement methods be simplified; that action be started on training unemployed for national defense industrial jobs, and that recently enacted legislation be reinterpreted to permit aircraft plants to defray emergency expansion costs without seriously menacing their economic life.

He said that the aviation industry's present 15 million square feet of factory space probably must be boosted to more than 50 million square feet to meet the national need.

Demands Simplified Orders.

Given the physical equipment the manufacturer declared: "What I want is a subcommittee of the national defense council [Knudsen committee] to sit down with the army and navy and simplify specifications, relax tolerance, and recommend to congress procurement legislation that will let us go crosslots to that objective."

Gross said the present "complicated government methods of buying an airpalne" is, as far as he knows, the most involved procedure of any United States business. He blamed "laws which suspicious politicians enacted," and "meager appropriations" which have forced procurement officials to get the last ounce out of every pound of material they have bought.

"They have been subjected to a system which has grown up like a Frankenstein to choke us in our hour of need and which must be broken wide open before our army and our industries can get going," Gross asserted.

Assails Curb on Profits.

He charged that congress has been "encouraged to put thru legislation by the American people who have been afraid that some shipbuilding company, some airplane company, or some tank making company would make a nickel here and there, or that an army officer would be 'sold a bill of goods,' or that a piston would be a 10,000th of an inch out of the way and thus violate a contract."

The Lockheed president's second major point involved training scores of thousands of new, skilled men to work beside the aviation industry's present 75,000 employés.

Public schools and "cantonments," he said, must be pressed into service for the teaching of thousands of people on relief a trade—or at least "how to lubricate a tank or run a Diesel engine."

Urges Broad Profits Tax.

Thirdly, legislation which "singles out an industry" for cost and profit regulation must be replaced by outright excess profits taxes "which will siphon the top off the whole industrial program," Gross said.

His entire eight point program, chronologically, called for determination of what-and-how-many planes are needed; simplification of procurement; survey of present facilities to decide what emergency equipment must be built; planning for the financing of this physical expansion; the actual placement of orders; "enlightenment" of employers, workers, and stockholders of the task at hand; personnel training; erection of the new factories and installation of equipment.

Gross outlined details of the factory expansion program of Lockheed and its subsidiary, the Vega Airplane company. Total cost will be about $8,500,000.

Canadian Munitions Outlay $65,800,000 in 3 Months

OTTAWA, Ont., July 25 [Special].—War contracts placed by the Canadian department of munitions in the last three months now amount to $65,800,000, plus $50,000,000 in commitments for plant construction and extension, the department announced today.

$120,000,000 OF GOLD MAILED TO FT. KNOX; POSTAGE COMES HIGH

New York, July 25 (AP).—Gold bars worth $120,000,000—the first of a $5,000,000,000 consignment—were loaded into baggage cars tonight for shipment by mail to the federal depository at Fort Knox, Ky.

The postoffice department, meanwhile, prepared to bill the treasury department for $1,000,000 worth of postage for the 5 billion shipment.

Postal inspectors and soldiers armed with rifles and submachine guns convoyed the yellow "pigs" to the Pennsylvania railroad station in regular United States mail trucks, which had no armor other than wire mesh.

Ordinary registered mail stamps were used for payment, altho they were not affixed to the ingots. The transfer was ordered to relieve New York vaults, bulging with recent shipments from Europe.

Gold weighs roughly a ton per $1,000,000. Each bar, about the size and shape of a brick, was packed in an individual wooden crate.

After the new shipments Fort Knox will have about half of the nation's $20,360,000,000 of gold.

DENIES AIRPLANE CONTRACT WAS OFFERED TO FORD

San Francisco, Cal., July 25 (AP).—The Ford Motor company never rejected any proposal of the national defense commission for manufacture of airplane engines, because the reported "offer" was never made, W. J. Cameron, Ford spokesman, said today.

Cameron said negotiations for Ford production of Rolls-Royce aviation engines did not get within three months of agreement before they were discontinued.

[In Washington, the defense commission asserted the Ford company was offered a contract for airplane engines, and that Edsel Ford had accepted and said his father had approved.]

"No contract was ever offered us," Cameron said, in an interview. "The administration has no idea what it wants manufactured."

Henry Ford, founder of the company, after declaring his plants capable of producing 1,000 engines a day, withdrew from negotiations with the defense commission headed by William S. Knudsen after learning that part of the proposed output would go to Great Britain.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC DECLINES BUT IS STILL ABOVE '39

Loadings of revenue freight declined 10,568 cars last week, or 1.4 per cent from the preceding week, to a total of 729,897 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Freight traffic, however, continued to show a gain over the corresponding 1938 and 1939 periods. Loadings last week were 78,232 cars, or 12 per cent, larger than in the corresponding week in 1939, and 149,079 cars, or 25.7 per cent larger than in the 1938 week.

Reduced loadings of coal, grain, live stock and miscellaneous freight resulted in the decline from the preceding week. Shipments of live stock and less than carload freight were less than a year ago.

Loadings of the various commodities compared as follows:

Act to Speed Rapid Writeoff of War Plants

Secretary Henry Morgenthau and general counsel Edward H. Foley Jr. explained at a press conference that if a factory to make defense materials is built on rented ground, the cost of the new plant can be amortized in the same number of years as the rental contract runs. This, they said, can be a short number of years, since the rental contract can be made for any period, with renewal clauses.

Owner May Be "Dummy."

They disclosed that they have already approved one such proposal whereby the Reconstruction Finance corporation has agreed to buy a tract of land and lease it to an unnamed company for eight years. The treasury has promised the company that it can amortize the new factory in the same eight years.

The same procedure may be used if some other corporation owns the land and rents it to the manufacturer. The landowner, Foley said, might even be a "dummy" corporation set up by the manufacturing company.

President Roosevelt has recommended to congress that companies building new factories exclusively for national defense purposes be given the right to amortize their costs in five years.

Has Effect on Income Taxes.

Normally, real estate must be amortized for tax purposes over the period of its probable life. Thus, a factory likely to stand for 20 years must be amortized over 20 years.

This means that in computing income taxes, the company could deduct from its profits each year only one-twentieth of the money it has already spent to build the factory. Manufacturers, fearing that useless factories might be left on their hands if the defense program should be completed in a few years, asked permission to offset the construction costs against profits in periods as short as four or five years.

VARYING STATE LAWS TERMED TRUCK BARRIER

The greatest obstacle to the effective use of motor transport in the nation's rearmament and national defense activities is the multiplicity of state laws and regulations governing trucks, Harry F. Chaddick, president of the American Transportation association, said yesterday. He spoke before the Central Lions Club of Chicago.

He said that the situation has become so serious, with states evading conflict with interstate commerce regulations by cloaking their actions as exercise of police or quarantine powers, that the trade barrier issue has become a national one. Ports of entry, which amount to virtual customs houses, slow truck operations.

STEEL LANDING MATS FOR WAR PLANES BOUGHT

McKeesport, Pa., July 25 (AP).—Reliance Steel Products company has been commissioned by the war department to make 400 tons of steel for specially designed airplane "landing mats" for use at Langley field, Va.

Ordered on an experimental basis as part of the national defense program, the mats can be used for emergency plane landings in the absence of permanent fields, or where landing surfaces have been smashed by bombardment.

The mats are made in six-foot square units, any number of which may be fastened together for a smooth surface. They may be taken apart quickly for transportation.

SEALED BIDS will be received by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey at Washington, D. C., until 2 p. m., September 3, 1940, and then opened, for the construction of one 1500-ton steel survey ship, powered with a 2,000 H. P. steam turbine. CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE WILL WAIVE LIST FEE

Limited Step Taken to Get New Issues.

The board of governors of the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday voted to waive until Dec. 31 the usual fees for original listing of securities except those issues now listed on the New York Stock exchange which have never been traded here, Arthur M. Betts, board chairman, announced.

New York listed stocks which at one time were listed on the Chicago exchange and issues for which nearly simultaneous original listing applications are filed with the two exchanges will be eligible for the waiver.

Seek to Boost Volume.

The board in its action approved the first recommendation of the special committee appointed last Monday to study plans for stimulating volume on the Chicago exchange. The appointment at the time was interpreted as a further widening of the breach between the two exchanges. The New York market has been taking steps to prevent business from shifting to other markets.

Under the Chicago exchange's new rule for listings the executive committee will determine whether the waiver is applicable in cases involving consolidation, exchanges of capital stock, or other cases requiring interpretation.

Urging members to assist in obtaining new listings, Betts said that "an exchange market place affords important advantages to both the corporation and its stockholders." He said completion of further plans for development of the Chicago exchange "will enhance the desirability of listing on our exchange."

Committee Reviews Situation.

In its first report to the board, the special committee of nine said:

"The number of original applications being received by our exchange is negligible. In recent years, the character of exchange markets has changed to predominantly cash investment transactions with a minimum of speculative turnover.

"The value of listing to a corporation and its stockholders, particularly the smaller companies, must be freshly and critically appraised. Furthermore, the exchange has a public duty to do all in its power to facilitate the flow of capital into industry."

Last Revision in 1938.

"The last revision of the listing fees schedule of the Chicago Stock exchange was made in August, 1938, at which time reductions then considered liberal were made," it continued. "It would be impossible today to gauge what further reductions would be equitable and yet produce promptly the results desired. Moreover, with the present stagnation, no halfway measures should be risked."

The break by the Chicago exchange with the New York market followed the announcement that, effective Sept. 1, members of the New York exchange would be forbidden to act in any other exchange as specialists or odd lot dealers in any securities also listed in New York. The rule affects a number of brokers who are members of both the New York and Chicago exchanges.

AIR LINES BREAK ALL-TIME MARK IN JUNE TRAFFIC

American commercial air lines set an all-time record for revenue passenger miles in June, it was announced yesterday by Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America.

The total during the month was 101,172,222 passenger miles. This represented an increase of 10,509,684, or 11.59 per cent over the previous peak month of May, 1940. The increase over June, 1939, was 37,595,897 miles, or 59.14 per cent.

During the first six months of this year a total of 453,077,175 passenger miles was flown, as compared with 278,353,321 during the same period last year. This represented an increase of 62.77 per cent over the first half of 1939.

A comparison of revenue passenger miles by months follows:

235,000 FIND INDUSTRIAL JOBS IN ONE MONTH

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP).—The department of labor said today that 235000 jobs in nonagricultural industries were filled from mid-May to mid-June, sending employment to a 1940 peak, 368,000 below the 1939 high spot reached in December.

The June total of persons working in nonagricultural industries was placed at 35,465,000, which was 921,000 more than in June last year.

The labor department said that while defense work accounted for a considerable portion of the gain there had been a general upswing in jobs as evidenced by a 50,000 increase in factory employment in June compared with a customary decline of about 60,000.

Venezuela Oil May Be Factor in a Long War

[This is the fourth of a series of articles on the economic aspects of the relations of the United States and the countries of South and Central America.]

(A map of South America showing the principal export products of the countries and distribution of their foreign trade in 1939 is on the back page.)

The economic upheavals of the war have had mixed effects on the smaller South American countries—Venezuela, Peru, Uruguay, Paraguay, and Ecuador.

The production and exports of some have been stimulated. Others have suffered the loss of important European markets thru blockades and import restrictions and now face the problem of finding other outlets. As in the case of certain larger South American nations, many of the principal production-export commodities are those produced abundantly not only in the United States but in Canada, so the possibility of finding new markets to the north is limited.

Oil a Principal Resource.

Altho so far there have been no definite indications of benefits, Venezuela stands to gain most among the smaller countries from the war, especially a long war. Oil is the country's main industry and oil is vital to modern warfare. Great Britain requires an estimated 250,000 barrels a day, all of which must be imported, to keep her fighting machine going.

Last year Venezuela produced 208,400,000 barrels of oil, 10 per cent of the world's supply. About 75 per cent of this was refined at three big refineries at Curacao and Aruba in the nearby Dutch West Indies. With her Rumanian source gone and the Mediterranean no longer open for uninterrupted shipments from the oil fields of Iran and Iraq, Great Britain has started to look elsewhere.

Adding to Britain's oil problems, the important Iran-Iraq sources themselves are in danger. The Tripoli, Syria, pipeline terminus from the Iraq fields has been reported closed with the French surrender and the Italians have been bombing Haifa, Palestine, terminus of the other line from that area.

British Guard Refineries.

It is believed that the British, anticipating such curtailment, placed large oil orders with Curacao and Aruba refineries upon Italy's entry into the war. British armed protection of these refineries during the last two months indicates that she regards Venezuelan oil as an ace in the hole, probably to be shipped to Canada, then transshipped across the North Atlantic.

Oil may thus be the answer to the slump in the market for coffee, Venezuela's second most important product, and the dislocation of German markets. Germany in 1938 took about $9,000,000 of Venezuelan exports, and in turn furnished $11,600,000 in imports. Great Britain slightly exceeded Germany in exports that year, but her shipments to Venezuela were only a little more than half of those of Germany. The United States, however, dominated Venezuelan trade, taking 15 per cent of the country's total exports of $278,000,000, and supplying 55 per cent of the $97,700,000 in total imports of textiles, automobiles, foodstuffs, and building materials.

Peru Loses Cotton Outlet.

Peru, territorially the third largest country in South America, is primarily agricultural. It consequently suffered a severe blow with the loss of the German market for cotton. Increased shipments of cotton to Japan, however, helped reduce this economic setback and sugar and wool exports increased favorably. In spite of a prosperous agricultural outlook for this year, Peru will suffer from the British blockade in the long run and must turn to a greater extent to its mining and oil industries, which already have been stimulated. The country has the world's chief vanadium deposits and ranks 10th in copper production. Oil is exploited mainly by foreign interests.

U. S. Investment Large.

The United States has investments of over $200,000,000 in this country, but all bond issues have been in default for several years. Of Peru's total exports of $71,707,000 in 1939, the United States took 30.4 per cent, and accounted for 41 per cent of its imports of $48,088,000. Great Britain and Germany were well under half these figures.

Paraguay and Uruguay are in much the same situation as Peru. Both are agricultural nations and are in a position to benefit from any price increases and food needs occasioned by

COURT BARS TAX LEVY ON UTILITY HOLDING FIRM

Enjoins Collection on Intangibles.

A permanent injunction restraining the county treasurer from collecting 1938 personal property taxes from the Standard Gas & Electric company, a holding company controlling one of the largest public utility systems in the country, was ordered yesterday by Judge John J. Lupe of the Superior court in Chicago.

Judge John J. Lupe.

The decision involves $618,000 in taxes levied on the company's securities and property that year. It will also affect the 1937 levy of $875,000, since both phases of the litigation are almost identical. Judge Lupe's order does not apply to taxes on the company's tangible property, but only to the securities, or intangibles.

Moved Because of Taxes.

Yesterday's ruling may help pave the way for the return of the company's headquarters to Chicago. The company moved its headquarters to New York in April, 1939, blaming Illinois personal property tax laws for the shift. The Middle West corporation, another big utility holding company, had moved to Delaware the year before, giving tax burdens as its reason. The first opening for their return, however, came last August when the legislature amended property tax laws that applied to both organizations.

Judge Lupe's decision was based on a recent Illinois Supreme court ruling that the intangibles of nonresident corporations are not subject to taxation in this state provided that the corporations have been assessed on the tangible property within the state. The amendment passed last year provided for the taxation of intangibles of foreign corporations doing business in the state, but only to the extent of intangibles within the state and actually used in transacting business.

Plea Previously Denied.

Judge Lupe previously had denied Standard Gas an injunction on the grounds that the company had acquired a business location in Illinois and came under its laws.

The company, in seeking the injunction against the county treasurer, had contended that its intangibles were not subject to taxation because there was no statute authorizing an assessment.

Judge Lupe held yesterday that taxation must be by statutory authority, and found that prior to last year's amendment taxing bodies had no authority to tax intangibles of a nonresident corporation.

Since Standard Gas is solely a holding company, all of its assets are in the form of intangibles, except office furniture and fixtures. The company's 1938 tax schedule listed only $12,000 in personal property, but the county assessor included securities in the schedule and arrived at an assessment of about $28,000,000. This was cut subsequently by some $10,000,000 by the board of tax appeals.

Attorneys said that Judge Lupe's ruling will have the effect of defining the limits of the statutory amendment. The state's attorney's office announced that it will appeal the decision.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, July 25 (AP).—Traders continued hesitant in the stock market today. A mild rally near the close gave a lift to selected steels, motors, and specialties. There were more declines than gains, however.

Leading issues edged up at the start, fell back and went thru intervals of aimless wandering. A moderate stiffening of prices late was attributed partly to the belief of some the list again was "oversold."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .1 of a point at 41.3 against a decline of .2 in the preceding session. Activity picked up slightly now and then and transfers amounted to 244,800 shares compared with yesterday's 22 year low volume of 195,200.

Bethlehem Steel ran up a point in the final hour and United States Steel gained ⅜. The former's directors after the close voted $1.25 a share on the common, but second quarter earnings of $3.07 a share were a bit under expectations.

Chrysler jumped 2⅛. After the exchange closed the company announced six months' net of $7.01 a share. In the like 1939 period $5.83 was earned. The showing was said to have been "up to or better" than predicted.

General Motors was ⅛ ahead as new car sales for some manufacturers in the second 10 days of July were estimated to have topped the 1939 period by about 60 per cent. New York Central, Pennsylvania, and Santa Fe advanced despite a more than seasonal drop in last week's freight loadings.

Among gainers of fractions were Anaconda, Glenn Martin, Loft, du Pont, General Electric, United States Rubber, and Sears Roebuck.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 25 (AP).—Selected industrial bonds advanced today. Up fractions at the close were Anaconda Copper 4½s at 103⅝, Armour 4s of '55 at 101, Bethlehem Steel 3½s at 106⅝, Consolidated Oil convertible 3½s at 106, and Firestone Tire 3½s at 105¼.

Elsewhere in the corporate list small gains and losses about balanced each other, with tendencies to ease most pronounced among medium or low priced issues.

Fractional declines were shown for American and Foreign Power 5s at 49, Columbia Gas and Electric 5s of '61 at 104¼, and Commonwealth Edison convertible 3½s at 120.

United States government issues closed 15-32ds of a point lower to 2-32ds higher. Foreign issues were irregular.

The tendency of investors to hold the sidelines pending further European war developments again restricted dealings, and sales aggregated $3,150,150, compared with $3,628,700 Wednesday.

Chicago Stocks.

Declines outnumbered gains on the Chicago stock exchange yesterday. Trading continued light, with sales totaling 9,000 shares. Eddy Paper closed 1 point higher at 16 for the largest increase among the volume leaders.

Bank Stocks.

First National shares dipped 4 points and American National gained 3 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Harris Trust advanced 2 points and City National and Continental Illinois were off a point each. Other leading issues were unchanged.

Commodities

Futures prices of several major commodities advanced yesterday, with traders inclined to assume purchases on the basis of the recent drop in values.

Leading interests in the custom smelter division of the copper industry reported that a substantial demand has developed for electrolytic copper and that sales were made at 10½ cents a pound. Sales was reported large. Futures advanced 0.07 to 0.10 cent a pound.

Trade buying boosted wool top futures to the highest levels since late June and turnover was the largest in several weeks. Scarcity of offerings aided the advance. Buying developed in anticipation of government orders incident to the conscription bill. Final prices were 3.2 to 3.5 cents a pound higher, with October at 92.9 cents. Wholesale prices on standard tops advanced 2 cents a pound to 98 cents.

Crude rubber futures closed unchanged to more than ½ cent a pound higher with September finishing at 19.51 cents. Smoked ribbed rubber moved up to 22.13 cents in the wholesale market.

Raw hide futures, principal center of activity in the staples markets in recent weeks, advanced as much as ¼ cent with sale aggregating 8,280,000 pounds. The September futures closed at 9.05 cents a pound.

Lead futures rose 0.07 to 0.08 cent a pound as new demand developed in the cash market. Sales totaled 60,000 pounds. While there were no sales of zinc or tin futures, cash tin prices advanced to 51.50 cents a pound.

Cocoa futures, which had been establishing new lows for the year earlier in the week, advanced 0.01 to 0.02 cent a pound with the September delivery closing nominally at 4.16 cents.

RAIN FORECAST BRINGS DECLINE IN CORN PRICES

Trading in wheat futures was slow with the close ½ to ⅝ cent lower in sympathy with corn. Oats finished unchanged to ¼ cent lower. Rye was 1 to 1¼ cents lower. Commission houses were fair buyers of soy beans with the close ⅛ to ⅜ cents higher.

Temperatures of 100 and over were reported Wednesday at all stations in Iowa and Nebraska reporting to the weather bureau. Reports to Chicago commission houses covering the greater part of Illinois and Iowa, and parts of Indiana indicated that a few more days of torrid weather without rain would result in heavy damage, but so far the corn crop had withstood the heat in good shape.

Crop experts said that with few exceptions the reports indicated that good rains at once would repair the most of the damage sustained by the crop to date.

The department of agriculture estimated that stocks of old wheat in interior mills, elevators, and warehouses on July 1 totaled 33,730,000 bushels. This compared with 36,631,000 bushels a year ago and a 1929-'38 average of 38,092,000.

COTTON

Mills were reported to have been fair buyers of cotton futures yesterday and with a lack of selling pressure, closing trades in American markets showed gains of .01 to .05 cent a pound.

Spot cotton closed .05 cent lower to .05 cent higher with New Orleans, 10.30 cents; New York, 10.28 cents; Galveston, 9.70 cents, and Houston at 9.65 cents a pound. Prices follow:

MOVIE EXTRAS 'CREATE,' LABOR EXAMINER TOLD

Attorney Claims Output Is Not Standardized.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—When such high salaried movie stars as Greta Garbo and Mickey Rooney or the lowest paid extras go before the camera to act out a scene they are engaging in a creative art. They are exercising discretion and judgment, despite the presence of the director, and their "output" cannot be standardized.

Therefore they are not entitled to time and a half overtime pay should they be kept on the set for more than 42 hours per week, Homer I. Mitchell, counsel for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., told a special examiner for the National Wages and Hours administration.

Seek Redefinitions.

It was the first session in the last of a series of hearings held by the wages and hours division as a result of numerous petitions seeking to have redefined words in the fair labor standards act used to describe employés exempt from the minimum wages and maximum hour provisions.

The 10 leading Hollywood producers, Mitchell said, employ a total of 18,541 workers, of which 13,153 are ordinary craftsmen and undisputedly are covered by the act. These are the only ones now regulated as to minimum wages and overtime pay.

About the remaining 5,338, which includes actors, the producers' representative stated, there is some question whether they could be brought under the act as it now stands. Broad revision of the definitions for administrative, executive and professional workers was suggested to avoid future disputes.

Average Pay $500 a Week.

"The act specifically mentions laboring conditions," Mitchell said. "The idea was to help little fellows who couldn't help themselves. No one is sweating movie actors. Their average pay is $500 per week, so there isn't any question about minimum pay.

"But some actors never went to a dramatic school to get professional training. They are always subject to direction and they must report on the set at a certain time. These facts might take them out of the professional class as described in the existing act.

"The same is true of certain other movie employés—directors, writers—they might not qualify as professionals; yet they aren't executives because they don't run a separate department and they don't have the power to hire or fire anybody. They create, they have a spark the rest of us don't have. They are paid like professionals.

Aids Do Cameraman's Work.

"And the chief cameraman on any set certainly ought to get some other classification than that of an ordinary worker. His average pay is $148 a week and he never touches a camera. He has assistants to take pictures and change lenses. But he doesn't run a department and probably didn't get his training in school, which would make him neither executive nor professional under the present meaning."

The hearings are expected to last into next week.

Gormley Asserts Rails Will Take Defense Load in Stride

M. J. Gormley.

Duluth, Minn., July 25 [Special].—The railroads will be able to take any defense demands made on them in stride, M. J. Gormley, executive vice president of the Association of American Railroads, said here today.

One of the few difficulties which might confront them, he said, may be caused by the hysteria on the part of some people as to the magnitude of the transportation load in connection with defense which might induce shippers to ship more goods than warranted.

Gormley attributed the "hysteria" to the conclusions of astronomically minded statisticians.

Hits "Well Meaning" Friends.

"Protection from well meaning but unknowing friends is one of the greatest needs of the railroads today," Gormley said. "Exaggeration of the needs of the railroads and the load to be handled under the preparedness program could very well create a situation that would prompt shippers to believe there was going to be a shortage of transportation and would cause them to ship more traffic than could be promptly unloaded at destination."

Gormley estimated the maximum additional traffic resulting from the national defense program at an average of 50,792 carloads weekly, or less than 8 per cent of the average weekly loadings in 1939.

Gormley estimated the additional cars that would be used in connection with the various phases of defense. The production of 10,000,000 additional tons of steel, together with plant expansion, would probably involve a movement of 1,013,000 carloads by rail, he said. Spread out over two years, as contemplated in the defense plans, the average weekly load would be less than 9,800 cars, or 1½ per cent of the average weekly loadings in 1939.

100,000 More Cars Available.

Material for training camp construction, he said, should not exceed an aggregate of 100,000 cars, or an average of 3,846 cars per week spread over a six month period.

Gormley estimated that to maintain 1,000,000 soldiers, including provision for food, clothing, arms, munitions and all other materials, would require an aggregate of 5,475,000 tons per year, or an average of 3,914 carloads a week. For 3,000,000 men the maximum requirements for one year would average 11,750 carloads a week, or 1.8 per cent of the average 1939 weekly movement.

For the entire additional needs for defense, he estimated, it would take an average of about 25,396 carloads a week, or about 4 per cent of the average weekly carloadings in 1939. For good measure, he added, an 8 per cent figure might be used.

To handle this additional movement, Gormley said, the railroads have more than 100,000 more freight cars than they had in 1939.

STOCK EXCHANGE INVITED TO JOIN SEC CONFERENCE

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP).—Members of the Securities and Exchange commission invited New York Stock exchange officials today to participate in conferences on possible amendment to the securities law.

William McC. Martin, governor of the exchange, and three associates, went to the commission to report on progress in connection with a study of the exchange made some time ago by the public examining board. The invitation to join in the talk on amendments grew out of the meeting.

The SEC began a series of conferences last week on possible changes in the 1933 and 1934 securities act with representatives of the Investment Bankers association and the National Association of Securities Dealers. These two groups and the commission already have agreed on a recommendation for an immediate amendment to relax a 20 day period which must elapse before new securities may be offered to the public.

Such payment is provided for in the bond indenture at the option of the board. For each $30 coupon on $6,467 principal amount of these bonds, one share of preferred will be issued. Dividends on this stock will accumulate from Sept. 1.

VENEZUELA'S OIL MAY BE FACTOR IN EUROPE'S WAR

Nation Seeks to Make Up Trade Losses.

the war. Exporting their products in the face of shifting markets and the blockade is another matter.

Germany and Great Britain accounted for the largest shares of Uruguay's exports of $50,632,000 and imports of $32,655,000 in 1939. Their combined trade shares were, respectively, 14 per cent and 18 per cent, compared with the United States 9.5 per cent. Germany and Britain also have been Paraguay's best customers and sources of imports in about equal shares. Last year, the United States took 13 per cent of the country's total of $8,075,000 in exports and supplied 9.5 per cent of its $7,731,000 import total.

Look to Japanese Trade.

Much of Paraguay's and Uruguay's economic future depends upon maintenance of the British market and cultivating Japanese trade. The countries cannot count on Germany and cannot look to the United States to make up their war losses because the United States has an abundance of wool, meat, cotton, and grain, their principal products.

In 1939 the United States furnished the outlet for about 50 per cent of Ecuador's $11,341,000 in exports and was the source to almost the same extent of the country's $10,173,000 in imports. Germany accounted for 12.5 per cent of this trade total and Great Britain less than 5 per cent.

The preponderance of the United States gives a certain stability to the trade situation, but does not solve the problem of the loss of European markets for cocoa, Ecuador's principal export product.

Day by Day on the Farm

By BOB BECKER

Real Warm Climate.

CITY residents who have been complaining about the hot weather should visit the newly hatched Bob White quail on the Du Page county farm and find out what it really means to live in a warm climate.

These youngsters are quartered in a small, one-room coop, in which an electric heating unit turns on automatically every once in a while to make sure they are warm and comfortable. When we looked in on them the other morning [the outside temperature was about 93 degrees] a thermometer in their apartment registered 106 degrees!

Newly hatched game bird chicks thrive on warm weather, however, so the 20 Bob White chicks in the coop were chirping merrily. The heat didn't bother them.

Better Success with Eggs.

The gamekeeper has had much better success with this set of eggs than he had earlier in the summer when the first group of quail hatched.

One lesson learned in the first hatch was that the chicks should not be given too much water the first few days. With this family of chicks the men provided water for 10-minute periods and took the water away before the chicks could drink too much.

The Chinese and blackneck pheasant chicks hatched in an incubator on the farm this spring are seven weeks old and more or less on their own. The large wire pens and accompanying wooden coops still are in place so the chicks can use them if they please. But many of these half-grown youngsters are showing their independence by staying away from the game bird yard.

The gamekeeper reports that more than 45 pheasant chicks stayed out in the tall grass and along the fence row the other night and didn't come near the pens.

Two Look Yard Over.

When we visited the game bird yard the other morning two of these independent pheasant chicks were just coming home. They came from the direction of the woods, and when we first noticed them they were standing in the tall weeds a few feet from the edge of the grassy yard. They peeked thru the weeds [where they had been hunting grasshoppers and other insects] as if debating going back to their home yard. Finally they walked over and joined the rest of the pheasant chicks.

The pheasants, partridges, and pea fowl were joined by another "bird" one day this week. The newcomer was considerably larger than the regular residents of the game bird yard, having a wing spread about 50 times as great as that of the pheasant chicks. It was an airplane, and when it taxied down the field toward the game bird pens some of the chicks decided they had better find some heavy cover. They hurried off to the tall grass and weeds to await developments, but as soon as they realized the invader wasn't coming any closer they wandered back to continue their search for insects.

RAILROADS SHOW BETTER EARNINGS RESULTS IN JUNE

Milwaukee Road Cuts Its Deficit for Month.

Improved earnings for June and the first six months of 1940, compared with the same 1939 periods, were announced yesterday by a majority of the railroads which reported. The Milwaukee, Wabash, and Northern Pacific lines were among those with the most favorable results.

The Milwaukee road [Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific] cut its net operating deficit in June to $154,527 from $490,337 in the corresponding 1939 month, and had net operating income [before bond interest] for the half year of $3,023,475, more than 27 times the $108,820 for the same period last year.

Wabash Has Large Gain.

Net operating income of the Wabash railway for June amounted to $22,142, compared with $1,952 in June, 1939. For the six months, net operating income totaled $1,018,546, against $508,490 for the first half of 1939.

Northern Pacific railway's net operating income for June was $808,791, an increase of $143,206 over the same month last year. The six months' total of $4,402,079 was more than double the $1,693,411 for the first half of 1939.

An increase of more than a million dollars was listed for the Pennsylvania railroad which had net operating income of $6,733,823 in June, compared with $5,651,526 in June, 1939. For the half year, net operating income totaled $33,949,374, against $26,811,001 in the six months last year.

ALLOY STEELS.

In looking for a stock that has possibilities of price appreciation under the rearmament program, I found Carpenter Steel mentioned in the market letters of my broker. What does this company make and what has been the trend of its earnings? —H. T.

Answer: Carpenter Steel company is an important independent producer of high grade alloy and other special steels used in the aircraft, machine tool, automobile, automotive accessories, and electrical equipment industries. The special steels are used widely for precision machine tools, blades, roller, and ball bearings and other metal products which undergo intense wear.

Only a small part of the company's output is in finished form. The carbon, alloy, stainless, tool, and high speed steels are sold usually in the form of ingots, billets, strips, and bars which are then fabricated by other manufacturers and resold to industrial users who require steels made to exact specifications.

The company's plants are at Reading, Pa., and Kenilworth, N. J., and employ about 1,700 workers. The Reading plant has an annual capacity of 39,000 tons of electrically treated steel ingots and the Kenilworth plant, 39,200 tons of stainless steel tubing.

Capital stock of the company consists of 360,000 shares of $5 par common stock, listed on the New York Stock exchange. Dividends have been paid on the stock continuously since 1907.

Earnings of the company rose consistently after a loss in the 1933 fiscal year, but declined sharply in 1938. Comparison of net income, earnings per share in recent fiscal years ending June 30, and dividends per share in calendar years follows:

1935	$ 98,633	$ 6.64	$2.55
1936	673,315	11.22	6.75
1937	1,190,679	*3.31	*
1938	246,590	0.68	0.40
1939	317,309	0.88	1.30

*Stock was split 5 for 1 and a 20 per cent stock dividend was paid on Jan. 21, 1937. On the old stock 27 cents a share was paid in 1937 and on the new stock $1.85. †Calendar year.

Net income in the 9 months ended March 31, 1940, rose to $1,033,708, equal to $2.87 a share, from $158,195 or 44 cents a share in the corresponding period a year ago.

Thus far in 1940, the company paid 50 cents a share on March 20 and $1.25 on June 20.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Hog buyers at the stockyards took the weather man at his word yesterday and bid in the scant supply available at mostly steady prices. They even paid 5 to 10 cents more than on Wednesday for some classes in the hope that predicted cooler weather would arrive today and revive demand for fresh pork.

Wholesale pork prices sank 50 cents more in a sluggish market. Top light loins sold at $16.50 a hundred pounds, $1.50 under the close of last week when the heat wave began. Many smaller packing plants have cut their hog killing as much as 50 per cent to avert a glut of pork.

Best steers and yearlings sold steady to strong, while a weak to slightly lower market for grassy kind put these at new low price levels for the season. Steady prices were paid for fed heifers and beef cows.

Slaughter lambs slumped 15 to 35 cents during the day.

W. A. Patterson.

United Air Lines Transport corporation, a leading carrier of airmail, yesterday filed a petition with the Civil Aeronautics authority in Washington protesting a change in mail pay rates made effective July 1. W. A. Patterson, president of the air line, has estimated that the new rates will cut United's total mail pay $150,000 a year.

In asking reconsideration of the CAA order, the petition said that since evidence in the case was taken United has increased its service substantially. It said that certain schedules, not authorized for mail pay, should have been allowed in the public interest.

Seeks Different Allotment.

The petition, which seeks a "more equitable" allotment of air mail flights, applies for rehearing and reargument of that part of the order relative to the determination of approved schedules and number of flights.

United reserved the right to ask for reconsideration of other parts of the CAA ruling, including pay rates fixed, after the board has decided on the mail schedule allocation.

The air line contended that the CAA was mistaken in using August, 1939, figures as a base. The petition said the air line since has added trips which the authority "erroneously assumed" are not required. The air line said the CAA did not have before it "any competent evidence as to the extent to which such additional schedules are presently to be used in the interests of commerce and the national defense."

Findings Are Challenged.

Patterson had asserted that the CAA's findings as to the requirements of commerce were not founded upon facts which took into consideration the greatly increased demand for air transportation and United's addition of schedules since August of last year. The air line applied for an increase in mail pay nine months before that.

United's petition charged that when the board found certain schedules were not required, it failed to consider whether the transfer of mail loads from such trips to remaining schedules would curtail the passenger seats available for sale.

In finding that only 9 daily round trip flights between Chicago and New York are required instead of 13, the petition states, the board overlooked the increase in traffic in the last year.

EXTEND PENNSY TRAIL BLAZER'S RUN TO CAPITAL

Because of its outstanding success between Chicago and New York, the route of the Pennsylvania railroad's 17 hour de luxe coach train, the Trail Blazer, will be extended to include Baltimore and Washington, H. E. Newcomet, vice president, announced yesterday.

Eastbound passengers will leave at 3:20 p. m. Chicago daylight time and arrive in Baltimore at 6:56 a. m. and at Washington at 7:50 a. m. eastern standard time. Westbound departure from Washington will be at 5:45 p. m. eastern standard time, with arrival in Chicago at 10:30 a. m. Chicago time.
